Welcome to the University of Nebraska's Memorial Stadium...

Athletic Director Bill Byrne

On behalf of the Nebraska Athletic Department, and all the wonderful fans in the State of Nebraska, welcome to Memorial Stadium for today's game.

Marilyn and I continue to be impressed by the wonderful Husker fans. It is this unbelievable "Big Red" support that enables Nebraska to continue its NCAA-record sellout streak.

We are continuing our commitment to make improvements and innovations which will add to your enjoyment of game day at Memorial Stadium.

The Athletic Department is proud of the sincere sportsmanship extended by our fans. One of the noted traditions that sets Nebraska apart from most institutions is the warm and courteous welcome visiting teams and their fans receive. Tough competition and outstanding sportsmanship are vital components of intercollegiate athletics and a goal of ours at the University of Nebraska. On behalf of all Nebraskans, I would like to welcome visiting teams, fans, their coaches and student-athletes who will meet the Huskers on the field today. We hope that you enjoy your visit and the competition.

By Hank Largin

One of the nation's most traditional rivalries continues today with Nebraska hosting Oklahoma. The two have met 77 times previously, and the Sooners boast a 39-35-3 edge over the Huskers. However, Nebraska has won the last six meetings and seven of the past nine.

The Huskers appear to be playing their best football of the season, having shut out Texas Tech, 29-0, and Kansas, 35-0, in their last two outings. Nebraska has dominated its first four Big 12 Conference opponents, outscoring them by an average of 42.3 to 11.8.

Nebraska is playing at Memorial Stadium as the nation's No. 1 team for the first time since last year's 55-14 victory over Michigan State in the season opener. Two weeks later, the Huskers dropped a 19-0 decision at Arizona State.

The Huskers come into today's game seeming to hit on all cylinders on both sides of the football. Behind junior I-back Ahman Green and the nation's best offensive line, the Huskers are averaging 398.7 yards per game on the ground and Green ranks fifth in the country with 993 yards rushing, 141.9 yards per game. Green's big first half of the season has him fourth on the Nebraska career rushing list and he needs just 42 yards today to pass Ken Clark for third all-time. Green could take over the No. 2 spot from Calvin Jones with a 158-yard effort.

Quarterback Scott Frost is another key to the Husker offense. Frost, a senior, is averaging 92.1 yards per game on the ground and has now moved up to 10th on the career passing list with 1,991 yards. Frost will move past Jeff Quinn for ninth place in Nebraska passing with 15 yards against the Sooners.

It has been on the ground where Frost has made his biggest contribution of late. Last week against Kansas, Frost rushed for 121 yards on 21 carries and scored a pair of touchdowns. He finished with 154 yards of total offense against the Jayhawks, marking the sixth time this season he has amassed at least 150 yards of offense.

However, it is defensively where the Huskers have seemed to put everything together the last couple of weeks. Nebraska limited Kansas to just 48 yards of total offense, in 48 plays, and only 21 yards on the ground. That came a week after Texas Tech produced 127 yards of offense against the Huskers, 17 on the ground.

Those defensive performances allowed the Huskers to post back-to-back shutouts for the first time since the 1979 squad blanked New Mexico State, Kansas and Oklahoma State in succession.

There are even bigger numbers than those of the Blackshirts today. Head coach Tom Osborne is in search of his 250th win as a head coach and at Nebraska. In his 25th Silver Anniversary season with the Huskers, Osborne can reach the 250-win plateau faster than any coach in history. His teams have averaged 10 wins per season during his tenure and Osborne is third among active coaches, behind Penn State's Joe Paterno (295) and Florida State's Bobby Bowden (277) in career victories. Osborne guided the Huskers to national titles in both 1994 and 1995.

Oklahoma has some weapons to test the Huskers today. The Sooners are led by running back De'Mond Parker who comes into today's game with 1,123 yards on the ground this season. Last year, Parker picked up 151 yards against the Huskers in a 73-21 Nebraska victory. It was the fifth most yards ever gained on the ground by a Sooner against the Huskers. Parker has now produced back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons, the first by a Sooner since Heisman Trophy-winner Billy Sims in 1978 and 1979.

The Sooners, who scored the second-most points of any Nebraska opponent last year (21), also have offensive weapons in flanker Maurice Little (20 receptions, 297 yards) and fullback Jermaine Fazande (80 rushes, 428 yards). The Sooners have produced 19 touchdowns on the ground this season, six by Parker and five more from Fazande. Quarterback Eric Moore has five rushing touchdowns to his credit, too.

Whether Moore will quarterback Oklahoma today remains to be seen. Sophomore Justin Fuente started five of the Sooners' first six games under center and has passed for 113 yards per game. Moore has been the starter the last two weeks and sophomore Brandon Daniels will likely see a great deal of time today as the OU quarterback.

Today's game continues one of the nation's biggest and most hailed rivalries. The Huskers and Sooners met in the 1971 "Game of the Century," when Nebraska was ranked No. 1 and the Sooners No. 2, and "Game of the Century II," in 1987 when again the Huskers and Sooners were No. 1 and 2, respectively.

AROUND THE BIG 12 CONFERENCE: The South Division title in the Big 12 Conference is still up for grabs and today's games feature Texas Tech (3-1 in the Big 12) hosting Kansas State (3-1) of the North and Oklahoma State (3-1) at Texas A&M (2-2). In other Big 12 games, Iowa State is at Kansas, Missouri at Colorado and Texas at Baylor.

NEXT FOR THE HUSKERS: Nebraska travels to Columbia, Mo., next Saturday to do battle with the Missouri Tigers in a 2:30 p.m. contest. The game will be telecast live by ABC, marking the third consecutive week the Huskers have appeared on either ABC or Fox Sports Net. After that, the Huskers will close out their 1997 home season on Nov. 15 against Iowa State here at Memorial Stadium. Kickoff for the Huskers and Cyclones is set for 12:30 p.m.

HUSKER BASKETBALL READY TO ROLL: Nebraska's women's basketball team will open its season this Friday with a 7:05 p.m. exhibition game against Slavykanka (Russia) at the Bob Devaney Sports Center. Nebraska returns 12 letterwinners, including consensus All-Big 12 Conference selection Anna DeForge, from last year's 19-9 squad. The Huskers open the season for real on Nov. 14 at 8:35 p.m. when they host Miami, Ohio, in a first round game of the Women's National Invitation Tournament. The Huskers are guided this year by Paul Sanderford, who is in his first year as head coach after a highly successful 15-year career as the head coach at Western Kentucky.

Danny Nee's men will open their exhibition schedule on Wed., Nov. 5, against Pella Windows at 7:05 p.m. in the Bob Devaney Sports Center. The Huskers, who return four starters from last season's NIT squad including All-America candidate and second-team All-Big 12 performer Tyronn Lue (who averaged 18.8 points per game last season) play their first regular-season game at the Devaney Center on Sunday, Nov. 16 at 1:05 p.m. against North Carolina-Greensboro.

A Message From the Chancellor

Achieving a More Diverse Campus Community

From its inception, the University of Nebraska has been committed to diversity among its employees and its students. Indeed, the very charter of the institution provides for all inhabitants of Nebraska the means of acquiring knowledge. It expressly provides for the education and admission of women and states that no person shall be deprived of admission due to age, sex, color or nationality. That was a radical statement for 1869 and it sets the foundation for one of the deepest of our core values: the opportunity for all to achieve and succeed at the university.

Among my highest goals for the University of Nebraska is to continue this historic commitment to the value of diversity and to open more opportunities for people of color and women.

Diversity is essential to our academic mission; our students will be shortchanged in their education if we fail in this area. Nebraska's students must experience a multitude of cultures and ideas in order to compete in a global world. And those ideas and cultures can be learned from exposure to faculty and other students whose background and cultures differ from that which we have experienced previously. Because a majority of our undergraduates are Nebraskans, often their experiences with ethnic minorities or women in leadership positions have been limited. But this will not be their experience upon leaving the university and our students must be prepared for the wider world beyond the state's borders.

While we often look at diversity in terms of how diversifying our community will benefit the majority body of students, we less frequently speak about the opportunities that are afforded to students of color. A core belief of this university, and indeed the nation, is that education is key to success regardless of a person's background, race or ethnic origin.

Currently, there are 896 domestic students from the three under-represented groups (Latino/Hispanic, African American and Native American) on campus. There are nearly 500 Asian American students and a significant number of our international students are people of color. In total, there are some 2,000 students of color attending the University of Nebraska. That number represents the entire student body of many, many small colleges in this country. In that sense, it is a good number. But it is not enough.

We are taking aggressive steps to improve our record in attracting students of color to the university and particularly in improving the quality of their experiences on campus. Recently, we reallocated a significant sum of money to increase the number of minority faculty members. We are again stepping up efforts to recruit and retain students of color. Programs particularly aimed at increasing the opportunities for success for first-generation college students have done what they were designed to do. These students are achieving academic excellence.

Meritocracy should be the key issue for any university. Scholarly excellence, whether as a student or as a member of our faculty, must be our highest priority. I believe that our commitment to diversity will increase the merit of our faculty, staff and students.

Recently, I participated in the 10th annual Diversity Retreat. This is a weekend organized by students who are interested in improving relations between groups on campus. Those who have attended the previous nine Diversity Retreats say the weekend was among the most rewarding, eye-opening and uplifting activities of their college careers. Those attending the 10th retreat had similar reactions. I was pleased to see a core group of students representing widely divergent sectors of the student population coming together to work toward common goals of increasing tolerance and understanding.

Building a more diverse campus is not an empty slogan; it is a critical component of the excellence we seek. If we do not achieve our aspirations in this area, we will not fulfill our destiny to be an institution of first rank.

WISTROM ENJOYING EVERY MINUTE OF

by Jeff Griesch

After Nebraska's 41-21 pounding of Virginia Tech in the FedEx Orange Bowl on Dec. 31, 1996, many Husker football fans thought they had seen Grant Wistrom play his final game for Nebraska.

The 6-5, 255-pound rush end from Webb City, Mo., had become such a dominant player as a junior that draft experts had pegged Wistrom as a first round pick in the 1997 National Football League Draft.

During his third season with the Huskers, Wistrom was the leader of one of the best defenses in Nebraska history. He recorded 75 tackles, with 20 tackles for 74 yards lost, including 9.5 quarterback sacks. He forced four interceptions and one fumble for a defense that sent seven players into the NFL.

He also had helped the Huskers to back-to-back national championships in 1994 and 1995 and earned first-team All-America honors in 1996.

In short, Wistrom had already accomplished everything a college football player could hope to accomplish in just three seasons.

The decision seemed obvious. Wistrom would bypass his senior season at Nebraska and make millions of dollars playing every Sunday afternoon in the NFL.

For Wistrom, the decision was just as obvious. He elected to return to the Husker defensive line for one more season of assaulting Big 12 Conference quarterbacks.

"It really wasn't that tough of a decision for me. I know some people thought that it must have been, but it was really pretty easy," Wistrom said. "I love it here. I love playing football for Coach Osborne at Nebraska. I can't imagine football being any more fun than it is here."

Wistrom also said that his decision to return to Nebraska was about more than just having fun.

"I think loyalty is really lacking in all parts of society today," Wistrom said. "I wanted to set an example and show that I was willing to give something back to all the people that had been so good to me.

"I can't ask for my career to have gone any better than it has at Nebraska. You couldn't write a better story than how my football career has gone so far. Ever since I've been here, the coaches, the fans and the entire state of Nebraska have been very, very good to me. They have been so loyal to me and I wanted to repay that loyalty."

And through the first seven games of his senior season, Wistrom said he couldn't be happier with the results.

"I'm really happy with my decision to stay at Nebraska," Wistrom said. "I'm playing for the No. 1 team in the nation for the No. 1 coach in the nation, and we are in the driver's seat for another national championship. Right now, everything is working out even better than my wildest dreams."

All-America rush end Grant Wistrom has been wreaking havoc on opposing offenses for four years in the Husker lineup. Wistrom is NU's all-time leader with 50.5 tackles for losses.

Wistrom, who was chosen by his teammates as one of Nebraska's four co-captains at the start of the season, has helped the Huskers to the top spot in the national rankings with a perfect 7-0 record, including a 4-0 mark in Big 12 action.

His accomplishments on the field have made him a leading candidate for his second straight All-America award and a semifinalist for the Lombardi Award.

Wistrom has become Nebraska's all-time leader with 50.5 tackles for losses during his career, eclipsing the record previously held by Husker All-American Trev Alberts. Wistrom also ranks fifth in school history with 21 sacks.

With Wistrom in the lineup, the Huskers have posted an unbelievable 43-2 record, won two national championships and three consecutive bowl games. He has played in every Husker game since setting foot on campus in 1994.

With his lighting quick blitz from the right side of the Nebraska defensive line, Wistrom is leading another outstanding group of young Blackshirts who rank fourth nationally in total defense and third in rushing defense.

"I think this defense has the potential to develop into one of the best groups we've ever had at Nebraska," Wistrom said. "I think it can be the kind of defense that can come out and set the tone for a game by forcing big losses on an opponent's opening drive."

Despite Nebraska's defensive success this season, Wistrom said he wasn't satisfied.

"I still feel like I and the whole defense have something to prove," Wistrom said. "We are young but are improving so much every game that by the end of the season I think we are going to be able to go out and dominate a game."

Nebraska Rush Ends Coach Nelson Barnes said Wistrom has become the focal point of opposing offensive coordinators by being double-teamed on nearly every snap this season.

"Grant probably plays the game with more passion than anybody I've had the opportunity to coach. It takes him to a level that other players can't get to," Barnes said. "If people don't have a plan to stop him, he's going to beat you all by himself. He's one of those types of players. You know he's going to get to the football."

The extra attention from opposing offensive linemen have hurt Wistrom's individual statistics.

Through seven games, Wistrom has 25 tackles, with nine tackles for 36 yards lost, including three quarterback sacks and 19 quarterback hurries.

Despite the double teams, Wistrom has little trouble making his presence felt on the field, especially by opposing quarterbacks such as Baylor's Jeff Watson.

"Grant Wistrom hit me on a play where I dropped back to pass, and I thought I broke my jaw," Watson said. "He put his helmet into my earhole, and that was the hardest hit I've ever had in football. I knew it was something else, and I could hear the crowd go 'oooo,' so I knew it must have looked awful, too."

While Wistrom's individual numbers are suffering, his teammates are feasting on opposing offenses.

During Grant Wistrom's career at Nebraska, the Huskers have posted an incredible 43-2 record, won two national championships, and three consecutive bowl titles. Wistrom has also been a leader in the classroom at Nebraska, taking home 1996 GTE/CoSIDA First-Team Academic All-America honors.

The Huskers have recorded 71 tackles for 251 yards lost, including 21 quarterback sacks for 153 yards lost.

Maybe the biggest beneficiary of the attention paid to Wistrom is also his best friend and roommate, Jason Peter. The senior defensive tackle has reaped the rewards of Wistrom's sacrifices by recording 11 tackles for 46 yards lost through seven games.

Peter, who hopes to join Wistrom by being selected in the first round of the NFL draft in 1998, is quick to produce high praise for his linemate.

"Grant's a great football player, probably the best I've ever been around," Peter said. "He's got everything you look for in a player. Not only does he have great skills, but he has intensity. He's a great leader. His motor is always running."

Nebraska defensive coordinator Charlie McBride echoed Peter's praise of Wistrom's ability and work ethic on the field.

"He's always been a worker, every day," McBride said. "Everything he does is at full speed. He's a kid you can depend on, on and off the field. He's a loyal person. He has all the qualities you'd want from an All-America player."

But Wistrom said his hard work and intensity on the field do not necessarily carry over into his personal life.

"I am anything but intense off the field," Wistrom said. "I consider myself just an average guy. I'm pretty laid back and easy going. I see myself more as a little kid than a 21-year old adult. I like to lie around and watch television or go to the movies--basically anything that doesn't require too much activity."

While Wistrom likes to consider himself a couch potato, he has still found time to excel in the classroom when he is not working on his football skills. In 1996, Wistrom claimed first-team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America honors to go along with his All-America recognition on the field. He carries a 3.404 grade point average as a pre-pharmacy major.

He also found time to intern at St. Elizabeth's Hospital Pharmacy Department last year.

In addition to his commitments on the field and in the classroom, Wistrom is one of the Huskers' most active volunteers in the community. He has assisted with Kids Club, the Pacific Pals program and youth camp, American Education Week, National Student-Athlete Day, Ventures in Partnership, the School is Cool Jam, the DARE Program and has volunteered at the Peoples City Mission.

Wistrom said his involvement in the community was just another way of demonstrating his loyalty and appreciation to the people who have meant so much to him during his career, the Husker fans across the state of Nebraska.

"I would like to say thank you to all the fans that have given me so much support over the past four years," Wistrom said. "The fans are one of the reasons why Nebraska football is what it is. They are the best fans in America, and they make Memorial Stadium the best place to play in all of college football."

Although Wistrom will probably be playing for an NFL team at this time next year, he said he would always consider himself a Husker at heart.

"Even without the national championships or all the personal success and accomplishments that I've had at Nebraska, I still wouldn't want to go to any other university or play for any other coach," Wistrom said. "Nebraska is the greatest place in the world to play college football."

Bill Byrne

University of Nebraska Director of Athletics

In his fifth year at Nebraska, Bill Byrne continues to lead and improve one of the nation's best athletic programs. Byrne became the 11th Nebraska Director of Athletics on June 26, 1992, replacing the legendary Bob Devaney.

He came to Nebraska following 10 successful years at the University of Oregon. Highly respected among his peers, Byrne was elected vice president and secretary-treasurer of the College Football Association. He is a member of the NCAA Legislative Strategic Planning Cabinet and has served on the NCAA Special Committee on Marketing and Licensing and the Committee on Special Events. He has worked tirelessly to establish a close relationship with the NU community and Husker fans. For five years, Byrne has canvassed the state visiting with boosters to learn the needs of all Husker fans.

Among his many accomplishments at Nebraska, Byrne has continually upgraded facilities, including the addition of two HuskerVision replay boards at Memorial Stadium in 1994. Besides becoming the first collegiate-owned venue to feature replay boards for its fans, Memorial Stadium was renovated to include a state-of-the-art training room, expanded locker rooms for coaches and players, a new public address system, expanded restrooms and expanded concession areas. Section 14 was rebuilt in 1994 to offer increased seating for disabled fans.

Byrne's future plans ensure that NU's facilities remain the nation's best for Husker athletes and fans. He enlisted the Kansas City, Mo., firm of HOK Sports to develop a master facilities plan for the athletic program. A new press box and sky boxes are part of the renovation plans for Memorial Stadium, along with an expanded main concourse area. The East Stadium Plaza is being developed, while waterproofing and concrete repair continue throughout the stadium. The Athletic Ticket Office will relocate to the Stadium Drive Parking Garage at 10th Street and Stadium Drive, along with the new Huskers Authentic retail store.

The Bob Devaney Sports Center will receive a new locker room for women's staff and a new roof over the pool area. The central concessions will be remodeled. The press box will expand at the NU Softball Complex, along with improvements at the NU Coliseum. Last year, the Devaney Center received a new sound system, new weight room, new women's basketball locker room and a passenger elevator. Buck Beltzer Stadium received new infield turf, and the NU Softball Complex got new dugouts. The computer center in the Boekel Academic Center also tripled in size. The Michael Grace Production Studio in West Stadium and new scoreboards at the NU Softball Complex, Buck Beltzer Stadium and the Bob Devaney Sports Center indoor track are also recent additions.

Byrne's leadership has kept the Huskers among the nation's elite. In fact, during the 1996-97 season, Nebraska:

- recorded its best finish ever in the Sears National Directors' Cup standings, with a fourth-place showing in Division I;
- won six Big 12 championships (volleyball, soccer, women's swimming, women's gymnastics, men's and women's indoor track);
- finished in the top 10 nationally in seven sports (men's: football and cross country; women's: volleyball, soccer, swimming, gymnastics and indoor track;
- was chosen by the Dallas Morning News as the best athletic department in the Big 12 Conference.

With Byrne's leadership, Nebraska became the first Big Eight school to add women's soccer as a varsity sport in 1994. Byrne continues to expand opportunities for Husker athletes. During 1997-98, women's bowling will be added as a varsity sport, and women's rifle will begin for the 1998-99 season, giving the Huskers 24 sports, the most in the Big 12.

Along with maintaining the highest standards on the field, Byrne has reorganized the department for the 21st century. Stressing more efficient use of resources, Byrne has created a one-stop shopping type of organization to meet the needs of student-athletes, fans and contributors. He also reorganized Nebraska's fund-raising efforts and started an integrated marketing and licensing program.

Byrne is recognized as a national leader in intercollegiate athletics and continues to make an aggressive effort to help place conference officials on key NCAA committees to represent Big 12 institutions. He has been instrumental in conference development and an active voice in its planning.

In conjunction with the rest of the Nebraska administration, Byrne has arranged to use the Husker football and basketball networks to promote causes and concerns important to the entire university community, including the institution's increased role in research.

Before bringing his expertise to Nebraska, Byrne was the Oregon Director of Athletics. He assumed the duties of Director of Athletics in May 1984, as one of the youngest directors in Division I. Byrne established fund-raising offices in Portland and southern Oregon and established a full-time marketing and promotions operation, which blossomed to encompass the Oregon Sports Network for statewide in-house production of Ducks games on radio and television.

Byrne led the $19 million fund drive at Oregon that resulted in new homes for the Ducks' football team and athletic department offices. He was responsible for the construction of a new press box, sky suites and total renovation of Autzen Stadium, which concluded in 1991. Two years later, the facility's Hall of Champions was dedicated in Byrne's honor.

Byrne has served as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) in 1991-92, and is in his sixth year on the NACDA Executive Committee. He was also chairman of the Pac-10 Conference Executive Committee and was the National Athletic Fundraisers Association National Fundraiser of the Year.

Byrne grew up in Idaho and attended Idaho State. He was the student body president and received bachelor's and master's degrees in business from Idaho State in 1967 and 1971. Before going to Oregon in 1982, he was Assistant Athletic Director at San Diego State (1980-82), Executive Director of the New Mexico Lobo Club (1976-79) and Director of Alumni Relations at Idaho State (1971-76).

Byrne's wife, Marilyn, is the dean of graduate studies in education at Doane College and earned her Ph.D. in higher education administration from NU. The Byrnes have two sons and a two-year-old grandson, Nicholas. Nicholas' parents, Greg and Regina, live in Portland, Ore., where Greg is an athletic fund-raiser for the University of Oregon. Their other son, Bill, was recently promoted to section manager for Visa in its worldwide computer center located in San Mateo, Calif.

Tom Osborne

Head Football Coach
Assistant Athletic Director

The words were inscribed on Memorial Stadium's northwest corner some 14 years before he was born: "Courage; Generosity; Fairness; Honor; In these are the true awards of manly sports." That phrase would come to be prophetic several years later in describing Nebraska coach Tom Osborne, who in 24 seasons on the Husker sideline has built a total program based on more than just winning.

The veteran Husker mentor knows how to win, that's for sure, but it is far from his only source of motivation. The nation's winningest active coach by percentage, Osborne sports a glossy 242-49-3 record, for an .828 winning percentage, a mark that is tied for seventh all time among Division I coaches. In 1994 and 1995, Osborne cemented his place alongside the sport's coaching legends by adding back-to-back national championships to his unmatched coaching resume. Osborne-coached Nebraska teams have captured 12 conference crowns, won at least nine games (14 have won 10 or more games) and gone bowling every season, three more achievements that should ensure him a future hall of fame ticket.

But beyond the remarkable on-the-field success story his Husker teams have written in America's heartland, Osborne is committed to making a difference in the lives of his players, staff and the community in which he lives. In today's ever-changing and fast-paced world of intercollegiate athletics, Osborne is a pillar of stability.

Consider, if you will, that 31 men have served as head football coaches at the former Big Eight Conference institutions during his tenure. In addition, only two of the nation's active Division I-A coaches have been on the job at the same institution longer than the down-to-earth Osborne. One season removed from back-to-back national crowns, Osborne is entering his 25th year as the Huskers' head man and his 36th overall in Lincoln. The dean of Big 12 football coaches, Osborne's head coaching tenure at Nebraska is 14 years longer than the second-longest tenured coach in the Big 12 Conference. That stability is a trademark of the Osborne-built Nebraska program.

A Hastings, Neb., native, Osborne may be the state's best ambassador. He is an advocate of NCAA reform on behalf of all student-athletes, an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and supports numerous area youth education programs. He leads by example and teaches that life is more than just a 60-minute football game on 11 autumn afternoons.

No less than 74 percent of Osborne's players at Nebraska have left with their degrees in hand, a figure that leads the Big 12 Conference. Not surprisingly, his program leads the nation in virtually every academic honor available to student-athletes. In short, he's built a model Division I-A program. One that combines academic excellence with outstanding play on the field.

In the community, Coach Osborne and his wife, Nancy, have developed a special program for area youths. The Husker Teammates program matches Nebraska football players with local junior high school students in a big brother relationship.

Financing for the Husker Teammates program comes from The Osborne Endowment for Youth. The fund, underwritten by the coach and his wife and established six years ago, helps prevent junior high and middle school

MERRILL LYNCH PRESENTS "THE BUSINESS OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL"

GOTTA HAVE IT

COLLEGE MERCHANDISING HAS EXPLODED INTO A BILLION-DOLLAR MONEY-MAKER, WITH NO END IN SIGHT.

University of Nebraska director of licensing and sales Chris Bahl remembers his trip to the annual sporting goods manufacturers' "Super Show" a few years back. The Cornhuskers were riding high on the football field, and the college merchandise industry was seeing blue. Talk about your great opportunities.

"We got hot at the right time," Bahl says. "All the top teams at the time were Notre Dame, Michigan, North Carolina and Duke, and their colors were all blue. I told retailers that we had a different look — our main school color is red — and that if they put our stuff on the shelves next to the other schools, it would sell."

Bahl was right. In 1996, Nebraska had a net licensing profit of $3.3 million, quite a boost from its pre-national championship days, when it was lucky to reach $1 million. Although it isn't close to the $6-8 million industry giant Michigan has been raking in during the last five years, it still represents a healthy revenue stream and indicates just how the merchandising industry has boomed in the last decade. Thanks to the ever-growing interest in college athletics, sophisticated marketing techniques and aggressive salesmanship by schools and manufacturers, product lines have blossomed, and distribution channels have become more diverse.

"Ten to 15 years ago, college merchandise was limited to what was available in university bookstores," says Dianne Kopf, public relations director for the Atlanta-based Collegiate Licensing Company, which serves as a licensing rep for more than 160 colleges. "The selection was also limited, as far as design."

CLC estimates that 1983 sales for all products were $250 million. In 1996, that figure hit $2.5 billion. In the early 1980s, colleges had no protection for their logos and trademarks, and much of what was available was unauthorized and generally of poor quality. As a result, they were afraid to enter into agreements with manufacturers, since they couldn't be sure whether how they would be represented. Compounding the problem was the reticence of university bookstore owners, who feared that any increase in distribution would hurt their own sales. It added up to a problem for consumers. Even though they demanded merchandise, they couldn't find it.

"Licensing is a way to sell your school's success and make big money, without owing people favors."

–Chris Bahl, Nebraska director of licensing and sales

CLC played a big role in breaking the logjam. In the late 1970s, Bill Battle, who played at Alabama under Bear Bryant and later coached at Tennessee, worked for a company that handled licensing of all products bearing Bryant's name or likeness. In order to do that, it also had to represent Alabama. Battle helped arrange agreements between the two parties and various manufacturers, ensuring high-quality merchandise and a steady stream of revenues. In 1983, he signed nine more schools in the Southeastern and Atlantic Coast conferences and formed CLC. Although the company doesn't represent all of the nation's big-name colleges, it has certainly impacted the industry in general and serves as a barometer for what schools are popular.

According to CLC, the sales leader among its clients for fiscal year 1997 was Michigan, followed by North Carolina, Kentucky, Florida, Penn State and Nebraska. One can imagine that schools like Notre Dame and Ohio State, which aren't represented by CLC, also have hefty licensing revenues.

"Licensing is a way to sell your school's success and make big money, without owing people favors or perks like you do in other marketing programs," Bahl says. "It used to be that athletic departments relied on donors, but if a guy gave $10,000, the school probably had to give him $12,000 in favors. Sponsorship packages are similar, because schools have to give their sponsors tickets, advertisements and other perks."

CLC reports that the manufacturer scoreboard is also topped by some familiar names. Leading the apparel side is Nike, with Starter second and Champion third. The non-apparel sales leader is video-game titan EA Sports, followed by Commemorative Brands/Artcarved, which makes school rings and like items, and Sony, another video game industry magnate. Kopf forecasts big growth for companies like EA Sports, which has been a player for only three years but is already at the top.

Bahl, meanwhile is bullish on licensing's potential, particularly at Nebraska. The school is opening a retail store in Memorial Stadium this year in the hopes of keeping its revenue stream flowing.

"We're staying aggressive," he says.

And successful.

UP, UP AND AWAY

Since colleges took control over the licensing of their logos and trademarks in the early 1980s, retail sales of college merchandise have hit the ceiling. Below are the estimated sales, in billions of dollars, of college merchandise since 1983.

youths from dropping out of school and encourages them to continue their education beyond high school. At a 1994 banquet honoring Coach Osborne for his 200th career victory, more than $250,000 was raised for the endowment. This is a tribute not only to Osborne's on-the-field achievements, but also to his desire to make the community a better place to live. It also shows the respect he has earned from his peers.

Last spring, Osborne put his support behind a new program, The Osborne Legacy Project. The program is a two-year, $15 million fund-raising effort by Hastings College, Osborne's alma mater, aimed at improving Hastings' athletic facilities and developing a scholarship program. The campaign is a tribute to the Osborne family's history of involvement with the college.

He also encourages his players to give back to the community, evidenced by the more than 50,000 students his players reach on an annual basis through community outreach activities.

For his efforts on behalf of student-athletes and his work in the community, Osborne was selected as one of eight 1994 Giant Steps Award winners from around the nation by the Northeastern University Center for the Study of Sport in Society. The awards are given annually on National Student-Athlete Day to individuals and/or organizations who exemplify the ideals and provide the support necessary for student-athletes to achieve academic and athletic excellence. Osborne also received the 1995 National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Distinguished American Award.

In addition to those honors, Coach Osborne and Nancy received the 1995 Father Flanagan Award for Service to Youth. The Father Flanagan Award is given in memory of the Boys Town founder and recognizes those whose service to youth is exemplary.

"Although national championships are wonderful, Tom and Nancy were chosen for this award because they have consistently displayed integrity, courage, compassion and moral leadership in their public and private lives," Boys Town executive director Father Val J. Peter said. "They have been outstanding role models to athletes, families and youth alike."

Osborne holds conference records for victories (242), games (294) and seasons coached (24). Osborne-led Husker squads have captured 12 conference crowns (only Oklahoma legend Bud Wilkinson, 14, has won more league titles, while former OU coach Barry Switzer is tied with Osborne at 12) and averaged more than 10 victories per season. Of NU's 12 league titles in Osborne's tenure as head coach, eight have been outright, including the last four in 1992, 1993, 1994 and 1995. The Huskers also captured league championships in 1975, 1978, 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1988 and 1991. As either a head coach or assistant, Osborne has been involved in 20 of Nebraska's league-record 41 Big Eight titles, all four of its national championships and 33 of its 35 bowl appearances.

All 24 of Dr. Tom's teams have made bowl treks and 33 of the 35 Husker teams he's been associated with have ended their season in a bowl game. Those 24 bowl appearances rank Osborne third all-time behind Alabama's Paul "Bear" Bryant (29) and Penn State's Joe Paterno (27), while each of the last 16 have come in "major" bowls, another NCAA record. Osborne's 24 consecutive bowl trips match Bryant for the most consecutive trips to a postseason bowl game by a coach. All 24 of NU's bowl appearances under Osborne have been against ranked (AP) teams, and 11 of the last 12 have been against teams ranked in the top five, with nine of the 11 ranked higher than NU. Osborne is 11-13 in bowl games.

Perhaps most impressive among the many accomplishments Osborne's teams have achieved is NU's remarkable record over the past four seasons,

"Tom Osborne is what college football is all about. Helping student-athletes develop into young men who will be successful on the field, in the classroom and in life. He stands for all the right things and helps players set their priorities, while at the same time runs a top-notch, national-caliber program. His leadership is the reason Nebraska has been successful for over three decades."

1993 Butkus Award Winner,
NCAA Today's Top Eight Award Winner

with each team being ranked first for at least part of the season. In 1996, Nebraska was again in the national title hunt and finished the season with an 11-2 record and No. 6 national ranking. NU capped the season with its third straight bowl victory, a 41-21 win over Virginia Tech in the Orange Bowl. The 1996 season gave Nebraska a four-year record of 47-3, the most wins by any school in a four-year period.

In 1995, Nebraska became the first school to win back-to-back national titles with unbeaten records since Oklahoma turned the trick in 1955-56. The Huskers capped their second consecutive title season with a 62-24 dismantling of Florida in the Fiesta Bowl.

The Fiesta Bowl was the third straight title game in which NU had played. The Huskers dropped a heartbreaking 18-16 decision to Florida State in the 1994 FedEx Orange Bowl and defeated Miami, Fla., 24-17, in the 1995 Orange Bowl Classic. In all, Nebraska has played in eight national title games, and Osborne has been on the Husker sideline for all of them.

In 1996, Nebraska faced the immense pressure of trying to become the first college team to win three straight national championships. While NU's bid to put its name in the record books fell short, the Huskers did capture the title of the Big 12 North Division and played in the league's first championship game.

Osborne's 1995 team is mentioned as one of the greatest in college football history. En route to the Big Eight and national title, Nebraska set a school and Big Eight scoring record, averaging 52.4 points per game. The Huskers also led the nation in rushing for the 10th time since 1980.

In 1994 Nebraska overcame well-documented injuries to give Osborne his first national title and the school's first since 1971. Osborne's work did not go unnoticed in 1994 as he received numerous coach of the year honors, including recognition by his peers of the American Football Coaches Association as its Division I-A Coach of the Year. He was also selected as the 1994 Big Eight Conference Coach of the Year, the third-straight season he was so honored. Osborne also earned 1994 national coach of the year honors from the Touchdown Club of Columbus and the Amos Alonzo Stagg Award for coaching excellence and was selected as the American Football Coaches Association District Coach of the Year.

The 1993 season was a memorable one for Osborne, too, as he became the first coach to reach the 200-win plateau in only 21 seasons, when the Huskers defeated Oklahoma State, 27-13, in Stillwater, Okla., Oct. 7, 1993. Only the 12th coach in NCAA Division I-A history to reach the 200-win milestone, he was the first to do so exclusively at one school, in only 249 games.

Not one to shy away from a challenge, Osborne's Huskers have accepted the maximum number of preseason invites allowed by NCAA rules, playing in the Kickoff Classic three times, and winning all three games (44-6 over Penn State in the inaugural game in 1983; 23-14 over Texas A&M in 1988; and 31-0 over West Virginia in 1994).

Under Osborne's direction, Nebraska's NCAA-record string of consecutive winning seasons has grown to 35, including a record 28 consecutive seasons with at least nine wins. The Huskers made an NCAA-record 28th-straight bowl appearance in 1996, a streak that ranks as the longest active string in college football and two more than Alabama's record run from 1959 to 1983.

A seven-time Big Eight Coach of the Year selection (1975, 1976, 1980, 1988, 1992, 1993 and 1994), Osborne earned the AP's first Big 12 honor in 1996. He has been named the American Football Coaches Association District VI Coach of the Year seven times—1978, 1979, 1980, 1983, 1987, 1988 and 1994. Osborne's long-term success was recognized when he was named the Best Coach on the Associated Press' all-time Big Eight Conference Football Team. He received 1978 Bobby Dodd National Coach of the Year honors from the Atlanta Quarterback Club and Delta Airlines for his effort toward the advancement of the higher and more notable aspects of college coaching. Osborne also earned national coach of the year honors from the Football News in 1983.

"I believe most of the players look at Coach Osborne as a type of father figure, and he fills that void for a lot of the players. He treats you like a son, and that means a lot."

—Calvin Jones
Two-time All-Big Eight I-Back, 1992-93

Nowhere is the consistency of the Husker program more evident than the national polls, where Nebraska has been a fixture in each of Osborne's 24 seasons. Nebraska has been ranked in every weekly AP poll since 1981, giving it a poll-record 257 consecutive weeks in the rankings. Since Osborne took over in 1973, NU has been ranked in 379 of 382 AP polls, missing one week in 1977 and two in 1981. Since 1969, the Huskers have appeared in 431 of a possible 434 polls. Husker squads have finished among the AP Top 25 every year under Osborne, including 17 Top 10 finishes and 23 Top 20 showings.

The Huskers were ranked No. 1 in the first five AP polls in 1996, after topping the rankings for seven weeks in 1995 and eight in 1994. In fact, a study of the final AP polls from 1973 through the 1996 season finds that Nebraska is the nation's most successful program based on rankings. Using a point system of 20 for first, 19 for second, etc., the Huskers scored 311 points to outdistance second-place Alabama's 259 points and third-place Michigan's 258 points.

Through 24 seasons, Osborne's Huskers have posted an impressive 57-37-1 (.605) record against ranked AP teams, easily the best record for a Nebraska mentor. Over the last four seasons, the Huskers have gone 16-2 against ranked foes, losing only to No. 1-ranked Florida State in the 1994 Orange Bowl and No. 17 Arizona State last season. Osborne is also the only Husker coach to ever beat a No. 1-ranked team—the 17-14 win over Oklahoma in 1978. His Hall of Fame predecessor, Bob Devaney, was 12-12-2 against ranked teams during his Husker career, while all previous NU coaches were a combined 7-35-0.

On and off the field, Osborne's players have consistently been highly honored. Nebraska leads the Big 12 Conference in graduation rates, with 74 percent of all players earning degrees from the University. Eight of his proteges have received the NCAA's highest honor for student-athletes—selection as one of Today's Top Eight, including 1995 recipient Aaron Graham. That's the most for any individual sports program in the country and accounts for more than half of NU's nation-leading 12 total selections. Husker gridders who received the honor include guard Randy Schleusener (1981), centers Dave Rimington (1983), Mark Traynowicz (1985) and Jake Young (1990), linebackers Pat Tyrance (1991) and Trev Alberts (1993) and offensive linemen Rob Zatechka (1994) and Aaron Graham (1995).

In 1996, rush end Grant Wistrom earned first-team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America honors to boost the Huskers' total to 35 student-athletes. That figure includes nine two-time picks for a total of 44 first-team academic All-America certificates under Osborne and a nation-leading 50 in school history. In fact, Osborne's 44 first-team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-Americans is six more than second-place Notre Dame's 44-year total of 38 (since CoSIDA began honoring athletes in 1952). Osborne's most-honored academian was 1994 Top Eight award winner and first-team Academic All-American Rob Zatechka. Along with his first-team selection, Zatechka, who was Osborne's first student-athlete to graduate with a cumulative 4.0 grade point average, was honored as the GTE/CoSIDA Football Academic All-American of the Year and earned the National Football Foundation's Draddy Award, as the nation's top football scholar-athlete, the Woody Hayes National Scholar-Athlete Award and the NCAA's Walter Byers Award.

Nebraska has also had 25 NCAA postgraduate scholarship winners and 16 National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete recipients, including Zatechka in 1994. In 1988, Mark Blazek was named the CBS/Toyota Leader of the Year. In 1994, Zatechka was named the Honda Scholar-Athlete of the Year and in 1996, Aaron Graham was the Burger King Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

The honors don't end in the classroom. Husker players have also been decorated for their on-field performances. In 1995, quarterback Tommie Frazier won the school's first Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award and was the Heisman runner-up. The previous year, Zach Wiegert brought home the fifth Outland Trophy in Osborne's head coaching career and the seventh in school history. In 1993, Alberts became the first player in Nebraska history to earn the Butkus Award, given annually to the nation's top linebacker.

In 1992, Will Shields continued the streak of award-winning excellence by winning the Outland Trophy. The Huskers made history under Osborne by producing three consecutive Outland Trophy winners (Dave Rimington in 1981 and 1982 and Dean Steinkuhler in 1983) and two consecutive Lombardi Award winners (Rimington in 1982 and Steinkuhler in 1983), while also winning the 1983 Heisman Trophy (Mike Rozier).

During Osborne's career, 46 players have earned All-America honors, including six two-time All-Americans for a total of 52 selections. Rush end Jared Tomich became a two-time honoree in 1996, while end Grant Wistrom and center Aaron Taylor were also first-team picks. Nebraska has had 42 consensus All-America picks.

Osborne was the first recipient of the Distinguished Nebraskalander Award from the Nebraskaland Foundation in 1982, and he was named the 1983 national coach of the year by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He's also an author, having published a book in 1985 titled More Than Winning.

An outstanding high school athlete at Hastings High School in the mid-1950s, Osborne was named Nebraska Prep Athlete of the Year, then passed up major college scholarship offers to attend the school from which his father and grandfather graduated before him, hometown Hastings College. He became a star quarterback and basketball player for Coach Tom McLaughlin, and in 1959 was named State College Athlete of the Year, becoming the first athlete in Nebraska history to win both the high school and college honors.

After receiving his bachelor's degree from Hastings College in 1959, Osborne played three seasons in the National Football League, two with the Washington Redskins and one with the San Francisco 49ers, where his roommate was Jack Kemp, the former Congressman, presidential candidate and Bush administration Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

In 1962, he contacted the newly hired Devaney, and obtained a graduate assistant's position on the Husker staff. He continued in that capacity until he received his master's degree in 1963, then maintained a triple role of student, teacher and part-time coach at the University. He earned a doctorate in educational psychology in 1965, then elected to pursue coaching as a career in 1967, becoming the Huskers' full-time receivers coach—a decision NU fans have applauded since.

Over the next five years, Osborne was in charge of the Husker passing game, and in his last four seasons as an assistant coach, developed a wingback by the name of Johnny Rodgers, who would become Nebraska's first Heisman Trophy winner in 1972.

When Devaney announced after the 1972 Orange Bowl that he would retire from coaching after the 1972 season, he elevated Osborne to assistant head coach and director of recruiting for his final campaign, and handpicked the then-34-year-old as his successor.

Osborne took over a program that regained national prominence under Devaney, built on it and established his own winning tradition. Osborne and Devaney are one of just three coaching duos to post back-to-back 100-win careers at the same institution (following Penn State's Rip Engle and Joe Paterno and Georgia Tech's John Heisman, Bill Alexander and Bobby Dodd), but the first pair to do it in an astounding 22 years. Since 1962, NU owns a 343-69-5 record for an incredible .829 winning percentage (35 years, 417 games).

Osborne, who was born Feb. 23, 1937, is married to the former Nancy Tederman. They are the parents of a son, Mike, and two daughters, Ann and Suzi. Tom and Nancy have one grandson, William Osborne, and two granddaughters, Catey Osborne and Haley Wilke. Mike followed in his father's footsteps by playing quarterback at Hastings College. He graduated in May 1987.

"He's the finest football coach in the country. Every season he's won nine games and it's hard to criticize that. If I were hiring a coach and I could get him, I'd take him. Since we're lucky enough to have him here, I wouldn't trade him for anybody."

—the late Bob Devaney,
NU Athletic Director, 1973-92
Head Football Coach, 1962-72

PANASONIC INTRODUCES DVD. IT WILL DO FOR MOVIES WHAT THE CD DID FOR MUSIC.

Remember the first time you heard a CD? You didn't just hear the difference, you felt it. That's what Panasonic DVD will do for movies.

A DIGITAL PICTURE THAT'S TWICE AS SHARP. You know what most rental movies look like. Now imagine one that's twice as sharp. That's the difference DVD can make. DVD is capable of 500 lines of horizontal resolution*, more than twice that of the industry standard for most rental movies.

5.1 CHANNEL DIGITAL SURROUND SOUND. You can tell you're watching a movie on DVD with your eyes closed. Its Dolby Digital (AC-3)† surround sound has 6 channels, including one for a subwoofer, for theater-like sound at home.

MOVIES ARE JUST THE BEGINNING. DVD is more than just the ultimate entertainment machine playing movies and music CDs. One DVD disc can hold the equivalent of 11,500 floppy discs. That means for computers, video games and business the possibilities are endless. And that's just the beginning. For more information call toll free 1-888 PANADVD. For an informative fax call 1-888-329-4872. Or see us on the web at www.panasonic.com. Once you know all that DVD can do, there's no looking back.

1997 AT&T LONG DISTANCE AWARDS

AT&T salutes the best long distance players in college football

The editors of Touchdown Illustrated are proud to announce the winners of the 1996 AT&T Long Distance Awards.

Each week during the regular season, AT&T honors Division I-A student-athletes in six categories — longest run from scrimmage, longest pass completion, longest punt return, longest kickoff return, longest punt average and longest field goal. To honor each winner, AT&T makes a $400 donation to the NCAA Degree Completion Scholarship program, which grants scholarships to deserving student-athletes, helping them "go the distance" to obtain their college degrees.

At the conclusion of the season, AT&T presents Long Distance Awards to the six individual student-athletes who lead the nation in each of the categories listed on this page. AT&T honors these players with $6,000 of additional donations to the Degree Completion Scholarship program.

1997 marks the seventh year of the AT&T Long Distance Award program, which has contributed over $350,000 to the NCAA Degree Completion Fund.

A Salute To Bob Devaney

by Don Bryant, former NU Associate A.D. for Public Relations

Much time has passed since Bob Devaney left us last May, and it still does not seem possible that my great friend is not around the Husker athletic department. Actually, it seems like yesterday when Athletic Director Tippy Dye introduced the new Cornhusker football coach to the media corps assembled in the Coliseum. But that was January 1962, and we are involved in another football season 36 years later.

While none of us that day in 1962 could imagine the impact Bob Devaney would have on the Husker football program, the University of Nebraska and the state of Nebraska, the event was one that offered hope for better things and signaled a new era. What a tremendous era that would be!

Thousands of Nebraskans mourned his death and hundreds paid tribute to "Coach." His memorial service was attended by some 800 friends, former players, former coaches and fans, and the impressive service was carried statewide on the Nebraska ETV network. Like everything else Bob did, he staged a gallant fight against physical ailments like stroke, heart attack and pneumonia. He was a fierce competitor as a coach on the sideline, or playing pool in a friend's rec room, or battling important legislation that might adversely affect college athletics and student-athletes.

All of us in Nebraska now hold our heads a little higher and with a brighter gleam in our eyes because Bob Devaney joined us in 1962. No single person has made more of an impact on the state of Nebraska and the university than Sir Robert.

Bob and I shared many moments of exhilaration and disappointment during those 35 years, and happily there were more of the former than latter.

A tremendously high note was his installation into the National College Football Hall of Fame (1981). It was a joyous time for Bob, as well as for his family and friends. George Abel and Paul Amen hosted a pre-banquet reception for Bob and Phyllis, and Husker Hall of Fame great Ed Weir was on hand to participate in the celebration.

Following the banquet, I ran into Bob in the hallway of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York. We shook hands and both tried to speak, but words choked in our throats, so we embraced to express our joy over his well-deserved enshrinement. Words were not important because we both knew how each other felt after all those years together.

It would take a huge book to record all the wonderful memories I have of my association with Bob Devaney—great moments like getting him off the field and into the locker room after the 1971 Game of the Century at Oklahoma, or suffering with him at the 1964 visit to the Cotton Bowl when the manager of our hotel insisted Bob and his staff all eat Black-Eyed peas for luck the morning of the game with Arkansas. Never to be forgotten either, his agony over the unwelcome treatment given to his African-American players at bowl games in those early years, and how he battled for them to eliminate segregation.

Bob set a tone for the new look at Nebraska just moments before the kickoff of the Gotham Bowl game in New York his first season. The Yankee Stadium turf was frozen solid, forcing players to don tennis shoes, and only a handful of fans were present as the temperature dropped below 10 degrees. Coach Devaney gathered his team and said: "I'm sorry I got you guys into this thing. It's too damn cold, the field is icy and there won't be any crowd. But it reminds me of those old back-alley fights we used to have when I was a kid up in Michigan. There's nobody there to watch, but the toughest son-of-a-bitch is going to win." Nebraska was the "toughest" that day, beating Miami, 36-34, to cap a stunning inaugural season of the Devaney era.

That era was to last 11 years and include eight conference and two national championships. It would pave the way for Tom Osborne to grab the baton in 1973 and charge ahead for 24 more years of record-breaking excellence that continues into the 1997 season.

While people from all walks of life mourned the passing of Bob Devaney, the biggest tribute of all came from the turnout of former players and coaches for the two-day memorial services.

Coach Tom Osborne and former quarterback Jerry Tagge presented unforgettable eulogies, and the Rev. Dr. Robert Chitwood and Governor Ben Nelson gave moving tributes to the Husker legend.

Honorary pallbearers included former Devaney assistants Cletus Fischer, George Kelly, Monte Kiffin, John Melton, Warren Powers, Carl Selmer and Jim Walden (and Don Bryant). Powers (Washington State and Missouri), Kiffin (North Carolina State) and Walden (Washington State and Iowa State) went on to become college head coaches. Also on hand were Hall of Fame (Arizona State) coach Frank Kush, who served as an assistant with Bob at Michigan State, Donnie Duncan (Iowa State), and former Big Eight commissioners Charles Neinas and Carl James.

Barry Alvarez, former Husker linebacker for Devaney and now head coach at the University of Wisconsin, joined a host of former players for the services. While my memory may be slipping, I recall these ex-Devaney Huskers honoring their coach with their attendance at the services:

Barry Alvarez (1965-66-67), Frosty Anderson (1971-72-73), Joe Armstrong (1966-67-68), Mike (Red) Beran (1970-71-72), Joe Blahak (1970-71-72), Randy Borg (1971-72-73), Van Brownson (1969-70-71), Dennis Claridge (1961-62-63), Maury Damkroger (1971-72-73), Dick Davis (1966-67-68), Dan Delaney (1966-67-68), Adrian Fiala (1967-68-69), Larry Frost (1967-68-69), Rich Glover (1970-71-72), Mike Green (1968-69), John Hyland (1970-71-72), Guy Ingles (1968-69-70), Larry Jacobson (1969-70-71), Bill Janssen (1969-70-71), Carl Johnson (1970-71), Monte Kiffin (1961-62-63), Jeff Kinney (1969-70-71), John Kirby (1961-62-63), Bill Kosch (1969-70-71), Al Larson (1967-68-69), Steve Manstedt (1971-72-73), Jim McCord (1965-66-67), Jim McFarland (1968-69), Bernie McGinn (1963-64), Harry Meagher (1967), Bob Newton (1969-70), Johnny Pitts (1971-72-73), Warren Powers (1960-61-62), Johnny Rodgers (1970-71-72), Paul Rogers (1968-69-70), Jed Rood (1961-62), Steve Runty (1972-73), Dick Rupert (1970-71), Tom Ruud (1972-73-74), Lynn Senkbeil (1964-65-66), Maynard Smidt (1963-64), Frank Solich (1963-64-65), Dana Stephenson (1967-68-69), Carel Stith (1965-66), Jerry Tagge (1969-70-71), Bob Thornton (1972-73) and Freeman White (1963-64-65).

Unable to attend, but phoning tributes were Bob Brown (1961-62-63), sidelined by back surgery, and 1971 co-captain Jim Anderson, now comptroller at the University of New Mexico.

My most vivid recollection of Devaney will be his final words when my wife Pedie and I stopped by the hospital to visit on his 82nd birthday.

A stroke had affected Bob's speech and for months, I had not understood what he was trying to say. But a miracle occurred that Sunday afternoon in his hospital room. We found Bob alone and asleep in a dark room and started to leave. But a nurse urged us to go back in the room. She turned on the light and shook Bob several times to awaken him. As he opened his eyes, she said, "Bob, you have company." Bob looked up and smiled. I took his hand and said, "Robert, it's Pedie and Don, and we wanted to wish you happy birthday." He said, "Oh," and sang as well as Bing Crosby ever did, "Happy Birthday to You," closed his eyes and went back to sleep.

We'll always remember Bob and his last birthday party, just as thousands of Nebraskans will remember Coach Devaney for the way he affected their lives because he made a difference for all of us.

On the Sunday morning after Bob's death, I recall the 10-year-old girl who waved her hand in church when the minister asked, "Is there anyone else we should pray for today?' The little girl said, softly, "Bob Devaney."

Thanks Robert, and Amen.

Hall of Fame Coach Bob Devaney

Robert S. Devaney
April 13, 1915 -
May 9, 1997

One name tops the list of people responsible for the success of the University of Nebraska athletic teams -- Bob Devaney. After 35 years as the driving force behind Nebraska championships, Devaney, 82, former University of Nebraska Hall of Fame Coach (1962-1972), Athletic Director (1967-93) and Athletic Director Emeritus (1993-1996) passed away at Lincoln's Eastmont Towers, where he resided, on May 9, 1997.

Although Devaney will no longer have a physical presence at Nebraska, his mark will remain forever. The memories of the storybook national championship seasons of 1970 and 1971 will inspire generations of Husker fans for years to come. His commitment to building one of the nation's best all-around athletic programs will be reinforced with every athletic and academic honor earned by Husker athletes. And his legacy will continue with the passing of each successful season.

From the time he took over for Tippy Dye in 1967, to his final year as the Husker athletic director in 1992, his vigor, enthusiasm and administrative excellence earned him a reputation as one of the nation's outstanding athletic directors. Those same characteristics helped make him a football coaching legend. A 1981 inductee into the College Football Hall of Fame, under Devaney's leadership Nebraska developed one of the nation's most successful all-around athletic programs.

Devaney arrived in 1962, charged with the mission of building a successful football program, and he succeeded far beyond anyone's expectations. During his 11-year stint as Husker football coach, Devaney's teams won 101 games, lost only 20 and tied two for a winning percentage of .829. His career mark of 136-30-7 (.806) ranked him as the nation's winningest active coach at the time of his retirement in 1973, and he ranks 11th on the all-time list today, four spots behind the man he tabbed as his replacement, Tom Osborne.

In all, Devaney's gridiron teams won eight Big Eight titles and two national championships while going to nine bowl games from 1962 to 1972. He wound up with three straight Orange Bowl wins, two Outland Trophy winners, a Lombardi Award winner and a Heisman Trophy winner. Twice his teams won four consecutive Big Eight titles, 1963-66 and 1969-72.

The 1971 national title team, which posted a 13-0 record, twice defended its No. 1 ranking against the nation's second-ranked team (beating Oklahoma, 35-31, in the "Game of the Century," and Alabama, 38-6, in the Orange Bowl), and beat the eventual No. 3 team Colorado, 31-7. That '71 team has been called the best college team of all time.

He received many other honors during his coaching career. He was named coach-of-the-year by the Walter Camp Foundation, the Football Writers of America, Football News and the Washington TD Club in 1971. He coached in numerous all-star games such as the Hula Bowl, Coaches All-America, Blue-Gray and Shrine East-West. He was inducted into the Blue-Gray Hall-of-Fame in 1991 and into the Orange Bowl Hall of Honor in 1976, after leading Nebraska to four wins in five Miami appearances. In 1992, he was named an honorary member of the Orange Bowl committee. In 1981 he was inducted into the National College Football Hall of Fame and in 1994, the American Football Coaches Association presented Devaney with the Amos Alonzo Stagg Award for contributions to college football. He also received the 1994 Duffy Daugherty Memorial Award, and in 1995, Devaney was inducted into the University of Wyoming Athletics Hall of Fame.

As athletic director, he spearheaded drives to rebuild and replace Nebraska's aging athletic facilities. Continuing a process begun during Dye's tenure, he oversaw the expansion of Memorial Stadium from its original 36,000 capacity to its present 72,700.

Devaney's leadership, in conjuction with the Nebraska Legislature, resulted in the passage of a special cigarette tax to provide funds for the beautiful, four-and-a-half-acre indoor sports building which opened on the Nebraska State Fair Grounds in 1976. The building, which features a 14,200-seat main arena, separate swimming and diving pools, an indoor track and workout areas for wrestling and gymnastics, was renamed the Bob Devaney Sports Center in 1978.

In the mid-1970s, Devaney sparked the construction of Ed Weir Track and Field Stadium, and Buck Beltzer Stadium for baseball. More recently, he oversaw the expansion of the Huskers' academic counseling service and the establishment of the Hewit and Boekel Centers in the West Stadium; the continued expansion of the strength and conditioning program and its facility in the West Stadium; the construction of the new NU Softball Complex; and the Otto and Gladys Baumann Building at Buck Beltzer Stadium.

Devaney's most recent accomplishment was to lead a fund-raising drive to provide Husker athletic teams with an indoor workout facility. Cook Pavilion, which is the size of a full football field, was completed in 1989 and made available for the NU football and baseball team workouts. As part of the same project, the Lee and Helene Sapp Recreation Center, an adjoining faculty-student recreation facility was finished in 1991. He also supervised the complete renovation of the connecting Coliseum, which re-opened in 1992. The Coliseum houses the national champion Husker women's volleyball program.

Although Devaney stepped down as Nebraska's athletic director on Jan. 4, 1993, he continued to be an active member of the Husker athletic department. He focused his attention on raising funds to continue to build for the future of Nebraska athletics. He also served as athletic director emeritus. He was inducted in the NACDA Hall of Fame in 1995 for his contributions to intercollegiate athletics as Nebraska's athletic director.

Devaney played football as an end at Alma College in Michigan, and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1939. After starting his coaching career at Big Beaver, Mich., Devaney moved to Keego Harbor and Saginaw before spending seven years at Alpena High where his teams earned a 52-9-0 record. He joined Biggie Munn and Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State before becoming Wyoming's head coach in 1957.

He was married to his college sweetheart, the former Phyllis Wiley. His son, Mike, and daughter, Patricia, are graduates of the University of Nebraska. He was a grandfather, too, with Mike's family including a daughter, Kindra, and a son, Rob.

The other home team.

Sold-out Nebraska football games keep fans in pretty close quarters. The American Red Cross has been keeping a "watchful eye" on Husker Fans at Memorial Stadium for over 40 years.

We are there to assist when help can't wait.

Enjoy the game with peace of mind. We make Memorial Stadium a safer site to cheer for the Big Red.

I've personally witnessed a situation at a stadium where no first aid coverage existed for a heart attack victim. Thank goodness for the UNL Team Trainer who eventually helped the fan. It was a potential tragedy. That won't happen at Nebraska.

You'll see up to 80 fully trained American Red Cross first aid volunteers at all home football games, whom we regard as "the other home team," also keeping a look out for emergencies at hundreds of other events each year. During our Red Cross Appreciation Game on October 4, 1997, volunteers will be collecting donations that enable us to continue the same high level of service; so please give generously. If you can, help us get a jump on the fall season by giving your support to the Red Cross.

Our Chapter takes great pride in supporting the citizens of Lancaster County, and the American Red Cross is counting on you. Won't you please help us?

1997 Women's Swimming & Diving

by Jason Henke

A young Husker squad returns for the 1997-98 campaign, but inexperience shouldn't be a factor.

Although NU loses one of its greatest competitors, Olympian Julia Russell, the defending Big 12 Champs boast a number of fine returners, including 27 letterwinners and 12 All-Americans, seven of which were freshmen on last year's national team. A squad with a large group of underclassmen, Nebraska's roster includes just four seniors and six juniors.

Perhaps one of the most decorated Husker teams ever, Nebraska looks to capitalize on last year's record-breaking milestone season that culminated with an eighth-place NCAA Championship showing, the highest finish for any Husker swimming and diving team.

Highlighting a lengthy list of top returnees is Helene Muller and Anna Windsor. Both second semester additions last season, the duo will lead one of the largest and deepest groups of talented freestyle swimmers in Nebraska history. Muller won a team-leading six conference gold medals in 1997. Windsor is a conference champ in the 200-yard freestyle and a major catalyst on the sprint freestyle relays.

Other first-team All-America returnees include Beth Karaica, Lenka Manhalova, Terrie Miller and Stacey Sedlacek. A two-time first-team All-American and four-time conference champ, Karaica is a strong relay swimmer, as her slate of frosh accomplishments proves. Manhalova finished fifth in the 200-yard breaststroke at nationals, Miller notched an eighth-place finish in the 100-yard breaststroke at the national championships and Sedlacek earned her wings by anchoring the All-America 400-yard freestyle relay.

Honorable-mention All-Americans Janet Danburg, Sara Jowsey, Laura Simon and Shannon Wright figure into the mix as well. Danburg is the team's top returning backstroker, Jowsey is a team leader in the 200-yard butterfly and in the IM events, Simon holds the school record in the 400-yard IM and Wright is a vital 800-yard freestyle relay member. The Huskers look to call on backstroker Christine Troy and the versatile Sasha Van Hamburg as well. Honorable-mention All-America freestylists Erin Carew and Mandy Hunter-Beckinsall also return, along with sophomores Suzy Shacklett and Courtney Jensen, projected leaders in the diving well.

The 1997-98 Husker schedule is as challenging as ever, with the SMU and Texas Invitationals and dual contests against nationally prominent SMU, Minnesota and Texas A&M. The Huskers are also scheduled to host the Big 12 Relay Meet and Big 12 Invitational, the Nike Sprint Classic and Husker Shoot Out, in addition to three duals.

Head Coach Cal Bentz is optimistic about his team's chances.

"We had a young group that really came together as a team last season," Bentz said. "There's no question that we have the talent to build on last year's success."

1997 Men's Swimming & Diving

by Shane Ury

Nebraska entered the inaugural year of the Big 12 Conference last season searching for some respect, and by season's end, it managed to find what it was looking for.

Now after putting together one of its most successful seasons in school history by securing second place at the Big 12 Championships, breaking six school records, recognizing eight All-Americans and finishing 12th at the NCAA Championships, the Nebraska men's swimming and diving team will attempt to capitalize on one of the most talented classes of returnees in school history.

"We have several returning athletes that are on the verge of making a breakthrough to the next level," Head Coach Cal Bentz said. "We are really looking forward to competing this year."

Twenty-three letterwinners are back from last season's 9-2 squad, including eight All-Americans, two Big 12 Champions and 11 NCAA provisional qualifiers.

Heading the list of returnees is sophomore All-American Adam Pine, who became NU's most acclaimed swimmer on the NCAA level last season. Pine, a native of Ballina, Australia, finished second in the 100-yard butterfly and ninth in the 100-yard freestyle at the NCAA Championships last season, establishing school and Big 12 records in both events.

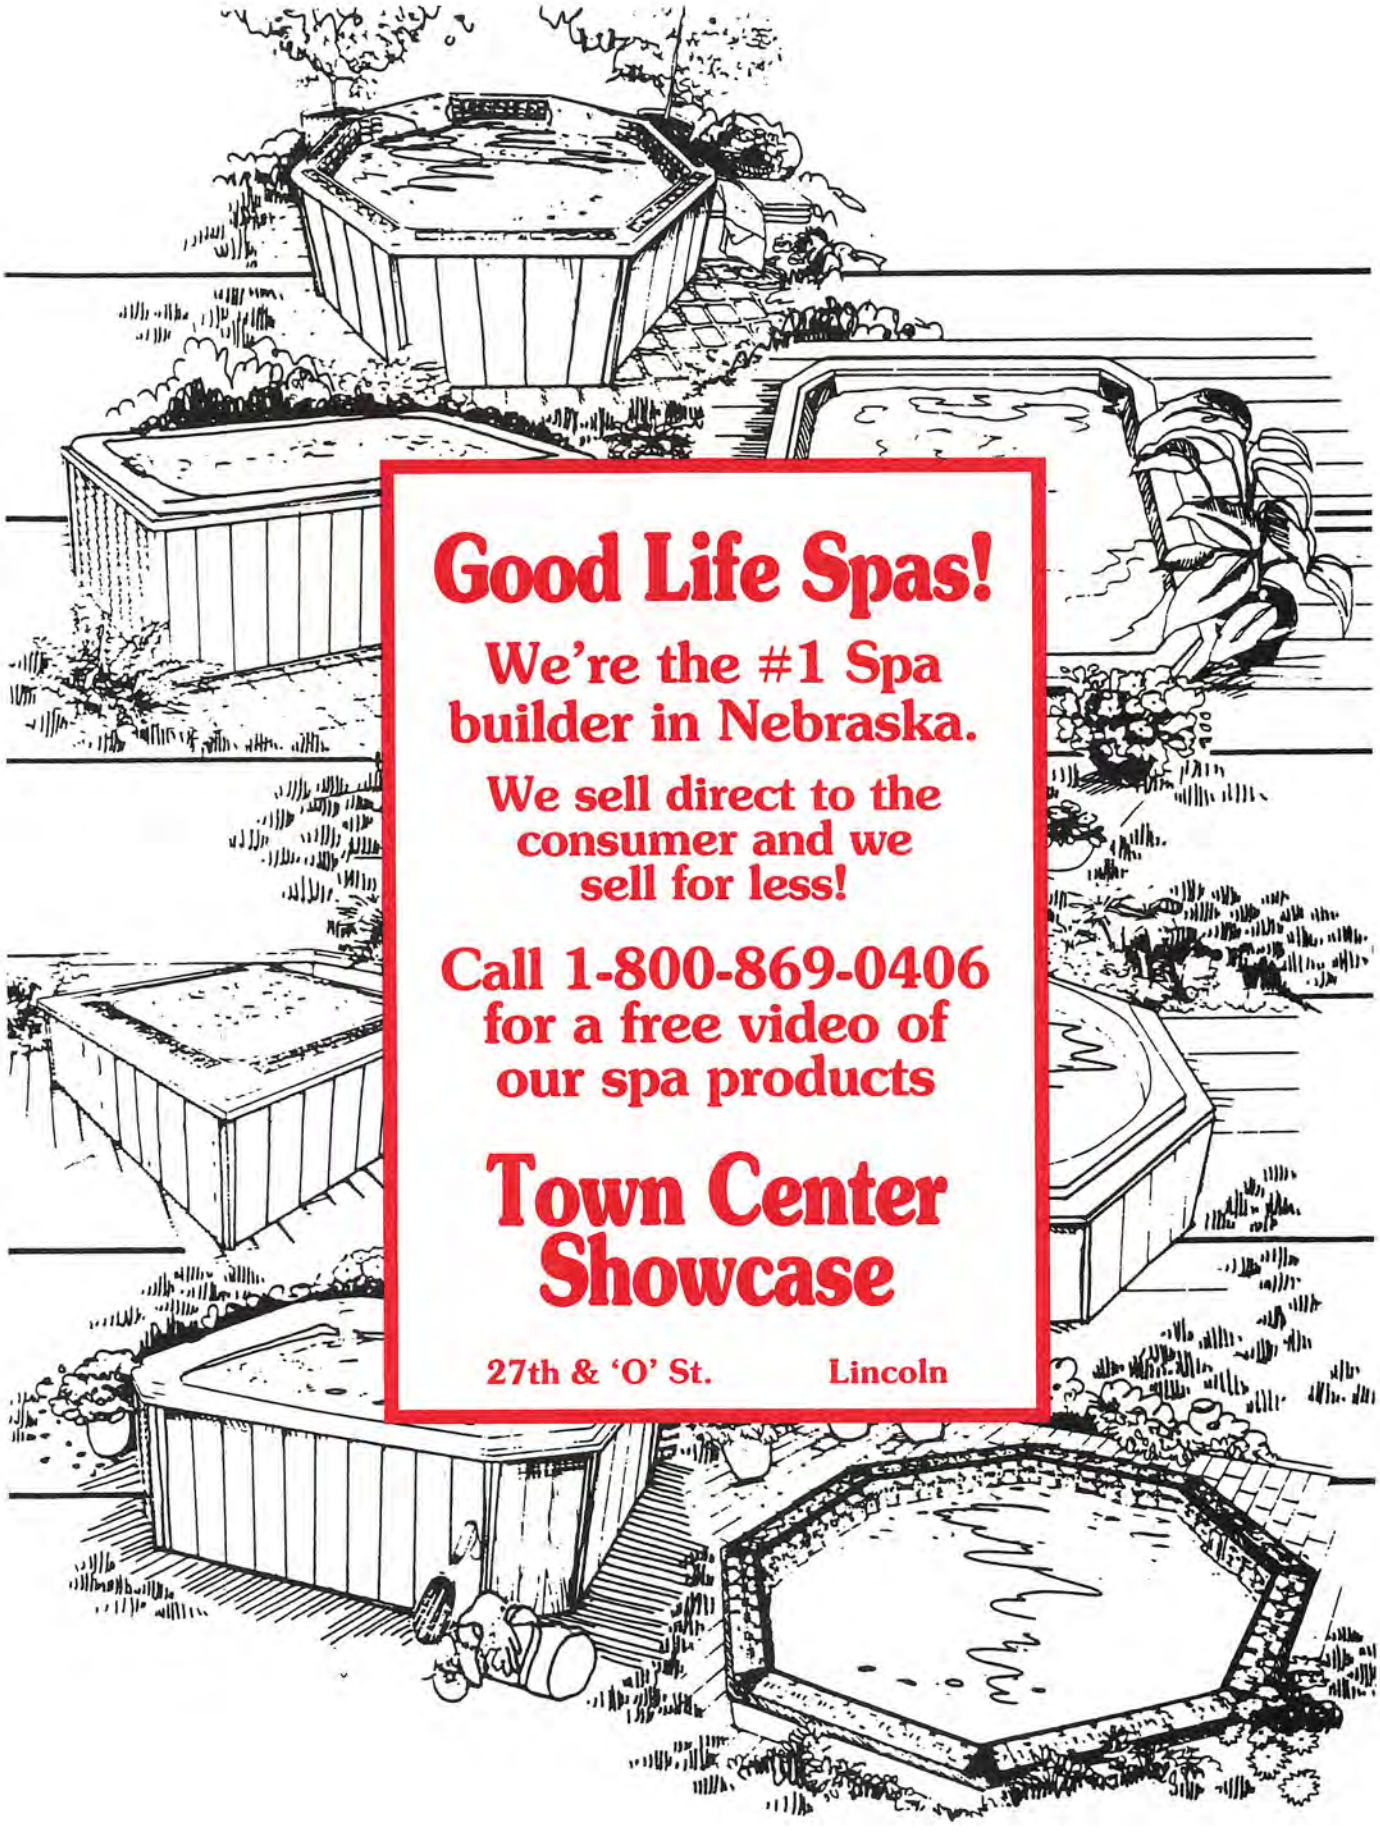

Also returning is junior All-American diver Danny Bergman. Bergman was the Big 12 runner-up in both the one- and three-meter diving competitions and went on to finish seventh on the one meter and 16th on the three meter at the NCAA Championships.

NU will also rely on the talents of returning All-Americans Mark Bennett, Alex Shleifman and Josh Mathias in the freestyle events. Valerjis Kalmikovs and Adrian Costello, both of whom have received All-America recognition, will pace the team in the breaststroke events. All-American and Lincoln native David Foster returns as the teams top backstroker.

Also expected to be counted on heavily are Michael Windisch, Eric Rasser and Bert Locklin. Windisch was the Big 12 Champion in the 400-yard IM and is the NU school-record holder in the 500-yard freestyle. Rasser was the 1996 Big Eight Newcomer-of-the-Year, while Locklin qualified for the NCAA Championships last season in the diving events.

The Huskers will have their work cut out for them, as they host the Big 12 Invitational on Oct. 25, before returning to the Devaney Sports Center on Nov. 21, when Arizona State, Toledo, Iowa and Kenyon come to Lincoln for the Nike Sprint Classic and Husker Shoot Out. The Huskers have dual competitions slated against defending national champion Auburn and perennial powers Minnesota, SMU, Texas A&M and Kansas.

1997-98 Husker Men's and Women's Swimming & Diving Schedule:
Oct. 24--Big 12 Relay Meet; Oct. 25--Big 12 Invitational; Nov. 6--at Texas Christian (m); Nov. 7--at SMU (m); Nov. 7-8--SMU Invitational (w); Nov. 21--Nike Sprint Classic; Nov. 22-23--Husker Shoot Out; Dec. 5-7--Texas Invitational; Jan. 10--Florida Atlantic/Villanova/Purdue at Boca Raton, Fla.; Jan. 17--Iowa State; Jan. 23-24--Minnesota (m-w)/Texas A&M (w); Jan. 30--at Kansas; Jan. 31--at Missouri; Feb. 19-21--Women's Big 12 Championships at Austin, Texas; Feb. 26-28--Men's Big 12 Championships at College Station, Texas; March 12-14--NCAA Zone Diving; March 19-21--Women's NCAA Championships at Minneapolis, Minn.; March 26-28--Men's NCAA Championships at Auburn, Ala.

Help Us Build The...

BIG RED Boulevard

In 1994 Coach Tom Osborne and the Husker football team brought the National Football Championship back to Nebraska. To celebrate this accomplishment, the University of Nebraska is building the Big Red Boulevard. This boulevard will extend from the locker room to the football field. It will be used by the Husker team entering Memorial Stadium on game day. We invite you to engrave your name in a brick to commemorate Nebraska's three national championships.

Please fill out the form below to purchase your brick(s). Your purchase is a tax-deductible donation to the University of Nebraska Athletic Program.

With your help the University of Nebraska will continue to maintain and improve the finest athletic facilities in the nation.

1997 Husker Volleyball

Head Coach: Terry Pettit (23 seasons)
1997 Record: 30-4; Big 12 Champions; National Semifinalist

by Jeffrey Abele

A glance at the bench during any Husker volleyball match will show where the strength of the 1997 team lies.

The squad that Head Coach Terry Pettit calls one of his deepest in years, features 16 talented athletes who each have a legitimate shot at six starting positions.

Two All-Americans, four returning starters, nine letterwinners and a highly-ranked recruiting class give Pettit an impressive stable from which to choose.

The Husker well has not run dry after two Final Four runs and one national title during the last two seasons. Instead, Pettit said Nebraska's pool of talent was overflowing.

"We return a more experienced team than last year and certainly one of the deeper teams we've had in years," he said.

The first item of business for the Huskers will be finding suitable replacements for All-Big 12 outside hitter Kate Crnich and backcourt extraordinaire Maria Hedbeck.

Pettit showed his tremendous restocking ability last year when he replaced a trio that accumulated five All-America honors while at Nebraska. This year he has his eyes set on an entourage of Huskers that could fill in for the two lost seniors.

"When you have a stable program, you're always going to be replacing exceptional players," he said. "But we're fortunate we have the players to do it."

Of the 16 players on the 1997 squad, all but five are underclassmen, which is promising for faithful Husker followers.

"Whatever players we don't redshirt will be competing for playing time," he said. "I think that raises your level of play, the knowledge that you have to play well to be on the court. We've got a lot of good people."

At the top of that list is two-time All-America senior outside hitter Lisa Reitsma who should contend for national-player-of-the-year honors in 1997.

On the opposite side of the court, junior outside hitter Jaime Krondak, a preseason All-America candidate, will try to improve on her stellar sophomore campaign.

A slew of Huskers will battle it out at middle blocker including All-America candidate Megan Korver, Tonia Tauke and Katie Jahnke.

Running the offensive show is 1996 AVCA first-team All-American junior setter Fiona Nepo. Pettit will have more flexibility with the setter position this year with the addition of freshman Jill McWilliams to the lineup and the added experience of Kim Crandall and Renee Saunders.

Lisa Reitsma

The battle for Crnich's spot will be fierce with the return of Denise Koziol to the lineup after a knee injury and the addition of fab-freshmen Kim Behrends and Nancy Meendering. Mandy Monson, who started at the position in the spring will also be a front-runner for the job.

University of Nebraska Songs

The Cornhusker

(The official field song for Nebraska)
Come a runnin' boys,
Don't you hear that noise
Like the thunder in the skies,
How it rolls along
In the good old song,
For the sons of Nebraska.
Now its coming near with a rising cheer
That will sweep all foes away.
So, with all our vim,
We will fight to win,
And we're going to win today.

CHORUS
For Nebraska and the Scarlet,
For Nebraska and the Cream,
Tho they go through many a battle,
Our colors are still seen.
So in contest and in victory,
We will wave then for the team,
And 'twill always stir a Cornhusker,
The Old Scarlet and Cream.

There Is No Place Like Nebraska

There is not place like Nebraska,
Dear old Nebraska U,
Where the girls are the fairest,
The boys are the squarest,
Of any old place that you know.
There is no place like Nebraska,
Where they're all true blue,
We'll all stick together in all kinds of weather,
For dear old Nebraska U.

Hail Varsity

Hail to the team,
The stadium rings as everyone sings,
The scarlet and cream.
Cheer on for victory
Echo your loyalty,
So on mighty men,
The eyes of the land,
Upon every hand are looking at you.
Fight on to victory,
Hail the men of Nebraska U.

The Alma Mater

Refrain:
Nebraska, Nebraska
We pledge you our true loyalty
Nebraska, Nebraska
A good life for you and for me.

Verse I
We have scarlet and cream as our colors
And we wear them proudly to our games
For the Pride of the Cornhusker legend
And for the school that we cherish to remain.

Refrain

Verse 2
Here to learn for an undiscovered future
And to build from a classical past
We are proud of our dear Alma Mater
We'll support her to help her always last.

Refrain

Verse 3
When the moon shone bright on the colors,
And those memories make you say,
When we kissed on that night at the columns
And the sun shone bright on Ivy Day.

Refrain

THE BIG 12 CONFERENCE

Steve Hatchell
Big 12 Conference
Commissioner

Dedicated to achieving the highest goals in the integration of academic and athletic endeavors, Baylor, Colorado, Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech joined forces Feb. 25, 1994, to forge the Big 12 Conference, one of the most powerful alliances in NCAA competition.

Individually, member schools have long been respected for success in classrooms and stadiums. League schools have been honored for the quality of academic resources, programs and services offered to students. Athletically, Big 12 teams have claimed more than 130 NCAA team championships, 15 wire service football titles, and more than 750 NCAA individual crowns entering the 1997-98 academic year.

School chief executive officers formed the Big 12 to combine resources and achieve higher performance levels in the 21st Century. Institution chancellors and presidents serve as the chief policy makers of the conference, operating as the Board of Directors. Administration of the league occurs through the Council of Faculty Athletics Representatives, Board of Athletics Directors and Board of Senior Woman Administrators.

Steven J. Hatchell became the conference's first commissioner on March 26, 1995. Under his direction, the Big 12 took a bold step for community service in May 1996, by adopting Special Olympics as its main philanthropy. Big 12 institutions have provided facilities for local, regional and national Special Olympics competition for years. Now, under the Big 12 blanket, Special Olympians, their coaches and fans have the opportunity to interact at clinics and other efforts in conjunction with Big 12 events. In August 1996, executive directors of Special Olympics in the seven-state area and Big 12 officials began promoting Special Olympics through public service announcements aired to all 48 contiguous states during Big 12 football and basketball games and the weekly "Big 12 Showcase." Although Special Olympians benefit from the use of conference facilities and clinics, Big 12 student-athletes, officials and fans may gain even more from this special partnership.

Another innovative venture of the Big 12 is the development of the Life Skills Program and Academic Services, which seeks to enhance the "total person" on and off the field. The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Special Olympics and the NCAA's YES program of clinics and stay-in-school messages to youngsters are a few of the life skills areas promoted by the Big 12. Student-athletes play an active role in community endeavors such as hospital visits, youth school programs, enhance/eligibility information and anti-violence campaigns promoted through public service messages aired during Big 12 events. The activities have helped the Big 12 raise standards of excellence throughout the NCAA.

Exposure is key in any endeavor, and the Big 12 has one of the most comprehensive regional and national telecast agreements in the country. ABC and Fox Sports Net combine to produce nearly 40 football games annually in syndicated, regional, national and prime time windows. The Big 12 dominates network television on the Friday after Thanksgiving with back-to-back national telecasts of Texas vs. Texas A&M and Colorado vs. Nebraska. ESPN and ESPN+Plus provide regional syndication, national cable and national network coverage of up to 90 men's basketball games. The Big 12 is a mainstay in the ESPN lineup with the highest rated college basketball slot on "Big Monday." Along with the syndicated package, ESPN+Plus markets 10 games annually to CBS and ABC for the Big 12. All 11 games of the Big 12 Phillips 66 Men's Basketball Tournament are aired regionally or nationally.

Big 12 television coverage doesn't stop with football and men's basketball. Fox Sports Net relies on Big 12 supplied programming of regular-season volleyball, baseball and women's basketball, televising nearly 30 events. Big 12 championships also have a home at Fox Sports Net. No fewer than eight Big 12 Olympic championships are televised on regional or national cable, and Fox Sports Net boasts one of the finest weekly collegiate programs in the 39-installment "Big 12 Showcase."

ESPN promotes and televises the Big 12 women's basketball challenge and will air the 1998 Phillips 66 Men's Basketball Tournament title game. The packages with ABC, Fox Sports Net and ESPN guarantee the Big 12 the finest intercollegiate coverage through 2000 (2003 with ABC for football television) and at least $145 million to member institutions.

The Big 12 took the field in the spring of 1996 as Oklahoma claimed the first conference championship in softball on May 11, 1996. Nebraska won the first volleyball crown, bringing a very successful 1996 to a close.

Big 12 football kicked off on Aug. 31, 1996, as Kansas State defeated Texas Tech 21-14 in Manhattan, Kan. The Big 12 uses a North-South divisional format in football, with the two Oklahoma schools and the four Texas schools forming the Big 12 South, while Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri and Iowa State create the Big 12 North. The champions of each division battle in an electric showdown in early December to determine the Big 12 representative to the Bowl Alliance.

In the first Big 12 Dr. Pepper Football Championship held at the Trans World Dome in St. Louis, Texas captured the Big 12 crown. The Big 12 was the only conference with two teams participating in Tier 1 Alliance Bowls (Texas-Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and Nebraska-FedEx Orange Bowl). In addition to the alliance agreement, the Big 12 has five other agreements with the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl Classic, Plymouth Holiday Bowl, Builders Square Alamo Bowl, Jeep Aloha Bowl and Copper Bowl.

After a very successful first campaign for the Big 12 Conference, the 21 regular-season championship trophies were divided among seven schools, with Texas taking seven (football, men's and women's outdoor track, men's swimming and diving, men's and women's tennis, women's golf), the most of all conference members. Nebraska claimed six trophies (gymnastics, men's and women's indoor track, soccer, women's swimming and diving and volleyball), while Colorado (men's and women's cross country), Kansas (men's and women's basketballl) and Oklahoma State (men's golf and wrestling) captured two trophies. Oklahoma (softball) and Texas Tech (baseball) picked up the other championship trophies.

The Big 12 is home to more than 1,500 student-athletes on 209 teams in 21 men's and women's sports. Big 12 programs include baseball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's cross country, football, men's and women's golf, women's gymnastics, men's and women's indoor and outdoor track, softball, women's soccer, men's and women's swimming and diving, men's and women's tennis, women's volleyball and wrestling.

Help remind them they're kids.

It's not easy being a kid. Poverty, gangs and single parent homes are just a few of the obstacles children have to deal with these days. A lot of children are forced to grow up quickly and miss out on the best parts of childhood.

These kids could really use a Pal. A Pacific Pal.

Through Pacific Pals, underprivileged and "at risk" children are given the chance to do "kids stuff." Some of the activities are: the Pacific Pals Summer Camps in both Omaha and Lincoln, University of Nebraska at Lincoln and Omaha football and basketball, Omaha Ballet, Creighton University basketball, Henry Doorly Zoo, Omaha Children's Museum, Omaha Royals baseball, Dickens in the Market, Omaha Lancers hockey, Fontenelle Forest, Omaha Racers basketball, Joslyn Museum and River City Roundup & Rodeo. In most cases, the activity includes admission, food and souvenirs.

Founded in 1990 by Pacific Realty Group, Inc., Pacific Pals is a non-profit corporation, funded through corporate support. In the past seven years, more than 20,000 children have benefited from this program.

Help more kids get the chance to be kids. Be a Pal. Call Pacific Realty at (402) 345-5866 and find out how you or your corporation can help.

Husker Pros...Pipeline to the NFL

Neil Smith
Neil Smith (1984-87) was one of the nation's premier pass rushers at Nebraska. He carried that reputation into the NFL as a first-round pick of the Kansas City Chiefs, where he was a five-time Pro Bowl performer. During the offseason, Smith signed with the Denver Broncos. He has recorded 86.5 career sacks.

All-Time NFL Top 20 First-Round Draft Picks by School

15.	UCLA	23
16.	LSU	22
17.	Pittsburgh	20
18.	Minnesota	19
	Arizona State	19
	Florida State	19

Did You Know...

- Nebraska has averaged almost five and a half draft picks per year since 1954.
- Since Tom Osborne's reign as head coach, the number of NFL draft picks has increased to more than seven annually, with 175 in 24 years.
- Nebraska ranks ninth on the NFL's all-time first-round draft list, including nine first-round selections in the last 11 drafts.
- Cornerback Michael Booker became Nebraska's eighth first-round pick in the last 11 years.
- Nebraska's eight draftees in 1997 matched Arizona State and Miami for most in the nation.

"Coach Tom Osborne is without a doubt one of the top coaches in the country. His program shows you the success and commitment to winning. I have great respect for Coach Osborne and the University of Nebraska football program."

▲ Tom Rathman, Former Husker and 49er Fullback, Two-time Super Bowl Champion

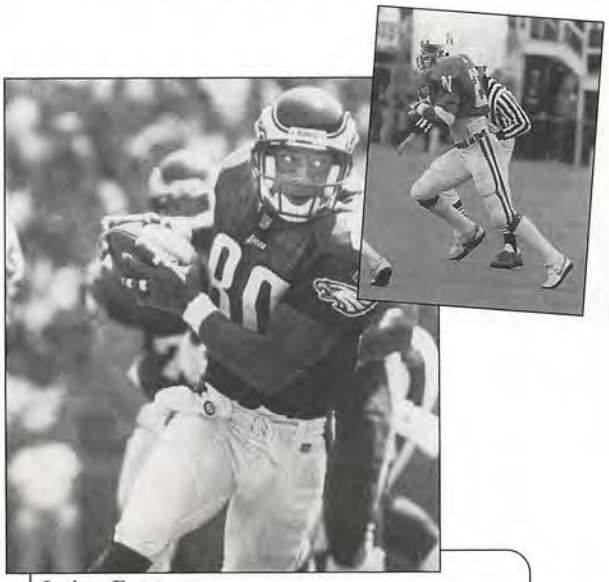

Tyrone Hughes
Before signing with the Chicago Bears in the offseason, Tyrone Hughes (1989-92) earned two trips to the Pro Bowl and set three NFL records with the New Orleans Saints. Last year, he racked up 1,791 kickoff return yards and 1,943 kickoff and punt return yards, which are both NFL records.

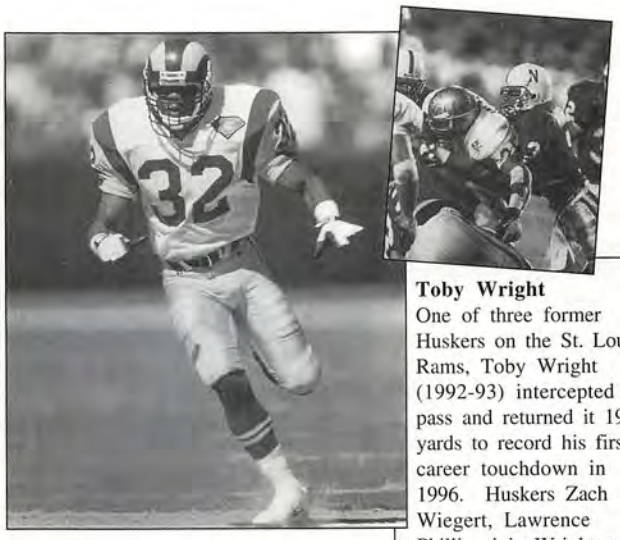

Brendan Stai
Pittsburgh Steelers' starting guard, Brendan Stai (1991-94), will enter his third year in the black and gold. Former Husker Donta Jones is also a member of the team.

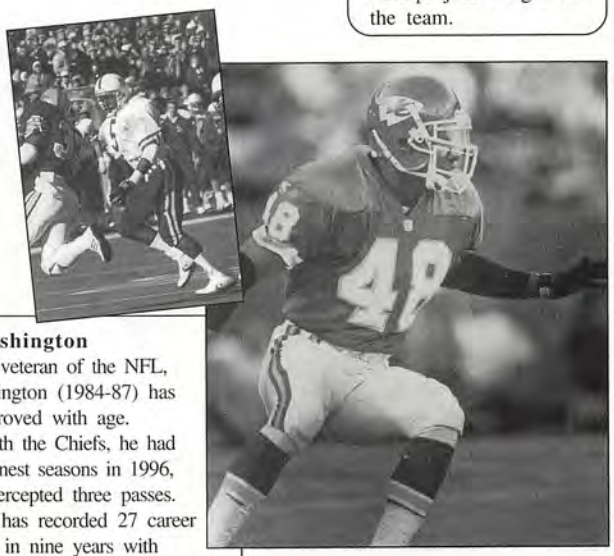

Training Ground for the Next Level

Irving Fryar
Irving Fryar (1980-83) was an integral part of the Huskers' "Scoring Explosion," which led the nation in scoring in '83. The No. 1 pick of the 1984 NFL Draft by New England, Fryar has 650 receptions, ranking 11th all-time. Fryar signed with Philadelphia in '96 after 12 seasons with Miami and the Patriots. Fryar set an Eagles' team record with 88 catches in 1996.

Toby Wright
One of three former Huskers on the St. Louis Rams, Toby Wright (1992-93) intercepted a pass and returned it 19 yards to record his first career touchdown in 1996. Huskers Zach Wiegert, Lawrence Phillips join Wright on the team.

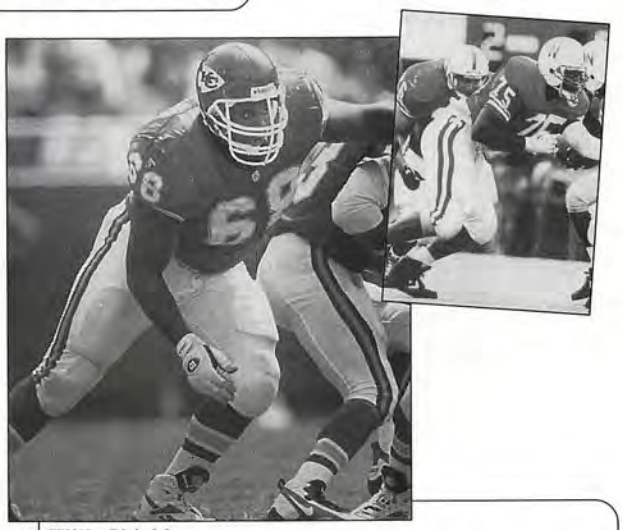

Brian Washington
A nine-year veteran of the NFL, Brian Washington (1984-87) has steadily improved with age. Currently with the Chiefs, he had one of his finest seasons in 1996, when he intercepted three passes. Washington has recorded 27 career interceptions in nine years with Cleveland, the New York Jets and K.C.

Did You Know...

- Thirty-three players who played for Nebraska sometime during the last three years were either drafted or signed free-agent contracts with NFL teams.
- Only three schools can boast having two receivers in the NFL to top the 500 reception mark. Nebraska is one of them, joining Ohio State and Florida. In each case below, one of each pair was a running back: Nebraska (Irving Fryar and Roger Craig), Florida (John L. Williams and Wes Chandler), Ohio State (Keith Byars and Cris Carter).
- In addition to the numerous ball carriers and interior blockers NU has fed to the NFL, in the last nine years, the Huskers have had 16 receivers drafted or signed as free agents, and 13 Husker defensive backs have been selected in the last six NFL drafts.

"The University of Nebraska staff encouraged my development as an athlete and as a person. They helped me to be creative, manage my time and build my character, poise and beliefs. The assistance and training I received at Nebraska enabled me to be ready to assume a starting role for the Kansas City Chiefs as a rookie."

▲ Will Shields, 1992 Outland Trophy Winner

Will Shields
Will Shields (1989-92), who has been with the Kansas City Chiefs for five years, was a three-year starter for the Huskers and the sixth Outland Trophy winner in NU's history. In 1993, he was named the Chiefs' Rookie-of-the-Year.

Our once beautiful Governor's residence,
the state's official gathering place,
is badly in need of repair and restoration...

YOU CAN HELP PUT NEBRASKA'S HOUSE IN ORDER.

Nebraskans from border to border have always considered the residence "their home" at the Capitol. It hosts countless gatherings each year. Under the leadership of First Lady Diane Nelson and former First Gentleman Bill Orr, a campaign is underway to raise the funds to refurbish it to a standard all Nebraskans deserve.

The effort has begun with initial private contributions of money and services. State government will help too, but the job cannot be done without citizen support.

Give what you can to help put Nebraska's house in order. Your tax-deductible contribution will be recognized by a letter of thanks from Diane Nelson and Bill Orr. Your name will also be part of the official contributors' record to be on permanent display at the residence.

Please send your gift today. It will be valued by all Nebraskans for countless tomorrows.

College Football USA

In the Beginning

NCAA Football is the offspring of a project started in 1995. It was then that the AFCA and NACDA created marketing program they called College Football USA. The original project was molded by AdCraft Sports Marketing, a Louisville, Kentucky-based firm, and grew from an effort to celebrate the 125th anniversary of college football.

AdCraft recently merged with Host Communications and is now a subsidiary of Host. Host Communications is headquartered in Lexington, Kentucky and will direct all aspects of the NCAA Football marketing campaign.

The program will be administered by Marc Kidd, who will serve as staff vice president. Kidd is an executive vice president of Host Communications. NCAA Football will be headquartered in Dallas, Texas and a national sales team will be assembled in New York. Additional staff personnel will be employed to help oversee the program.

NCAA Football will consist of a 14-member board that will include one representative from the NCAA, AFCA, and NACDA staffs, 10 Division I conference representatives and one Division I-AA conference representative.

The board will be named at a later date.

Down the Road

It is expected that NCAA Football will meet with great success and plans are already being made to expand the program. Next on the "to do list" is NAIA football. This program will be similar to NCAA Football and will be developed for the 110 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football-playing institutions.

As far as the NCAA is concerned, NCAA Football is just the first of a four-phase cooperative marketing effort to promote college athletics under the overall title of NCAA Sports USA. The additional three phases will incorporate college basketball, women's sports, and Olympic sports.

Other Comments

Others associated with "The Power of One" are excited about the new program.

"We think the new promotional package for football is a very sincere, strong effort to put together a plan and package for football, on all levels, which will serve for the betterment of the game," says Steve Hatchell, chairman of the Division I-A Commissioners Marketing Committee and commissioner of the Big 12 Conference. "While college football is one of the most popular sports in the country, as evidenced by the 36 million people who attend the games annually, there are still some outstanding promotional opportunities which will enhance the game nationwide."

Bobby Bowden, who was present at the announcement of the program this past February in Atlanta, is enthusiastic about what NCAA Football will mean for the future of the sport. "As a result of NCAA Football and our collective efforts to support it, more adults and children will become interested in playing and supporting football on all levels," says Bowden. "Additional funding will now be available to make that happen."

While the names of the organizations that oversee college football have changed, the intent is still the same—to preserve what has become an American institution.

CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-America Team

University Division

The 1997 CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-America Football Team, selected by members of the College Sports Information Directors of America, honors the nation's best student-athletes.

Just as the balancing of football and academics is difficult, the standards for nomination and selection to the team are rigorous. To be nominated, a varsity starter or key reserve player must have a minimum 3.200 cumulative grade-point average (on a 4.000 scale).

The program began in the 1950s with honorees in football; later, basketball and baseball all-academic teams were added. Academic and athletics biographical data of nominees are prepared in ballot form and mailed to the CoSIDA membership, who vote in each of eight districts. From the eight district teams comes a national ballot, distributed to the 1,400 members for the final all-academic team.

One player from the university division also was honored as GTE academic all-America of the year. The honor, which goes to the athlete who "best represents the qualities of an academic all-America," was presented to quarterback Danny Wuerffel of Florida. The 1996 Heisman Trophy winner and an NCAA Top VIII Award recipient, Wuerffel led Florida to victory over Florida State in the 1997 Nokia Sugar Bowl and a wire-service national championship.

"The achievements of these young men should truly be commended," said NBC sportscaster Dick Enberg, spokesperson for the GTE academic all-America team. "I often wonder where college students find the time and energy to play a demanding sport like football, excel in the classroom and be active on campus and in their communities. To me, these are the true all-Americans."

1998 Husker Women's Gymnastics

Head Coach: Dan Kendig (fifth season)
1997 Record: 22-2; Big 12 Champions; 6th at NCAA Championships

by Shamus McKnight

After winning the inaugural Big 12 Championship and qualifying for the Super Six for the first time in 1997, the Nebraska women's gymnastics team has positioned itself among the nation's elite programs.

The Huskers have been to the NCAA Championships for three straight seasons and recorded their best finish since 1989 with a sixth-place finish last season. During the 1997 season, NU set team records in each event and posted a school-record score of 196.625 to win the Masters Classic en route to a 22-2 mark, its best since 1990.

Although the 1998 Huskers will be young, with no seniors on the roster, 11 letterwinners, including first-team All-Americans Misty Oxford and Heather Brink, return as NU seeks its fifth straight conference title.

A junior, Oxford earned All-America honors in three events (vault, balance beam and floor exercise) at the NCAA Championships last season. The Kelso, Wash., native's 11th-place showing in the floor exercise was the highest finish by a NU woman gymnast on that apparatus. Oxford, who holds the school record on both the vault (9.95) and the floor exercise (9.95), was one of the Huskers' most consistent performers in 1997, posting eight vaults over 9.85.

Brink, a Lincoln native, quickly displayed the talents that made her one of the most sought-after gymnasts in the country. At the NCAA Championships, she recorded a 9.725 to finish eighth in the vault, the highest individual finish by a Husker since 1990, to earn All-America honors. Brink, Nebraska's top returning all-arounder, also finished 12th in that event with a 39.225, one of five times she scored a 39.00 or better during the season. At the Big 12 Championships, Brink earned Newcomer-of-the-Year honors with a third-place finish in the all-around (39.175) and tied former NU All-American Shelly Bartlett for first on the uneven bars (9.925).

Sophomore Nicole Wilkinson is another veteran who has the ability to earn All-American accolades this season. She posted a 9.65 or better on all of her vaults last season, including a season-best 9.90 to tie for second at the Big 12 Championships. A native of London, Ontario, Wilkinson scored a 9.75 or better on nine of her last 10 routines on the balance beam, while also recording a season-best all-around score of 39.200 against Penn State. At the NCAA Regional, she filled in for an injured Amie Dillman and finished third in the all-around with a score of 39.175.

Misty Oxford

Juniors Laurie McLaughlin and Courtney Brown also return after earning All-Big 12 honors last season. McLaughlin finished in a third-place tie in the balance beam with Brown with identical 9.90 scores. A product of State College, Pa., McLaughlin steadily improved throughout the season and recorded a 9.80 or better in her last four performances on the balance beam. She also competed on the uneven bars and posted six performances of 9.80 or better, including a 9.85 in the NCAA Super Six and a career-best 9.90 at the Big 12 Championships.

Brown, from Fishers, Ind., competed in three events (vault, balance beam, and floor exercise) last season. At the Super Six, she posted a score of 9.75 on the vault and 9.85 on the beam.

The Huskers also return juniors Jess Swift and Amie Dillman, and sophomore Laura Ohlendorf, all of whom saw extensive action last season. Dillman and Ohlendorf suffered injuries last season, but are expected to be healthy for the upcoming season. In addition, two incoming freshmen, Kathy Ligon and Amy Ringo, bring impressive credentials to Lincoln and could contribute from the start. Both have competed at the Junior Olympic level and have Coach Dan Kendig looking forward to the 1998 season.

HUSKER WHEEL CLUB

Automobile Dealers in Nebraska are contributing a large measure of help to the University of Nebraska athletic program through the loan of courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of the Cornhusker booster group activities, this project enables the Nebraska Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds. These sports-minded dealers around the state have earned a debt of gratitude from the Universisty of Nebraska Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "team" which includes players, coaches, administration, faculty, staff, students, alumni, Husker Educational Award group, Director's Club, Touchdown Club, Extra Point Club, Beef Club, Rebounders and the courtesy car program.

Health Care in Motion

Athletes of all kinds rely on physical therapy to prevent and overcome pain and injuries. Not just championship caliber athletes like the University of Nebraska at Lincoln football players. Recreational athletes, too, of every age, and in every sport. As a matter of fact, people in all walks of life benefit from sprains, strains, backaches, or stiff muscles. To rehabilitate from serious injuries, surgeries, strokes, and other disabilities. Or to prevent injuries and pain through instruction in proper exercise and conditioning. To locate a physical therapist in your area for quality health care to facilitate your active lifestyle, call the telephone number listed to contact a physical therapist near you.

The Nebraska Radio Network

Pinnacle Sports Productions begins its second year of producing live broadcasts of the University of Nebraska sporting events. Pinnacle, now owned by Triathlon, purchased the rights on Feb. 9, 1996, and were approved by the board of regents on Feb. 24.

Warren Swain
Play-by-Play Announcer

The Pinnacle Sports contract began with the 1996-97 season and runs through the 2000-2001 season. It includes the exclusive radio broadcast rights to Nebraska football, men's basketball, women's basketball and volleyball. The contract has guaranteed rights fees of $8.6 million dollars over five years. In addition to game coverage, Pinnacle Sports provides a daily, live call-in show focusing on NU athletics and other sports in the area.

Pinnacle Sports Productions heads up a large network of state and national affiliates, allowing Husker games to be heard nationwide. KKAR owns the rights as the Omaha affiliate, while KLIN retains the rights to Nebraska athletics in the Lincoln market. As of press time, Pinnacle Sports had put together a 61-station network, including 36 in-state and 25 out-state stations, covering 15 states.

Criteria used in evaluating bids included guaranteed annual fees; confidence in the bidder's ability to realize such fees; ability to put together a network; additional proposed programming; availability of a viable radio production facility and personnel; coverage of women's sports; other sports coverage committed; air wave coverage of the state of Nebraska and key out-of-state locations; and willingness and ability to promote the University of Nebraska in all areas, including non-athletic concerns.

Paul Aaron of Elkhorn, Neb., is president of Pinnacle Sports Productions. His staff includes Patty Aaron, Laurel McLane, Joni Woodruff (marketing) and Elizabeth Pate (office manager).

Play-by-Play Announcer Warren Swain

The radio contract change also brought about a change in the on-air talent for Husker athletics. Veteran sportscaster Warren Swain begins his second year as the play-by-play voice of Husker football and men's basketball. Swain has been in the sports radio business for nearly three decades and was the radio voice of University of Virginia football, basketball and lacrosse from 1986 to 1996.

Swain has also held play-by-play assignments at Drake University, the University of Oregon, Iowa State University and Hastings College. Swain has been honored for his work, named Virginia Sportscaster-of-the-Year six times, most recently in 1994, as well as earning Iowa and Oregon Sportscaster-of-the-Year honors.

After growing up in the Midwest, Swain welcomed the opportunity to work with the University of Nebraska.

Former Husker Adrian Fiala provides color for football broadcasts. Fiala played football (linebacker) and baseball (catcher) for the Huskers (1967-69). Fiala previously provided color commentary for KFOR radio in Lincoln, working with Ray Scott, Tim Moreland and Dick Perry. Since 1985, he has worked as the analyst for telecasts of the Omaha Royals games on the Nebraska ETV Network and in Omaha, on Cox cable. Former Huskers Terry Connealy and Jerry Tagge are also a part of the football team. Connealy is a statistician and Tagge is a sideline reporter. Mike Elliott serves as technical director.

Jim Rose (of KLIN) and Gary Java (KKAR) are also a part of the network team. Other announcers include KLIN's Gary Sharp (women's basketball and baseball), John Baylor (volleyball, women's basketball), John Bishop (Sports Nightly) and NU Director of Basketball Operations Nick Joos (men's basketball).

The Sporting News named Barry's Bar & Grill as the No. 2 place in the country for pre-game festivities. The Varsity in Columbus, Ohio, was named the No. 1 place because the fans sing the fight songs the day before and the day of the game. We're going for No. 1 this year. We have good intensity. We'll serve our customers one game at a time. We have the right focus and we've been working hard all summer. We're bigger, faster and stronger than in the past because we've been eating Barry's burgers, chicken sandwiches and succulent salads. Come on in and be a part of the climb to the national championship.

12 Huskers Nominated for GTE Academic All-America Team

by Keith Zimmer

Thus far, 1997 has proven to be a banner year on the field for the Nebraska football team as the Cornhuskers head into November on top of the college football polls. Later this month, the Huskers hope to add to their nation's leading total of 50 first-team football GTE Academic All-Americans.

Recently, Sports Information Director Chris Anderson submitted a school-record 12 Academic All-America nomination forms. "I believe all 12 are legitimate candidates and have a very good chance of making the GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-District VII team," Anderson said. Making the All-District Academic team is just one step away from being named to the prestigious Academic-All America team.

To be nominated, students must be a starter or important reserve with legitimate athletic credentials and at least a 3.20 cumulative grade-point average on a 4.0 scale. The student-athlete must have reached sophomore athletic and academic standing and must have completed at least one full academic year at the current institution. Nominated athletes must have participated in 50 percent of the team's games at the position listed on the nomination form.

Indeed, the GTE Academic All-America team is very exclusive and prestigious as only one first-team player is named for each offensive and defensive position along with one spot for the punter and placekicker. With only 24 first-team Academic All-America certificates up for grabs, how many will the Huskers secure in 1997?

Senior All-America rush end Grant Wistrom will almost certainly repeat as a first-team GTE Academic-All American, having earned the honor in 1996. Wistrom owns a 3.431 cumulative grade point average in pre-pharmacy. Other top contenders for first-team honors include offensive players Jon Zatechka, Scott Frost and Joel Makovicka. Zatechka hopes to earn his spot in Husker academic history by being named to the team, and being lined up next to brother Rob in the Hewit Academic Center oil painting gallery which features portraits of first-team members from all sports. Zatechka currently has a 3.548 in forestry, fisheries & wildlife.

"It signifies the quality of person you are and demonstrates you are well-balanced with the proper perspective," said starting quarterback Frost, who is a 3.479 finance student.

Nebraska's bruising fullback Joel Makovicka has not only put up big numbers on the field, but off the field as well. Makovicka, a junior, has a 3.84 cumulative grade-point average in Biological Sciences and is a member of Mortar Board.

While Coach Tom Osborne and the 1997 Huskers continue to strive for perfection and the national championship, linebacker Brian Shaw has been able to maintain perfection so far in his academic career. Through two full years of college, the animal science major has earned A's in every college course. Fellow blackshirts Chad Kelsay and Travis Toline have also been nominated for the Academic All-America team. Kelsay has a 3.614 cumulative GPA in finance, while Toline has earned a 3.642 in mechanical engineering.

The Browns; Kris, Lance and Mike, have all been nominated for recognition on the Academic All-America team. Kris Brown, an aspiring teacher, was named to the first-ever Brook Berringer Citizenship team in recognition of outstanding community involvement. Volunteer service often plays a deciding factor in who is named to the Academic All-America squad. Wingback Lance Brown has a 3.745 GPA in management and is scheduled to graduate in December 1997, 1 1/2 years before the end of his Nebraska football career. Sophomore rover Mike Brown is quickly making a name for himself both on and off the field and is a prime candidate to be named to the Academic All-America team before the conclusion of his Nebraska career. Receiver Jeff Lake and fullback Billy Legate round out Nebraska's outstanding class of nominees. Lake is a 3.5 civil engineering student while Legate has maintained a 3.455 in education.

Scott Frost

Jon Zatechka

Congratulations to all 12 Nebraska Cornhusker GTE Academic All-America nominees. The efforts of these outstanding student-athletes are greatly appreciated both on and off the field.

Zatechka's Hustle Pays Off For Huskers

By Shamus McKnight

Before the season, offensive lineman Jon Zatechka talked about how it was every lineman's dream to recover a fumble in the end zone for a touchdown. On Oct. 18, that dream became a reality.

Two weeks ago against Texas Tech, the 6-2, 290-pound Zatechka pounced on Ahman Green's fumble in the end zone for a touchdown, the first TD scored by an offensive lineman since Dean Steinkuhler's "fumblerooskie" in the 1984 Orange Bowl.

"I don't know what to say," Zatechka said. " I came off my linebacker and saw Ahman beside me. Suddenly, he got hit and the ball popped loose. I just dove on it."

According to offensive line coach Milt Tenopir, the touchdown is a good example of Zatechka's work ethic.

"Jon was in the right spot at the right time, and it was because he hustled for the entire play," Tenopir said. "A lot of kids would stop at the line of scrimmage, but Jon followed the play and was 15 yards downfield. With hustle, a lot of those things can happen."

The touchdown triggered a wild celebration among the offensive linemen in the end zone.

"It was great," Zatechka said. "It is every lineman's dream to score a touchdown. All the other guys on the line came over, dove on me and started to scream and yell."

"Jon showed his cat-like quickness when he jumped on the ball," senior offensive lineman Matt Hoskinson said. "All of the linemen are proud of him."

Zatechka and the rest of the offensive line have had a lot to celebrate in 1997. The top-ranked Huskers lead the nation in total offense (501.7 yards per game) and rushing offense (398.7 ypg), and are third in scoring offense (41.9 points per game).

Unlike last season where it took several games to get in a groove, the offensive line has been a cohesive unit from the start.

"We know how each other plays now, and we feel comfortable with each other," Zatechka, one of three two-year starters on the NU offensive line, said. "Right off the bat this year we gelled."

After six games, the first-team offensive line has committed just two penalties and has allowed two sacks. In recent weeks, the offensive line has increased its output, averaging 77 pancakes in the last three games as Nebraska rushed for more 400 yards against Baylor and Texas Tech.

"The intensity is picking up over the last couple of weeks," Zatechka said. "Everybody on the line has been getting a lot more pancakes and more downfield blocks. That's why we have been able to break all the big plays. We have been wearing teams down in the second quarter."

Individually, Zatechka is third for the team lead with 68 pancakes, an average of almost 10 per game, including a season-high 13 against Texas Tech. He has recorded at least seven in each game this season. This season, Zatechka credits his improvement to playing at a consistently high level.

"The biggest thing for me is keeping up the intensity," Zatechka said. "I want to keep my level up on each play and go out and hit the guy hard. I want to stay active until the whistles blows."

"Jon is a real competitive player who takes pride in doing things well," Tenopir said. "That is why he does things that well. He has been a very valuable player for us the four years."

One area where Zatechka has done well his entire collegiate career is in the classroom. A fisheries and wildlife major who carries a 3.556 grade-point average, Zatechka was a GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-District selection and a First-Team Academic All-Big 12 selection in 1996. This season, he was chosen as the Burger King Scholar Athlete-of-the-Week, and is a candidate for Academic All-America recognition.

"Academics are real important because football is not going to last forever," Zatechka said. "You have to have a good base and that is what academics provides. I work just as hard in school as I do on the field, and it is paying off."

Zatechka played soccer, baseball and wrestled when he was younger and it wasn't until high school that he began to display his talents on the gridiron. At Lincoln East, Zatechka, who started on both offense and defense, earned all-state honors as a senior

"I never really took playing football seriously until my junior year when I started seeing what I could do," Zatechka said. "My coach had a lot of confidence in me and started me my junior year. After that, schools started contacting me, and it popped into my head that I may have a future in football. I started to concentrate on that much harder."

Zatechka looked at other schools, but the thought of going somewhere else was not much of an issue. His older brother Rob, a two-time Academic All-American, was a starter for the Huskers and now plays for the New York Giants.

"Just about every kid who grows up here is a Nebraska fan," said Zatechka. "Through Rob, I knew a bunch of the guys and that helped in the decision a lot. I could stay close to home, and with Nebraska's facilities, it was not that hard of a decision. I don't think there is a better place in the country to go to school and play football."

During his first two seasons at Nebraska Zatechka was able to use his older brother to get accustomed to the system.

"Having Rob around helped me a lot in getting to know people and the system," Jon said. "I was able to ask him questions and he was able to help me out. By the time he was gone, I had the offense down pretty well. It worked out real well I thought."

After appearing in four games in 1994, Zatechka played in all 12 games in 1995 before breaking into the starting lineup last season.

Zatechka said he sees some similiarities to two seasons ago.

"We go out and do our job each week and see if we can do the best that we can," Zatechka said. "When Ahman Green and Correll Buckhalter have a good day, we have a good day. That's how it was in 1995. The line played well all season and the running backs keep working hard."

For Husker fans, hopefully it will have the same ending as 1995.

Zatechka, in his second season as a starter, was a first-team Academic All-District VII selection in 1996.

HUSKERVISION

For the past three seasons, the Nebraska football team began the season with the vision of a national championship. In two seasons, hard work made that vision become a reality with Nebraska posting championship 13-0 and 12-0 records in 1994 and 1995.

However, Husker players and coaches weren't the only ones with a vision. Three years ago, Athletic Director Bill Byrne had the forsight to implement the HuskerVision Network, including two big screen replay boards which allowed Nebraska fans to enjoy a luxury few other college fans are afforded.

With its replay boards the University of Nebraska was the first college football team in the country to have instant replay boards at an exclusive college venue. The only other college games which previously had boards available were those played in stadiums which are home to professional football teams.

The screens stand 16'9-5/8" high, by 23'1-3/16" wide (388 square feet), and each screen is formed by over 90,000 lighting dots. These dots form 5,632 lighting elements, which in all make up 352 total lighting units. The basic lighting elements, units and module cabinets, plus video processing electronics are manufactured by Mitsubishi Electronics. The cost of the system is being paid entirely by commercial sponsorships.

Beside the obvious advantage of being able to view replays and game action on two huge screens, HuskerVision has made several other changes to game day at Memorial Stadium.

First, the screens are the most important ingredient to one of the most dramatic team entrances in all of sports. Along with the new sound system, the replay boards help make "The Tunnel Walk" part of the atmosphere of Nebraska football.

HuskerVision's contributions to Memorial Stadium have not gone unnoticed by Nebraska fans. In a survey of season ticket holders, fans mentioned HuskerVision as one of the most beneficial and worthwhile additions to Memorial Stadium in many years.

Like the Husker football team, the HuskerVision crew spends the week prior to a home game developing its own game plan. Starting on Sunday prior to a home game, the crew produces features for Saturday's game and spends much of the week preparing graphics, mug shots and other clips which appear on the boards throughout the game.

Saturday is showtime for the HuskerVision crew. On a home Saturday, the HuskerVision crew is headed by Director of HuskerVision Jeff Schmahl. He is in charge of the control room personnel which includes eight people, while three other members of the staff operate cameras on the field. Also operating in conjunction with much of HuskerVision's features is public address announcer Rick Schwieger, who also serves as production specialist for the athletic department. Shot Kleen is HuskerVision's chief engineer and Kirk Hartman is a HuskerVision video production specialist.

Last season HuskerVision moved into a brand new home in the West Stadium. Located on the concourse level of the West Stadium, HuskerVision's new home includes brand new office space to accommodate four full-time employees and a staff of student assistants. In addition, a state-of-the-art control room and a separate edit bay allows numerous people to work on video projects simultaneously.

Also located in HuskerVision's new area is a full production studio. The studio is used to tape the Tom Osborne Show immediately following home games for statewide broadcast on Sunday mornings. Also on the HuskerVision lineup this season is the Tom Osborne Kickoff Show which will air on Saturday mornings and preview the day's game. Following the football season, the Saturday morning show continues and is used to spotlight various Husker sports and athletes.

HuskerVision's duties also include the production of highlight tapes for all 23 Nebraska varsity sports. The HuskerVision crew has annually produced and marketed highlight tapes on the Nebraska football season.

Long known for having one of the best atmospheres in all of college football, Memorial Stadium has become an even better venue for fans with the addition of HuskerVision. With other improvements on the way, Memorial Stadium is sure to remain as one of the nation's most dramatic settings for a college football game.

Valentino's®

Absolutely The Best Pizza Ever Made - Guaranteed!

Introducing
• Valentino's Pizza Pass •

- At every Husker home game, 25 footballs will be thrown into the crowd.
- One winning football will be good for ONE FREE PIZZA A WEEK FOR A YEAR.
- Catch one of the other 24 footballs and receive a free slice of pizza during the game at Memorial Stadium.

In Nebraska, winning is a tradition. For this reason we are proud to serve you at any of our 44 locations, and also in Memorial Stadium. To continue this winning tradition, we are happy to bring you the excitement of the Valentino's Pizza Pass.

VALENTINE

Where the most famous doctor in Nebraska went for heart care.

Dr. Tom Osborne
Former Bryan Patient

Tom Osborne appreciates the value of leadership. Whether he's working to direct his team down the field or helping to shape young lives, he knows people turn to a leader when challenges arise. That's why the coach chose Bryan when he was faced with a potentially serious heart condition.

As Nebraska's leading provider of cardiac care, the Bryan team of heart specialists offers the widest range of diagnostic, treatment and rehabilitative procedures available. Each delivered through state-of-the-art technology, skilled expertise and the years of cardiac experience not found in any other Nebraska hospital.

Today, thanks to the cooperative teamwork of his physicians and the cardiology staff of Bryan Memorial Hospital, Coach Osborne is still providing his brand of leadership both on and off the field.

NCAA Rules and Regulations

Your support of Nebraska athletics is very much appreciated. However, there are restrictions regarding your involvement with student-athletes. Help Nebraska assure compliance with NCAA rules and regulations by taking a few moments to read this information. The eligibility of Nebraska student-athletes and reputation of the department and university depend greatly upon your cooperation.

Winning Tradition

Supporters of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln are proud of Nebraska's rich tradition in both academic accomplishments and athletic achievements. Student-athletes, coaches and other administrators have worked extremely hard to place Nebraska at the head of the class academically and among the most prestigious athletic programs in the country. Nebraska's tradition is rich in Academic All-Americans, NCAA Top Eight Award Winners, Big 12 Conference titles and national championships.

Most importantly, Nebraska athletics has built and maintained tradition and excellence based on integrity. Winning is important at Nebraska, but winning the RIGHT way by following the NCAA rules that govern the recruitment and treatment of student-athletes is a must!

The goal of this information is to educate you regarding NCAA rules that apply to you when interacting with student-athletes.

Key Point

You are considered a representative of Nebraska just by being an alumnus, friend or fan.

Key Rule—NCAA Bylaw 13.01.5.1

In Division I, representatives of an institution's athletics interests are prohibited from making in-person, on-or-off-campus recruiting contacts, or written or telephonic communications with a prospect or the prospect's relatives or legal guardians.

Interpretations

1. A representative of a Division I institution is prohibited from making in-person recruiting contact with a prospect and his or her parents/guardians—on or off campus.

Limited Exception: A representative may have contact with a prospect regarding permissible pre-enrollment activities such as summer employment, provided the prospect has already signed a National Letter-of- Intent and the institution is aware that you are making these contacts in regard to the employment.

2. A Division I representative is prohibited from writing or telephoning a prospect and his or her parents or legal guardians.

Limited Exception: A representative may have a phone conversation with a prospect only if the prospect initiates the call. Such a call may not be prearranged by an institutional staff member and the representative is not permitted to have a recruiting conversation, but may exhibit normal civility. The representative must refer any questions about the university's athletic program to the athletic department.

3. A representative is prohibited from contacting a prospect's coach, principal or counselor in an attempt to evaluate the prospect.

Limited Exception: NCAA rules do not preclude a representative from viewing a prospect's contest on the representative's own initiative, but the representative may not contact the prospect.

The most common NCAA rules infraction relates to the extra benefits rule. An extra benefit would include provision of any transportation, meals, clothes, entertainment, preferential loan terms or other benefit offered to a student-athlete unavailable to the general student population.

A representative may not provide any such extra benefit to an enrolled student-athlete or their family. Simply put, you may not treat a student-athlete any differently than a student who does not participate in athletics.

Key Contact

Questions regarding NCAA rules, especially those relating to contact between alumni and recruits or enrolled student-athletes, can be directed to Nebraska's Senior Associate Athletic Director in charge of Compliance.

Al Papik
203 South Stadium
Lincoln, NE 68588-0219

Thank you for your support of Nebraska athletics. Your full cooperation in keeping Nebraska's commitment to excellence and athletic integrity intact is very much appreciated. Your compliance and cooperation will help ensure the eligibility of both high school prospects and enrolled student-athletes.

Two Final Reminders

1. Please contact the athletic department for NCAA rules interpretations.
2. Remember that in most cases: CONTACT IS PROHIBITED.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Bill Byrne,
Director of Athletics

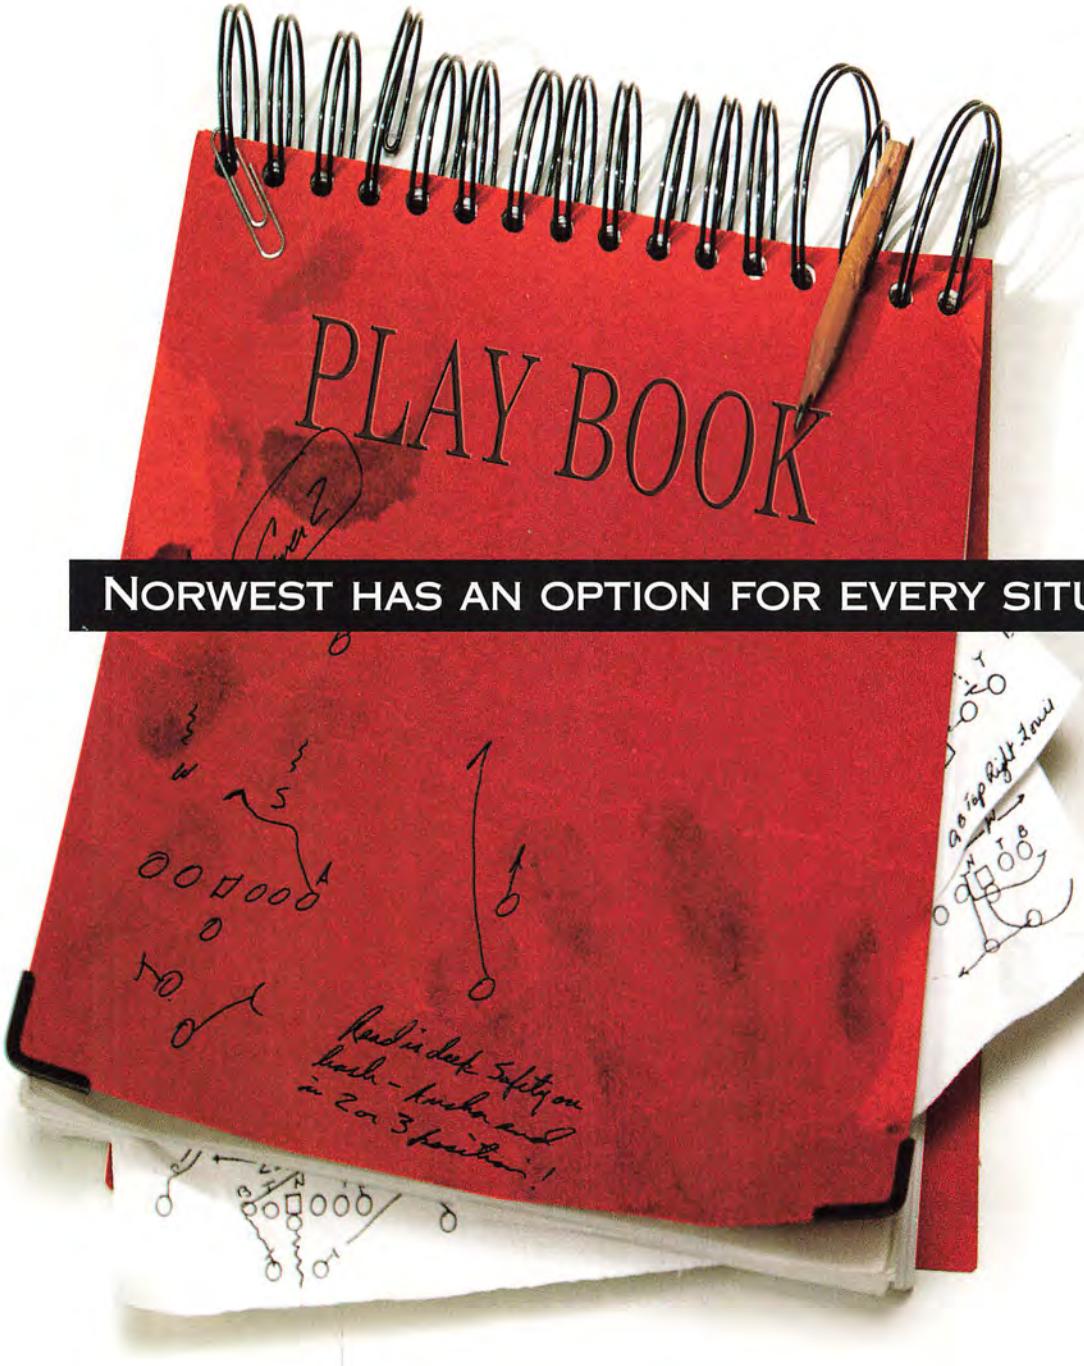

Nebraska's Commitment to Academic Excellence

- The University of Nebraska-Lincoln has more GTE Academic All-Americans than any other school, in football and in all sports combined.
- Since 1990, Nebraska has had nine NCAA Today's Top Eight Award Winners. This is the most prestigious honor presented to any college student-athlete. Overall, Nebraska has had a nation-leading 12 Top Eight Award Winners.
- Nebraska has a $2.3 million, 30,000 square foot academic complex, exclusively for student-athletes.
- Nebraska football players are tied for first in the country with 16 National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Postgraduate Scholarship Winners.
- Since 1990, 11 Nebraska student-athletes have been awarded the $5,000 NACDA/Disney Scholar-Athlete Award.
- Nebraska finished as the all-time Big Eight leader in both post-graduate scholarship recipients and academic all-conference selections.
- Nebraska student-athletes continuing on with graduate school received over $70,000 in postgraduate scholarship money.
- College Athletic Management Magazine recognized Nebraska's academic support program as the best in the country.
- More than 85 percent of scholarship athletes who have exhausted their eligibilty have graduated from the university.
- Eighteen Husker football players received first-team academic All-Big 12 honors in 1996.

Band Song

Hear the trumpets playin',
Hear the crowd a sayin'
NU Band is on parade!
Hear the trombones blowin'
Hear the drums a rollin'
NU Band is on parade!

Sound out! Soud out! Sound out loud and clear
Let the team all know the band is here.
Sons of old Nebraska
If someone should ask ya
We're the Scarlet and the Cream!

Band Song, the "signature" tune of the Cornhusker Marching Band, symbolizes the pride and fierce loyalty of its members, past and present. The lyrics are set to the melody of Song of the Vagabonds by Rudolph Friml and are sung when the band is on parade as an introduction to the school fight song, Hail Varsity. Founded in 1879, the Marching Red is one of the oldest and most well-known collegiate marching bands in the United States. Thanks to the success of the Husker football program, the Marching Red is also one of the most well-traveled bands in the country having participated in all of the major bowl games. They have appeared many times at the Fiesta, Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Sun Bowls and have made single appearances at the Rose, Bluebonnet, Liberty and Citrus Bowls. The Cornhusker Marching Band has also received many honors, among them the 1996 Sudler Trophy, presented annually to a college marching band program that has demonstrated particular excellence over a period of years. The Marching Red and the Wind Ensemble also performed in Dublin, Ireland as part of the 1996 St. Patrick's Day Celebrations. Members of the Cornhusker Band were featured performers during the 1993 Kennedy Center Honors ceremony commorating the accomplishments of Nebraska-native Johnny Carson. The National Association of Uniform Designers and Manufacturers named the Marching Red the "Best Dressed College Marching Band" in 1983. Membership in the 1997 Cornhusker Band was determined through musical auditions held this past spring and a marching and playing audition in mid-August. The auditions were followed by an intensive five-day rehearsal period before the start of fall classes.

The Marching Red is one of four major performing ensembles in the band program, along with the Wind Ensemble, the Symphonic Band, and the Concert Band. The UNL Wind Ensemble is the premiere wind band and one of the most active performance ensembles in the UNL band program. The ensemble was recently heard performing the wind band music of Nebraska-native Howard Hanson on National Public Radio's Performance Today, and Nebraska Public Radio listeners have heard the Wind Ensemble on two occasions. This ensemble frequently tours and performs for regional, national, and international convention programs. Invited performances for the 1996-97 academic year include the Nebraska Music Educators Association Conference/Clinic, and the Music Educators National Conference (MENC) North-Central Division Convention in Peoria, Illinois. The Wind Ensemble was a featured ensemble at the 8th Conference of the World Association of Symphonic Bands and Ensembles (WASBE) in Schladming, Austria in June of 1997. Over 50 ensembles from 24 countries applied for acceptance, and were screened by an international committee that included some of the most respected wind conductors active today. This year's conference included performances by ensembles from Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Germany, Italy, Japan, Korea, The Netherlands, Russia (Moscow), Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, Hungary, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

Dear Husker Fan:

One measure of any truly great university is the size of its alumni association. No university can approach greatness unless it has a solid core of loyal alumni, joined together to help promote the institution, to recruit the best and brightest students, and to remain connected to former classmates and faculty through college programs and reunions.

With this in mind, the Nebraska Alumni Association has kicked off a membership campaign aimed at making it the "number one" alumni association in the country; and I hope we can count on you. The alumni association is not involved in any fund raising and has no formal affiliation with the University of Nebraska Foundation. As such, the association relies almost entirely on dues-paying members for its programs and services; thus your support is critical.

By joining the association, you'll receive a number of benefits such as the quarterly Nebraska Magazine, college newsletters, information on chapter events and class reunions, and discounts on a variety of services and merchandise, including exclusive Husker products.

Perhaps more important than these benefits, however, is the fact that your membership indicates your ongoing pride in, and support of, the University of Nebraska. If the muscle of a university is athletics and the brain of the university is academics, then the friends and alumni of a university have to be considered its very heart and soul. The more you support the university, the stronger it becomes.

I encourage you to help the Nebraska Alumni Association reach its goal by calling 402-472-2841 and joining today.
Thank you in advance for your support.

Sincerely,

Tom Osborne

Coach Tom Osborne
Nebraska Alumni Association Member

P.S. There is no requirement for you to be a graduate of the University of Nebraska — or even to have attended any classes here — to become a member of the alumni association. Many of our most active supporters did not attend the university. Show your pride in NU by joining today.

ANY MORE AUTHENTIC & YOU'D HAVE TO WASH IT FIRST.

Registration

Boys who will be in the 10th, 11th or 12th grades next fall are eligible to attend the Big Red Football School. The fee is $175. An advance registration deposit of $100 must accompany each application. The balance is due at registration time. There will be no refund of fees after the athlete has been accepted in school. Housing is provided in one of the University's residence halls, where breakfast, lunch and dinner are included in the $175 fee.

Campers that live close to the University may stay with their parents if approved--an adjustment in fees will be made in this case. Attached is an application form which should be filled out and sent at once to: Big Red Football School, 217 S. Stadium, P.O. Box 880125, Lincoln, NE 68588. Make checks payable to: Big Red Football School.

Sessions

During each session, Tom Osborne and his staff will give personal instruction on individual techniques and fundamentals daily from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Lectures will be given after lunch by Coach Osborne (motivation) and Nebraska's strength coach, Boyd Epley (strength training). Evening sessions will be devoted to specialty work and team competition. During the camp you will also have the opportunity to lift weights under the supervision of Boyd Epley and his staff. Although all four sessions are individual camps, groups of players or teams are encouraged to attend.

NOTE: Each session is limited. Get your application in early.

1998 Husker Men's Gymnastics

Head Coach: Francis Allen
Accomplishments at NU: Eight NCAA national titles, seven NCAA runner-up finishes

by Shamus McKnight

Despite winning the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation title and qualifying six individuals for the NCAA Championships, the Nebraska men's gymnastics team fell short of its ultimate goal, winning a record-tying ninth national title, in 1997.

The Huskers, under the direction of 29th-year Head Coach Francis Allen, return six gymnasts, including four national qualifiers, in their quest for NU's first national championship since 1994.

The veterans are led by junior Marshall Nelson. Last season, the Greeley, Colo., native became the first gymnast since Dan Hayden of Arizona State in 1986 to capture both the parallel bars and the horizontal bar titles in the same year. In the parallel bars final, Nelson posted a school-record score of 9.95 to win his first individual title. Moments later, the four-time All-American recorded a 9.7875 to place first on the horizontal bar. In 1997, Nelson, who will compete in all-around competition this season, had team-high scores in all five events he competed in, including a 9.825 on the floor exercise, a 9.85 on pommel horse, a 9.825 on vault and a 9.90 on the horizontal bar.

In the all-around, NU boasts a pair of national qualifiers in senior Bill Mulholland and sophomore Derek Leiter. Mulholland, from North Plainfield, N.J., finished ninth at the NCAAs in 1997 with an all-around score of 57.025 and is a two-time individual national qualifier. He topped 57.00 on four occasions last season, including a career-best score of 57.53 against Iowa.

Leiter, a Lincoln Southeast graduate, had an impressive freshman campaign, finishing 12th at the NCAA Championships with a score of 56.60, and was NU's top all-around finisher at the West Regional, with a fourth-place score of 56.625. During the 1997 season, Leiter recorded 10 consecutive scores of 56.00 or higher, including a season-high 57.58 against Iowa.

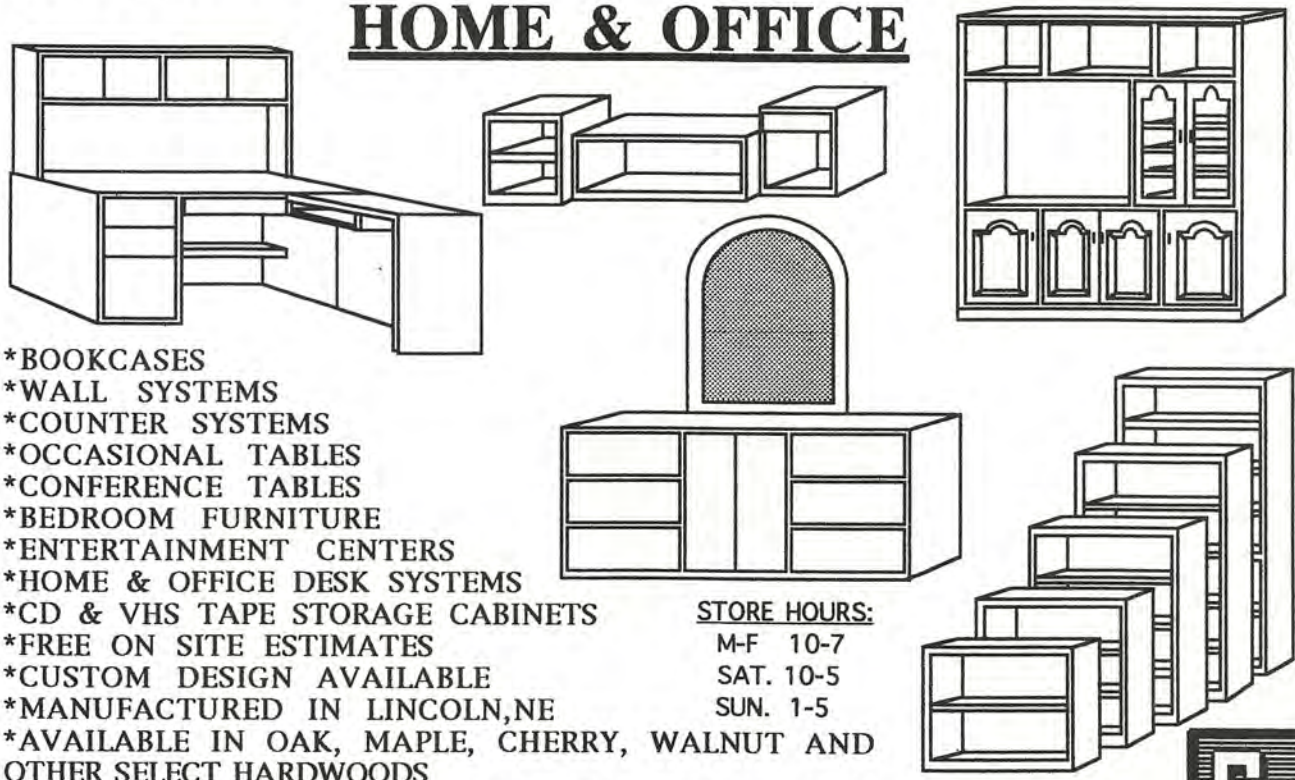

Marshall Nelson

The Huskers will be bolstered by the return of junior all-arounder Jim Koziol. An Omaha native, Koziol missed last season becauue of shoulder surgery, but is back at full strength. In 1996, he was one of Nebraska's top performers, scoring better than 56.30 on four occasions, including a team-high mark of 56.95 against eventual national champion Ohio State.

Sophomore Blake Bukacek also returns with NCAA Championship experience. A sophomore from Lincoln, Bukacek qualified for the NCAA Championships on the horizontal bar with a score of 9.45 at the West Regional. In 1997, he posted a season-best mark of 9.75 on the pommel horse. Bukacek also competed on the vault and the horizontal bar as a freshman. Joining the returnees will be freshman all-arounder Jason Hardabura. From Oakdale, Ontario, Allen calls Hardabura "the most talented freshman we have had in the last five years."

One question mark entering the 1998 season is the status of junior all-arounder J.D. Reive. The Fair Lawn, N.J., product suffered a neck injury at the West Regional last season and it is uncertain whether he will compete this season. Last year, Reive posted Nebraska's top all-around score with a 57.725 and finished fourth at the MPSF Championships with a score of 56.925.

Ryan Tobin

With one of the deepest and most talented lineups in the program's history, the Nebraska wrestling team is ready to battle Iowa, Oklahoma State, Minnesota and the nation's other top teams for the 1998 NCAA title.

Despite the loss of three-time All-American and 1995 NCAA heavyweight champion Tolly Thompson, Nebraska coach Tim Neumann said the Huskers will be better than the team that finished 15-6 and 12th at the 1997 NCAA Championships.

Senior All-Americans Temoer Terry (158) and Ryan Tobin (190) return after redshirting in 1996-97. This season, they are among the leading contenders for national titles. Terry and Tobin combined for 56 wins during the 1995-96 season and each captured third at the NCAA Championships.

Sophomore transfer Paul Gomez (118) could contend for All-America honors in his first season as a Husker. Gomez was the 1996 NJCAA champion at Lassen Community College. Seniors Jeramie Welder and Brad Canoyer are also among the favorites to capture All-America honors. Welder won 35 matches at 126 pounds, while Canoyer, who captured All-America honors in 1995, recorded 37 wins at 134.

Juniors Allen Hankins and Dusty Morris will battle with sophomore Travis Slaba and redshirt freshman Billy Gabel for starting duties at 142 pounds.

Ryan Bauer also has his sights set on All-America honors after winning 24 matches at 150 pounds during his sophomore season. Junior Monte Christensen returns at 167 pounds and should push for national honors of his own.

Brad Vering could also contend for All-America honors in his first varsity season. The redshirt freshman from Howells, Neb., is a three-time Junior National champion and is the leading candidate for the starting job at 177 pounds.

Redshirt freshman J.R. Plienis and junior Abe Boomer will battle to replace Thompson at heavyweight, and Neumann said both are good enough to contend for All-America honors immediately.

Home games in bold and played at the Abbott Sports Complex, located 1 1/2 miles north of Cornhusker Highway on 70th St.

The Nebraska women's soccer team erupted onto the national scene with a 23-game winning streak and a trip to the quarterfinals of the 1996 NCAA Tournament.

The Huskers also established a dedicated following of fans, ranking sixth nationally in attendance.

With the return of three All-Americans, 10 starters and 15 letterwinners, 1996 NSCAA National Coach-of-the-Year John Walker and the Huskers have their sights set on a trip to Greensboro, N.C., for the final games of the 1997 NCAA Tournament.

Kari Uppinghouse

Midfielder Kari Uppinghouse, who became the first Husker to earn first-team All-America honors in 1996, returns for her senior season. Uppinghouse led the Huskers with 48 points on 19 goals and 10 assists and was named Big 12 Conference Co-Player-of-the-Year, while leading the Huskers to their first conference title.

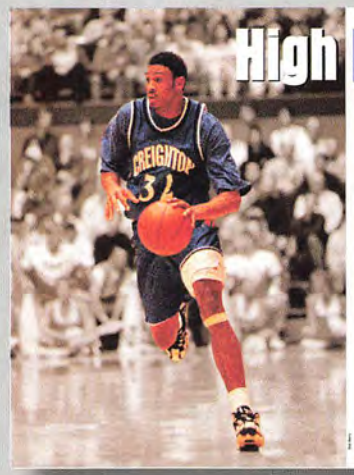

Uppinghouse is joined by a group of talented sophomores, including second-team All-America striker Lindsay Eddleman, All-Central Region striker Isabelle Morneau and All-Central Region midfielder Jenny Benson. Juniors Kristen Gay and Becky Hogan also return.

All of Nebraska's defensive starters return, including third-team All-America goalkeeper Rebecca Hornbacher. The senior from Ralston, Neb., finished fifth nationally with a 0.51 goals-against average in 1996. All-Big 12 defender Stephanie Vacek, second-team All-Central Region defender Heather Brown and co-captain Tanya Franck will help Hornbacher again.

The returners will join forces with a group of newcomers loaded with talent, including junior transfer Kim Engesser (Portland), sophomore Amy Walsh (McGill), Louisiana Player-of-the-Year Lauren Tatum, Nevada Player-of-the-Year Sarah McCrea, honorable-mention All-American Heather Dyche, Canadian National Team goalkeeper Karina LeBlanc, All-California Christine Gluck, and All-Nebraska standouts Julie Greco and Sarah Deacon.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Nebraska's NCAA Sellout Record Continues to Grow

Nebraska's continuing NCAA record of consecutive home sellouts passed the 200-mark in 1994 and reached 214 with six home sellouts in 1996. On Homecoming, Oct. 29, 1994, against the University of Colorado, Nebraska celebrated its 200th consecutive sellout. In 1988, Nebraska set a single-season home attendance record by averaging 76,342 fans for six home games, breaking the old record average of 76,341 set in 1974.

The string of consecutive sellouts started on Nov. 3, 1962, when 36,501 showed up for the Homecoming contest vs. Missouri. The last non-sellout in Memorial Stadium was Oct. 20, 1962, when the Huskers and Kansas State drew 30,701.

The Cornhuskers' Memorial Stadium has a seating capacity of 72,700 and attendance has averaged over 75,000 for the past 24 years. Nebraska has ranked in the top six nationally in attendance for many years.

In the fall of 1922, a drive for $430,000 in stadium construction funds was undertaken by faculty, students, alumni and friends of the University of Nebraska. The quota was over subscribed. The Stadium was named Memorial Stadium to honor all Nebraskans who served in the Civil and Spanish-American Wars, the 751 Nebraskans who died in World War I; the 3,839 in World War II; the 225 in Korea; and the 422 in Vietnam. Construction was completed in a few more than 90 working days and Memorial Stadium was dedicated on Oct. 20, 1923, at the Homecoming game in which Nebraska was held to a scoreless tie by Kansas. Inscribed on the four corners of Memorial Stadium is the following:

Southeast: "In Commendation of the men of Nebraska who served and fell in the Nations Wars."

Southwest: "Not the victory but the action; Not the goal but the game; In the deed the glory."

Northwest: "Courage; Generosity; Fairness; Honor; In these are the true awards of manly sport."

Northeast: "Their Lives they held their countrys trust; They kept its faith; They died its heroes."

As part of the continuing improvement of athletic facilities at the University of Nebraska, two major projects were completed in 1984 and 1985. A new artificial turf was installed in 1984 and the new million-dollar Hewit Center training table/study hall area was opened in March of 1985, underneath the West Stadium adjacent to the massive new strength complex. The weight room and the Hewit Center were expanded and remodeled in 1989. The artificial turf was replaced again in 1992.

Here is the chronological order of Memorial Stadium expansion and improvement from the original 31,000-seat structure built in 1923:

1946--Completion of Schulte Field House at north end of stadium (construction began in 1941, but was interrupted by World War II)
1964--South end zone section installed, making the stadium a horseshoe, raising capacity to the 48,000 mark
1965--Center portion of north end zone section added, raising capacity to more than 53,000
1966--Both wings of the north end zone added, raising capacity to more than 65,000 and making Memorial Stadium into a bowl
1967--New press box, with guest section added, providing a beautiful and practical press facility
1970--Installation of AstroTurf
1972--South end zone extended, 9,400 seats added, raising capacity to 73,650
1973--Athletic office building completed, housing dressing and training facilities for varsity football
1977--Installation of new AstroTurf replacing the 1970 turf, and a new scoreboard over the north stadium
1980--Completed top deck of press box for additional photo and visiting radio TV space
1981--New west stadium weight room and new visitor's locker room in Schulte Field House
1982--Expansion of Schulte Field House indoor practice area
1984--New artificial All-Pro Turf playing surface installed
1985--Completion of Hewit Center (dining area/study hall) in West Stadium
1989--Expansion of strength complex and Hewit Center
1992--New Astroturf-8 artificial turf installed
1994--Installation of Mitsubishi Instant Replay boards and remodeling of Section 14 to accomodate disabled, reduced seating to 72,700
1995--South Stadium training room remodeled and new interview room and player lounge completed during season

Huskers Boast Impressive Record In 74 Years at Memorial Stadium

Nebraska football teams for the past 74 years have been glad to call Memorial Stadium home. Evidence for this is a 299-98-13 (.745) record posted by the Huskers in their home since it was opened in 1923.

Under the Lights

Nebraska's first night football game was Nov. 30, 1951, at Miami's Orange Bowl when the Huskers lost to the Miami Hurricanes, 19-7. Ironically, Nebraska's first night football game at home was the 1986 opener against another team from the "Sunshine State," Florida State. Nebraska is 31-12-3 all time under the lights, including 6-1-0 at home.

1997 Cross Country

By Shane Ury

It didn't take long from the Nebraska men's cross country team to climb out of the cellar and into the contenders ring last season. The secret's out.

Now after the most successful season in NU history, which included a runner-up finish in the Big 12 conference and a seventh-place showing at the NCAA Championships, the Huskers must find a way to keep their momentum and establish themselves among the nations elite.

Back from last season are nine letterwinners including All Americans Jonah Kiptarus and Cleophas Boor, both of Kapsabet, Kenya, coming to NU via Barton County CC. The tandem stole the show for NU last season, placing second and third, respectively, at the NCAA Championships after finishing 1-2 in all their previous meets of the season.

Among other letterwinners returning is senior Philip Maiyo, Kiptarus' brother and also a Barton County product. Last season Maiyo was sidelined for most of the fall with a knee injury, but made a return late in the season, helping NU on their run. Also back are seniors Jim Vance and Aaron Johnson. Vance is a three-year letterwinner while Johnson, the team captain, is in his second season at NU after transferring from Mount Marty College in South Dakota. Lou Petricca also returns with two letters and experience running among the Huskers top seven.

The recruiting class is headlined by Jeroen Broekzitter of the Netherlands. Broekzitter, listed as a freshman on the cross country roster, contibuted to the Husker track squad last spring.

After a one year hiatus from the NCAA Championships, in 1996 the Nebraska women's cross country team began to climb back onto the national scene and posted a third-place finish in the newly aligned Big 12 Conference before going on to earn a berth at the NCAA meet where they secured a 20th-place finish.

Although the Huskers lost their most valuable runner in Christina Blackmer, they return a solid nucleus of four letterwinners on a team managed to consistently run as a pack last season. Nebraska's top seven runners in each meet were over one minute apart on two occasions, while the top five were never farther than 50 seconds and as close as 14 seconds.

Among the top returnees is Nora Shepherd, the team captain. Shepherd has been a constant among the Huskers top three her entire career at NU. Also back is junior Melissa Wilson, the Huskers top finisher at last season's NCAA Championships with an 86th-place showing.

Sophomores Jaime Pauli, Amie Finkner and Melinda Mohr were all consistent performers for NU last season. Pauli came on at seasons end, finishing as the teams second runner at the Big 12, NCAA District 5 and NCAA Championships wile Finkner and Mohr constantly nipped at NU's top five.

Incoming is freshman Amy Wiseman from Lee's Summit, Mo. Wiseman, a Foot Locker All-American and a member of the U.S. Junior National Cross Country Team, should contribute to the team immediately.

1970 National Champions

Early in the 1970 season, Jerry Murtaugh predicted Nebraska would win the national championship. Murtaugh was a senior linebacker and co-captain who, in just three seasons, set the Cornhusker career record for tackles. A quarter of a century later, Murtaugh's mark still stands.

It was obvious that Murtaugh was capable of backing up whatever he said, which, in the case of the 1970 season was not without some justification. Nebraska had been 9-2 the previous season, winning its final seven games, including a decisive 45-6 victory against Georgia in the Sun Bowl.

After the Sun Bowl game, Georgia coach Vince Dooley said the Cornhuskers hadn't belonged in El Paso, Texas; they deserved better competition than his team could provide.

Still, 1970 was a new season. And though Nebraska had several starters returning on offense, Murtaugh was one of only three defensive starters returning. Dave Walline and Jim Anderson were the others.

Besides, winning a national championship wasn't something over which a team had complete control. It would depend not only on being successful, but also on the votes of writers and broadcasters in the Associated Press poll or of selected coaches in the United Press International poll.

Two games into the season, Murtaugh's brash prediction became a longshot, at best. After opening with a 36-12 victory against Wake Forest, the ninth-ranked Cornhuskers played Southern California to a 21-21 tie at the L.A. Coliseum. The Trojans tied the score with 8:16 remaining, after a failed 12-yard field goal attempt, resulting from a poor center snap, kept Nebraska from putting the game away.

Husker quarterback Jerry Tagge stretches the ball over the goal line for the winning touchdown in the Orange Bowl victory over Louisiana State.

"We should have won the game," Johnny Rodgers said years later.

Rodgers was a sophomore in 1970, his first varsity season.

A tie at USC was certainly no disgrace. Coach John McKay's team was ranked No. 3. Nebraska even moved up in the next week's Associated Press poll. But No. 8 was still a long way from No. 1.

And the Cornhuskers' record had a blemish, however slight.

Nebraska returned to Memorial Stadium to defeat Army 28-0 the next week, to begin what would be a 23-game winning streak and include not one but two national championships.

The Cornhuskers rolled through the Big Eight, moving up to No. 3 in the AP rankings after a 51-13 victory against No. 20 Kansas State in the next-to-last game of the regular season. Nebraska intercepted Wildcat quarterback Lynn Dickey a school-record seven times, and Cornhusker I-back Joe Orduna rushed for 105 yards and four touchdowns against what had been the conference's best defense.

Orduna, a senior who sat out the 1969 season as a medical redshirt, led Nebraska in rushing in 1970.

A week later, the Cornhuskers won the Big Eight championship outright by defeating Oklahoma 28-21 at Memorial Stadium. Though unranked, the young Sooners could have earned a share of the conference title with a victory. Nebraska had to come from behind twice during the game. Junior quarterback Jerry Tagge scored the winning touchdown, capping a 53-yard drive, with 7:42 remaining.

Nebraska finished 10-0-1, its first undefeated regular season since 1965, and ranked No. 3 in both wire service polls, behind two unbeaten and untied teams: No. 1 Texas and No. 2 Ohio State. The UPI didn't conduct a poll after bowl games, so Texas was its national champion for 1970.

The Cornhuskers were matched against No. 5 LSU in the Orange Bowl game on New Year's night. Texas played Notre Dame, which had been No. 1 until a late-season loss to USC, in a rematch of the previous year's Cotton Bowl. And Ohio State drew Stanford in the Rose Bowl.

Nebraska's hopes of earning the AP version of the national championship were slim. Both Texas and Ohio State would have to lose, and the Cornhuskers would have to win. But it happened.

Notre Dame upset Texas 24-11, and Stanford staged a fourth-quarter comeback to defeat Ohio State 27-17. Nebraska learned of the latter result during the Orange Bowl's pre-game warmups.

The Cornhuskers appeared ready to seize their opportunity, jumping ahead of LSU 10-0 in the first 13 minutes of the Orange Bowl. But the Tigers controlled the ball during the second and third quarters, scoring on a 31-yard pass on the final play of the third quarter to take a 12-10 lead.

Nebraska responded by driving 67 yards for the winning touchdown, scored by Tagge from one yard away with 8:50 remaining. Junior linebacker Bob Terrio, a junior college transfer who had arrived at Nebraska as a fullback, preserved the victory by intercepting a Bert Jones pass with 45 seconds left.

Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian argued that his team should be the AP national champion because it had defeated top-ranked Texas. But Nebraska was a decisive No. 1 in the final AP poll.

"I was afraid Ara's comments might influence the voters, but I guess the writers are too smart to take some coach's word," Cornhusker coach Bob Devaney said. "The writers knew who was best."

Nebraska also received a national championship endorsement from President Richard Nixon, who proclaimed the Cornhuskers No. 1, to the delight of 8,000 at the NU Coliseum, on Jan. 14, 1971. Co-captains Murtaugh and fullback Dan Schneiss joined Devaney alongside Nixon.

It was just as Murtaugh had predicted.

1971 National Champions

Nebraska's 1971 season came down to a single game, at Owen Field in Norman, Okla., on Thanksgiving Day. At least, that's how it is most often remembered. The No. 1-ranked Cornhuskers played No. 2-ranked Oklahoma in what is still regularly regarded as college football's "Game of the Century."

The teams were undefeated and untied, and they included 17 of 22 first-team All-Big Eight players. Nebraska had the nation's top-ranked defense. Oklahoma had its most productive offense.

The cover of the issue (Nov. 22, 1971) of Sports Illustrated published the week of the game included photographs of Nebraska linebacker Bob Terrio and Oklahoma running back Greg Pruitt, nose-to-nose, beneath the headline: "Irresistible Oklahoma Meets Immovable Nebraska."

The game was equal to its build-up. Johnny Rodgers opened the scoring less than four minutes into the first quarter with a 72-yard punt return, and Rich Sanger finished it by kicking an extra point with 1:38 remaining, following a dramatic, 74-yard drive capped by Jeff Kinney's two-yard run.

Rodgers' punt return is among the most memorable moments of the game. But he also made a key play to keep the winning touchdown drive alive, improvising on a pass route to get open on third-and-eight, then making a diving catch of a Jerry Tagge pass for a 12-yard gain and a first down.

Wingback Johnny Rodgers was a key to the Huskers' national title run in 1971. Rodgers made a name for himself as a junior in 1971, before winning the Heisman Trophy in 1972.

Cornhusker middle guard Rich Glover, who made 22 tackles that afternoon, put the finishing touch on Nebraska's 35-31 victory, deflecting a fourth-down, Jack Mildren pass with barely a minute left.

Except for the Oklahoma game, Nebraska was never seriously challenged in its quest to repeat as national champion. The Cornhuskers overwhelmed 12 other opponents, including Alabama in the Orange Bowl game, to earn themselves a place among the best teams in college football history.

Coach Bear Bryant's Crimson Tide went to Miami undefeated, untied and ranked No. 2. It left a 38-6 loser, providing proper payback for Nebraska's 39-28 and 34-7 bowl losses to Alabama following the 1965 and 1966 seasons. The first of those losses, in the 1966 Orange Bowl game, cost Coach Bob Devaney's Cornhuskers a perfect season and, most likely, a national championship.

Although Nebraska averaged what was then a school-record 437.7 yards on offense, including a Big Eight-leading 179.3 yards passing, and ranked third nationally in scoring, averaging 39.1 per game, it was defense that set apart the Cornhuskers—as the Sports Illustrated headline pointed out.

Nebraska ranked second in the nation in rushing defense (85.9), third in scoring defense (8.2) and fifth in total defense (202.9). The Cornhusker Blackshirts included seven first-team All-Big Eight selections, four players who would earn consensus All-America recognition during their careers and two Outland Trophy winners: Glover and tackle Larry Jacobson. Glover would win both the Outland and Lombardi Awards in 1972. They were joined in the starting lineup by junior end Willie Harper, like Glover a two-time All-American. John Dutton, an All-American in 1973, was a sophomore back-up.

Besides Glover, Jacobson and Harper, the other first-team all-conference defenders were Terrio, Jim Anderson, Bill Kosch and Joe Blahak. Anderson, Kosch and Blahak played in the secondary.

Anderson and Tagge, one of five Cornhuskers on the All-Big Eight first-team offense, were the captains. Both were from West High School in Green Bay, Wis., as was starting monster back Dave Mason, a junior who had sat out the 1970 season as a medical redshirt.

The other first-team offensive players were Rodgers, Kinney, Carl Johnson and Dick Rupert.

The Cornhusker defense was opportunistic as well as immovable, contributing to a school-record plus-26 turnovers. Nebraska recovered 20 opponents' fumbles and intercepted 27 passes.

Nebraska was No. 2 in the Associated Press preseason rankings but moved to No. 1 after opening with a 34-7 victory against Oregon at Memorial Stadium. Bobby Moore, now known as Ahmad Rashad, scored the Ducks' lone touchdown with just over three minutes remaining in the game.

Only three opponents scored more than one touchdown against the Cornhuskers. Oklahoma State and Kansas State each managed two touchdowns, and Oklahoma, of course, scored four. The only time all season that Nebraska even trailed during a game was against the Sooners.

The Cornhuskers opened conference play with back-to-back shutouts against Missouri (36-0) and Kansas (55-0), during a stretch in which they posted 12 consecutive scoreless quarters.

In addition to everything else, the Cornhuskers almost always had good field position because of the punt and kickoff returns of Rodgers, a key to their success, according to Tom Osborne, an assistant who designed and coordinated the offense. "As great as that team was, take Johnny Rodgers out of there on kickoff and punt returns, and it probably wouldn't have gone 13-0," Osborne has said.

Nebraska extended its winning streak to 23 games and its unbeaten streak to 32 games in 1971. Repeating as national champions "wasn't automatic," Rodgers has said.

But going into the season, "we were pretty doggone confident."

1994 National Champions

Byron Bennett's 45-yard field goal attempt sailed wide left in the final second of Nebraska's 18-16 loss to Florida State in the 1994 Orange Bowl game. With that miss, an 11-game Cornhusker winning streak ended. And the run to Coach Tom Osborne's first national championship began.

Nebraska's focus for the 1994 season was finishing the business that had been left incomplete on the night of Jan. 1, 1994, in Miami. The actual process started with a 31-0 victory against West Virginia in the Kickoff Classic in late August, and it concluded with a come-from-behind, 24-17 victory against Miami, on its home field, in the 1995 Orange Bowl game. To a degree, that game characterized the season.

An important sub-plot to the drama of 1994 involved the Cornhusker quarterbacks. Junior Tommie Frazier, a two-year starter, opened the season as if he might run away with the Heisman Trophy before being sidelined by blood clot problems in his right knee after the fourth game.

Frazier's misfortune represented an opportunity for junior Brook Berringer, who came off the bench to lead Nebraska to the Big Eight championship and the Orange Bowl game. Berringer was 7-0 as a starter, passing for 1,295 yards (14th on Nebraska's all-time single-season list) and 10 touchdowns, in what amounted to only eight full games. He threw just three passes in the first three games.

The Husker Blackshirt defense capped the Orange Bowl victory over Miami (Fla.), including this Terry Connealy sack on the Hurricanes' final drive of the game.

When Berringer was slowed by a partially collapsed lung, a problem that occurred in back-to-back games, sophomore walk-on Matt Turman stepped up and directed the Cornhuskers. Although Berringer had been cleared to play, Turman started a 17-6 victory against Kansas State at Manhattan.

Turman had come on to replace Berringer the previous week, directing Nebraska to 23 second-half points in a 32-3 victory against Oklahoma State in the Cornhuskers' Big Eight opener.

The quarterback sequence was somewhat similar in the Orange Bowl victory. Frazier, who had been included on the travel roster for the final regular-season game at Oklahoma, started against Miami. Berringer replaced him and got Nebraska on the scoreboard in the second quarter, with a 19-yard touchdown pass to tight end Mark Gilman. Then Frazier returned to finish it and earn game MVP honors.

Nebraska trailed the Hurricanes 10-7 at halftime, and fell behind 17-7 less than two minutes into the third quarter. But during the intermission, Osborne had described to the Cornhuskers how the second half would go if they maintained their composure and continued to play as they had. They did.

Afterward, Osborne's halftime speech was made public. It was eerily prophetic.

Even though Nebraska finished its business, by going 13-0, it remained for voters in the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN polls to certify the Cornhuskers as national champions. Penn State also went through the season undefeated and untied, at 12-0. The Nittany Lions argued, but to no avail.

Nebraska began the season ranked No. 4 by the Associated Press, moved to No. 1 after the Kickoff Classic, then inexplicably dropped to No. 2 following a 42-16 victory at Texas Tech. Sophomore safety Mike Minter suffered a season-ending knee injury during the game, televised by ESPN.

In many ways, Minter was to the defense what Frazier was to the offense. His loss was significant, a fact underscored during an unexpectedly close, 42-32 victory against pass-happy Wyoming.

The Cornhuskers dropped to No. 3 in the AP poll after the Kansas State victory, before finally moving to No. 1 following the Colorado game. The Buffaloes came to Lincoln undefeated, untied and ranked No. 2 by the AP and No. 3 by USA Today/CNN. Nebraska was No. 2 according to the coaches. The Cornhuskers remained No. 2 in the USA Today/CNN rankings another week, before ascending to the top spot on the strength of a 45-17 victory over Kansas—and despite a Penn State victory against Indiana.

Nebraska earned the voters' respect with an offense that featured what was regarded as one of the best lines in school history and a still-new 4-3 base defense, which allowed only 55 points in conference play. Led by linebacker Ed Stewart, a consensus All-American, the Cornhuskers ranked second in the nation in scoring defense, fourth in total defense and rushing defense, and 10th in pass defense.

The offensive line included tackle Zach Wiegert, who won the Outland Trophy. Wiegert and guard Brenden Stai both earned All-America recognition—Wiegert was a consensus selection.

Rob Zatechka, the other tackle, was a four-time Academic All-American who graduated with a perfect 4.0 grade point average in biological sciences. Along with Joel Wilks, the other guard, and center Aaron Graham, the only non-senior among the starters, the group was nicknamed the "Pipeline."

Nebraska led the nation in rushing, with sophomore Lawrence Phillips gaining 1,722 yards, the second-highest single-season total in Cornhusker history. He finished eighth in the Heisman Trophy voting.

Phillips, Graham, Wiegert and Stai all earned first-team all-conference honors on offense.

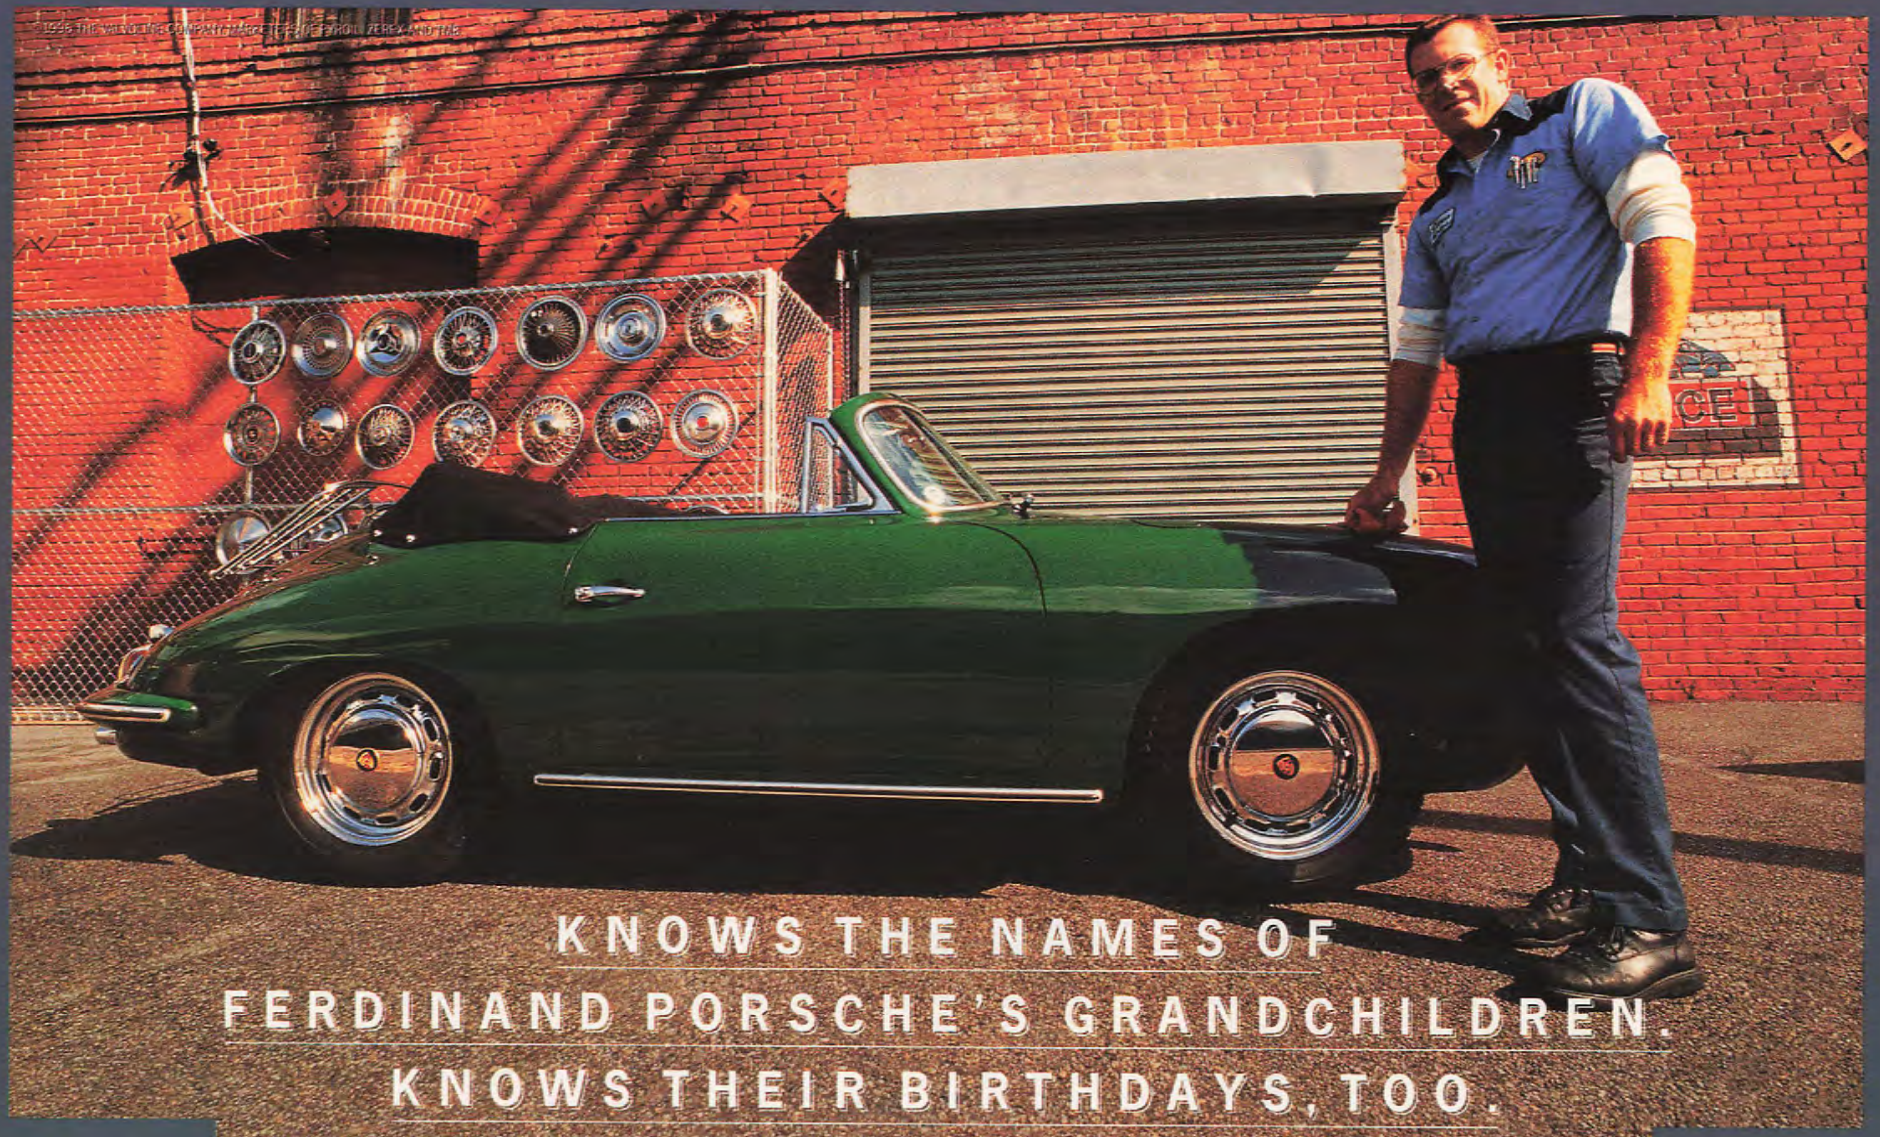

Stewart, Troy Dumas, Donta Jones, Barron Miles and Tyrone Williams represented the defense on the All-Big Eight first team. Stewart, Wiegert, Zatechka and Terry Connealy were the captains.

A crowd estimated at 14,000 to 15,000 stood in line and braved frigid temperatures for an opportunity to cheer the Cornhuskers at the Bob Devaney Sports Center on their return from Miami. "We didn't just win this for ourselves, we won this for the whole state of Nebraska," Connealy said.

NUMBER ONE CHOICE OF TOP MECHANICS

1995 National Champions

Tom Osborne's 23rd Nebraska team was arguably his best. The 1995 Cornhuskers almost certainly were among the best in college football history. And they might have been the best.

Though such a sweeping assertion cannot be proven, it can be supported. Nebraska's 1995 national championship team was No. 1 on a list of the top major college teams since 1956. The list was compiled by computer analyst Jeff Sagarin, whose rankings are regularly published in USA Today.

The 1971 Cornhuskers were No. 2 according to Sagarin's power ratings. Both were well ahead of the remaining 23 teams on the list, which also included the 1970 and 1972 Cornhuskers.

Nebraska was never seriously challenged in 1995, as it extended a school-record winning streak to 25 games and repeated as national champion—something that has been accomplished only eight other times since the Associated Press initiated its national college football rankings in 1936.

The closest any opponent could come to the Cornhuskers was 14 points. But even that was deceptive. Washington State trailed Nebraska 28-7 after three quarters, in the fifth game of the season. The Cornhuskers scored 20 points in the second quarter to overcome a 7-0 first-quarter deficit.

After that, the outcome was never in serious doubt. The final score was 35-21.

Quarterback Tommie Frazier directed Nebraska to a second straight national title, capped by a spectacular Fiesta Bowl performance.

Nebraska, which began the season ranked No. 2 by the Associated Press, didn't move to No. 1 until back-to-back victories against No. 8 Kansas State (49-25) and No. 7 Colorado (44-21). After completing a third consecutive undefeated and untied regular season and winning a fifth consecutive Big Eight championship, including four in a row outright, the Cornhuskers eliminated any doubt about their claim to a second consecutive national title by overwhelming No. 2 Florida, 62-24, in the Fiesta Bowl.

Despite the Cornhuskers' success, the 1995 season was one of mixed emotions, resulting from much-publicized off-the-field problems. "It was a terrible year, and it was a great year," Osborne said after the Fiesta Bowl. "It was taxing. On the other hand, it was very gratifying to work with a group of players who had the kind of focus and drive to carry them through. That was the redeeming factor.

"There were times I was running on empty. I take my spiritual life very seriously. I relied on my faith more than I ever have. I was grateful for the sustaining strength that was there."

The star-crossed nature of the 1995 team was further underscored in the spring, when Brook Berringer, a quarterback who had just completed his eligibility, died in the crash of a light plane.

Osborne again had to turn to his faith to handle the tragedy.

"The Brook I knew, there was nothing he could have done better," said Osborne. "The length (of his life) was not what you would have liked. But the quality couldn't have been better."

Berringer, who had stepped in for an injured Tommie Frazier during the 1994 national championship season, accepted his role without complaint and contributed as a proven back-up in 1995.

Frazier, fully recovered from the blood clot problems that sidelined him much of his junior season, broke the Cornhusker career record for total offense (5,476) and touchdowns produced (79). He earned All-America recognition, finished second to Ohio State's Eddie George in balloting for the Heisman Trophy and received the Most Valuable Player award in the Fiesta Bowl.

Frazier, whose record in four years as a starter was 33-3, established himself among the best quarterbacks in Cornhusker history. "I would say if I were to choose one player who has had the most impact on the outcome of the greatest number of games over the longest period of time since I've been at Nebraska, it would be Tommie Frazier," said Osborne, who began as a graduate assistant in 1962.

Under Frazier's direction, Nebraska's offense was even more productive than that of the "Scoring Explosion" team in 1983. The Cornhuskers ranked No. 1 in the nation in both rushing (399.8) and scoring (52.4) and No. 2 in total offense (556.3). The 1983 team was slightly better rushing the ball, averaging a school-record 401.7 yards, but it averaged slightly fewer points (52.0) and total yards (546.7).

Ahman Green, who began fall camp down the list on the depth chart, became the starting I-back and broke the school rushing record for a freshman. He gained 1,086 yards and scored 12 touchdowns.

Green would have broken the school scoring record for a freshman were it not for Kris Brown, the placekicker. Brown, like Green a true freshman, scored 97 points—a school record for kicking.

In addition to Frazier, center Aaron Graham and outside linebacker Jared Tomich also earned first-team All-America honors. Graham was also a Cornhusker co-captain, along with tight end Mark Gilman, defensive tackle Christian Peter, safety Tony Veland and linebacker Phil Ellis.

Tomich, a junior who originally walked on, was among five Blackshirts who received first-team all-conference recognition. The other defensive players were Peter, linebacker Terrell Farley, rush end Grant Wistrom and cornerback Tyrone Williams. Frazier and Graham were joined on All-Big Eight first team offenses by Green, tackle Eric Anderson and guards Chris Dishman and Aaron Taylor.

Rarely has college football seen such a team. Maybe never.

WHEN THINGS ARE AT THEIR WORST, YOU'LL FIND AMERICANS AT THEIR BEST.

Heroes aren't born, they're made. Every day in the National Guard, Americans are going beyond the call — training as citizen-soldiers to be at their best when America needs them the most. Every National Guard mission starts at home where members are your friends, neighbors and co-workers. In your community, they respond to natural disasters and local emergencies. They even play a direct role in helping America's kids stay in school, out of trouble and drug-free.

But the Guard's work at home is only half the story. Since the days of the Colonial minutemen, the National Guard has worked to protect our nation. Today, that tradition continues with the National Guard as a full partner with America's active military forces.

In today's efficient military, the citizen-soldiers and airmen of the National Guard are more important than ever. Just ask one of the Guard members currently in Bosnia, or those who served in Haiti and Desert Storm — chances are some of these members are right in your community. They are the most visible example of how Guard units are woven into our nation's military capability.

Those who volunteer for the National Guard are trained, equipped and tested to be their best. The biggest test, however, is nowhere near the training ground. It's in a world where danger and disaster are ever-present. A world where the men and women of the National Guard are putting their talents on the line every day.

Continuing a Tradition of Excellence

The George W. Beadle Center, a state-of-the-art facility for biotechnology research, is the newest addition to the University of Nebraska skyline. Below, "Torn Notebook" adds another element to a campus known for its outdoor sculpture collection.

The University of Nebraska was chartered by the Legislature in 1869 as the state's public university and land-grant institution. It was the first college west of the Mississippi River to confer graduate degrees.

The university's most comprehensive campus, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, includes the agricultural components organized within the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

UNL is a Carnegie Foundation Research Institution I, a member of the American Association of Universities and has been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools since 1913.

UNL offers 36 doctoral degree programs, 63 master's degree programs and five six-year specialist degree programs. The College of Law has a professional degree program and jointly administers with the Graduate College eight programs that combine a master's or doctoral degree with a law degree. UNL's nine undergraduate colleges (Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources, Architecture, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Engineering and Technology, Fine and Performing Arts, Human Resources and Family Sciences, Journalism and Mass Communications, and Teachers) offer more than 120 baccalaureate degree programs in the arts, sciences, humanities and professions.

A Comprehensive Education Program, introduced in the fall of 1995, embodies the ideals of a liberal arts education. The program acquaints all undergraduates with basic research tools and the global human context and introduces them to a wide variety of academic subject areas. It engages them intensively in written and oral communication and critical thinking. A co-curricular component encourages student leadership and involvement in campus activities and in the wider community.

A new focus for science and technology, the George W. Beadle Center for Genetics and Biomaterials Research, was dedicated in 1995. The center contains state-of-the-art laboratories devoted to research and development in biotechnology, biochemistry, biological materials and related fields. The center is named in honor of a Nobel Prize-winning geneticist and UNL alumnus.

Through its service programs, UNL reaches thousands of citizens each year. The Cooperative Extension Service provides all Nebraskans with information and assistance in agriculture and natural resources, home economics, family living, 4 H and youth development and community resource development. Continuing Studies offers alternatives to formal on-campus education with programs such as summer reading courses, evening classes, independent study by correspondence, telecourses and study tours.

A number of specialized centers offer assistance to the state's citizens. The Bureau of Business Research is a valuable resource for citizens and local governments, as is the Nebraska Center for Entrepreneurship. The University of Nebraska Engineering Extension service offers expertise statewide. The Food Processing Center has helped hundreds of food businesses in everything from product development to packaging to marketing. The Technology Transfer office helps expedite movement of university-developed knowledge into real-world products and processes.

The campus is home to the nationally renowned Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery and Sculpture Garden, the Christlieb Collection of Western Art, the Mary Riepina Ross Film Theater, the Lentz Center for Asian Culture and the Lied Center for Performing Arts. The University of Nebraska State Museum boasts a world-class fossil collection, natural history museum and planetarium. UNL also is home to a botanical garden and arboretum, part of the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum.

Wieting Working Hard To Get Back to Football

by Shane Ury

It is Now eight weeks into the Nebraska football season and yet you won't find senior wingback Sean Wieting running pass drills in practice. Instead, Wieting can be located in what he calls "his office" for about three hours a day.

"The other day I was in the pool for about 45 minutes jogging, just trying to get my strength back," said Wieting, who refers to the training room in the South Stadium as "his office."

Wieting's senior campaign is not going quite how he planned it after suffering a dislocated kneecap in the first quarter of the Huskers' season opener versus Akron. The injury has kept him sidelined since that time and delayed a season that he was most anxious to enjoy.

Wieting was listed as the Huskers' third string wingback coming out of fall camp and was "a major contributor" on the field, according to Coach Tom Osborne. However, an unfortunate plant while preparing to make a block put him on the Huskers' injured list.

"I think it was like the fifth or sixth play of the game," said Wieting. "I was just doing something that I have done thousands of times. I was out on the perimeter on an option play and I was blocking the guy straight up. I planted my leg and it just buckled."

Wieting wasn't sure what happened. But when he gazed down to see his leg, he knew there was trouble.

"I could see my kneecap sticking out of the left side of my leg," Wieting said. "I thought it was a bone or something and I just started screaming. (The trainers) came in and set it back. It was one of the worst pains that I have ever felt."

Since that moment, Wieting has been in rehabilitation trying to get back to the grid iron, a place where he has always put forth hard work. Wieting spent much of this past summer in the weight room and conditioning, getting himself into the best shape of his career.

"I just wanted to be the best player I could," Wieting said. "I wanted the team to have a good year. I didn't really care as much about myself. I wanted to get a lot of playing time, but basically, I wanted to help the team the best I could."

Originally a walk-on, Wieting played in every game for the Huskers last season, and was an valuable asset to the Huskers' 11-2 team.

Wieting continues his rehabilitation for the time being, in an attempt to get back on the field. He says a medical redshirt is a possibility, but right now he wants to help out the top-ranked Huskers.

"I hope to be back this year but the doctors aren't real sure if I'll be able to do it," said Wieting, who explained that his kneecap will spontaneously shift out of place, if he removes his knee brace.

"I'm not sure how (a medical redshirt) works. I'm just focusing on getting back this year."

Wieting, who is originally from Tulatin, Ore., said he was especially disappointed when he heard that he would not be able to play in the Huskers' Sept. 20 matchup with then-No. 2 Washington.

"That was the one game my whole career that I had really been looking forward to playing in," Wieting said. "That was the first thing that went through my head when I got hurt."

With his senior season cut short, Wieting is on the Husker sideline for now and his expected return has still not been determined. However, he works constantly in "his office" trying to get back on the playing field. He is happy to see the success his teammates are enjoying on the field.

"Now I don't have to listen to all those Husky fans that I know," Wieting said, referring to NU's 27-14 win in Seattle. "A lot of good things are happening this year and I really think we have a good chance at keeping this thing going."

Did You Know...

◆ Nebraska leads the nation in all sports and in football first-team GTE Academic All-Americans with 83 and 49 , respectively (43 under Coach Tom Osborne).

◆ Across all teams and all sports, NU leads the nation with 142 first-, second- and third-team GTE Academic All-Americans, 59 more than second-place Bucknell.

◆ Nebraska has produced 49 first-team football GTE Academic All-Americans, 11 more than second-place Notre Dame. Only three schools have produced more than 25 first-team football academic All-Americans.

◆ Eight of Osborne's Huskers, including 1995 winner Aaron Graham, have received the NCAA's highest honor for student-athletes - selection as one of Today's Top Eight. That's the most for any individual sports program in the country and NU's 12 selections for all sports also leads the nation.

Academics have always been an important part of the student-athlete's career at Nebraska. One of the highest honors is to be named to the GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America team, along with other top-notch student-athletes across the nation. To qualify, athletes must be a leading contributor to the team and post a 3.2 cumulative GPA. Nebraska had eight first-team honorees in 1995-96, five second-teamers and three third-teamers. The Husker football team had one player named to the first team and three more selected to the second team. Under Coach Tom Osborne, the Huskers have accumulated 43 first-team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, with nine being named twice. Overall, Nebraska has produced a nation-leading 49 first-team Academic All-Americans in football.

The highest honor of all is to be named to the NCAA elite Today's Top Eight. Eight of Osborne's players have received this honor. That is the most honorees for any program in any sport in the country. In 1995, center Aaron Graham earned recognition for his academic achievements by being named to the list, giving Nebraska 12 in all.

The cost of providing academic and athletic opportunities has increased drastically over the past few years. Although only two of the 23 sports offered at the University of Nebraska are "revenue producing" sports, the Athletic Department has remained a self-supporting auxiliary unit of the university. It is one of the few institutions in the nation that receives NO state appropriations, institutional assistance or student fees.

The level of annual athletic giving determines a conbtributor's priority seat location at football and men's basketball games.

If you would like to join a donor club, please contact Jack Pierce, Paul Meyers or Delinda Blank in the Athletic Development Office at (402) 472-2367.

New Coach, New Expectations

By Hank Largin

OVERALL

New Nebraska head coach Paul Sanderford turned some heads when he took over the Husker program and immediately began talking about winning a national championship. After all, the Huskers have only been to three NCAA Tournaments in their history and own only one NCAA Tournament victory.

But Sanderford is confident that he can turn Nebraska into a top 10 program, and the work toward that goal begins this season.

"My goal every year, personally, is to get to the NCAA Tournament," says Sanderford, who guided Western Kentucky to 12 NCAA Tournaments and three Final Fours in 15 years. "My goal every year is make the tournament and then hopefully get to a point where we can be a consistent top 10-or 15 basketball team and that whenever you pick up an AP or USA Today Poll you see the University of Nebraska in that poll, consistently."

The hiring of Sanderford, plus the fact that the Huskers have their second straight top 20 recruiting class, has already made people take notice. Nebraska is ranked 21st in the preseason poll by Athlon Magazine.

Sanderford knows transforming the Husker program can take time.

"I hope it's not going to take five, six, seven years," Sanderford, who guided the Lady Toppers to the Final Four in just his third season, said. "I'm not a very patient person, I wish it was done yesterday. I think we can get it done."

The new Nebraska coach must find answers to two very troubling questions -- who is going to play the point and who will provide the rebounding and inside scoring?

THE BACKCOURT

Senior Anna DeForge, the most honored Husker player in five seasons, returns and will play in the backcourt. The consensus All-Big 12 selection, led the Huskers in scoring (17.5), assists (3.0) and was second in rebounds (5.8) last year. At 5-11, she is the prototype "big guard" that Sanderford has traditionally built his teams around.

Anna DeForge, a consensus All-Big 12 first-team selection last year, returns for a senior year that she hopes will bring All-America honors and a Husker trip to the NCAA Tournament.

"I believe Anna has the skills to play in the WNBA or the ABL," Sanderford said. "She has the ability to shoot the basketball, she can drive and she also has the ability to post up. Anna is an All-America candidate and how far she can take this basketball team will determine what kind of candidate she is."

LaToya Doage, who completed her eligibility, started at the point last season for the Huskers and enjoyed an excellent season. Her value was never more evident than in the last month of the season when a knee injury forced her to miss three games in a row, all losses. Those defeats likely cost the Huskers an NCAA Tournament invitation.

"When LaToya was hurt last year, Nebraska definitely struggled," Sanderford said. "That's why that position is so important for us to fill."

Toward that end, the Huskers signed Monet Williams, a New York native and 5-7 junior college transfer from Northeast Nebraska Community College. She could end up being the only true point guard on the team.

"Monet has the ability to break the defense down and pass the basketball," Sanderford said. "We need her quickness on this basketball team. She has a lot of work to do on the defensive end, but I think that she can help us this year."

Freshman Amanda Went has intrigued Sanderford as a possible answer at the point. The three-time Texas all-state selection is an outstanding all-around athlete, earning 11 varsity letters in high school, and she too could challenge for the starting job. If no newcomer steps forward, the Huskers may try several different approaches to solidify the lack of depth at that position.

"There are a lot of things you do if you don't have a true point guard," Sanderford said. "We could have a point guard by committee. I've had that in the past. You might go with more of a two-guard type set and take the big players away from the basket and use them to handle the basketball. There are a lot of ways that you can eliminate pressure, but it is difficult to hide the fact that you don't have a guard."

The two guard appears to be in good hands with the return of Nicole Kubik. The 5-10 sophomore started 22 games last year as a true freshman, finishing third on the team in scoring with 8.5 points per game. She scored in double figures nine times last season and her scoring looks to increase in 1997-98.

"Nicole Kubik established as a freshman that she can play in the Big 12," Sanderford said. "But she's got to score more for us than she did last year, and I think she can do that."

Nicole Kubik could also spend some time at the point, something she did in her rookie season.

Also returning in the backcourt is 5-11 Brooke Schwartz. Schwartz, a sophomore, appeared in all 28 games as a freshman, averaging 5.6 points and 2.7 rebounds per game. She was a prolific scorer at Gering High School and the coaching staff sees her as a double-digit scorer in college.

DeForge, Schwartz and Nicole Kubik have Sanderford's blessing to attempt more three-point shots. The Huskers averaged nine three-point attempts per game last season and Sanderford would like to see that figure rise to 15 or 20. DeForge knocked down 30-of-78 (.385) three-pointers last year and Nicole Kubik was good on 29-of-99 (.293). Schwartz was 8-of-28 (.286) from beyond the arc.

"In order for us to open up the middle and drive the basketball, without a 20-point a game scorer in the post, we're going to have to shoot the three," Sanderford said. "We're going to have to make our opponents come away from the basket and guard us. I think you need at least three players that can shoot the three, and DeForge, Schwartz and Kubik are capable of filling that role."

HIGHLIGHT NEBRASKETBALL

Senior Jami Kubik gives Sanderford another big guard to call upon. Jami Kubik is not a great outside shooter, but at 5-10, she can post up inside, and she is also one of the Huskers' best defensive players. The older Kubik started 13 games last year, averaging 4.4 points and 3.2 rebounds.

There is other experience in the backcourt as well. Senior Amy Gusso averaged more than nine minutes a game last year as Doage's backup before a knee injury ended Gusso's season after 14 games. If she is 100 percent, it would ease some of Nebraska's concerns about the point. Senior J.J. Jurgens is another veteran, and volleyball/basketball player Renee Saunders is back for her sophomore season. Saunders could be a factor once the volleyball seasons wraps up.

THE POST PLAYERS

The success of the Huskers inside will depend on several factors, none more important than the ability of freshman Amanda Cleveland to make an impact. The 6-2 Lancaster, Texas, product was the coup of Nebraska's recruiting class and she is expected to come in immediately and challenge for playing time and a starting job.

"Amanda is one of the top 50 players in the country (coming out of high school)," Sanderford said. "She's a big-time post player, a prototype four player who has the ability to run the floor, rebound, block shots and shoot the jumper. She'll be a factor for us this season."

Charlie Rogers was a factor for the Huskers last season in her freshman year. The 6-2 Rogers worked her way into the starting lineup midway through the season and stayed there the rest of the way. She averaged 6.6 points and 4.8 rebounds and hit 58.2 percent from the field. She also improved almost daily throughout the season and coaches are excited about her potential for 1997-98.

"Charlie did a tremendous job as a freshman. She competed against some very good players, and I thought had some very good games," Sanderford said. "We have to have more rebounding from our post players. That's the thing I'm most interested in. We'll get that by spreading the offense out a little more."

At 6-3, senior Emily Thompson is a veteran who can help out inside. Thompson began last season as a starter before giving way to Rogers. She appeared in all 28 games, averaging 4.8 points and 3.5 rebounds. Thompson finally appears to be fully recovered from major knee surgery two seasons ago and could be primed for a big final campaign.

Sanderford is looking for increased production from Kate Benson and Naciska Gilmore. Benson, a 6-2 junior, hit for 2.5 points in 24 games, while Gilmore, a 6-0 sophomore, averaged 2.1 points in 26 games.

"Kate Benson is a young lady that we're going to really try to get something out of," Sanderford said. "She is capable offensively and she gives us depth in the post that we have to have. Naciska plays with a lot of emotion, and she can rebound and score, though she's not terribly tall. She's another player that's going to have the opportunity to compete for some playing time."

Junior Cori McDill is similar to Benson. At 6-1, McDill has the size and strength to battle inside, now she needs to put it together to have the kind of year she is capable of.

Freshman Lisa Bryan will likely provide depth inside. The Roanoke, Va., product is 6-4, making her the tallest player on the team. She too may be able to help the Nebraska rebounding woes.

Nebraska went a perfect 10-0 in non-conference games last year, but that may be a bit unrealistic this time. The Huskers open the season in the Women's NIT at the Bob Devaney Sports Center. The 16-team tourney will feature such powers as Western Kentucky, Connecticut and Alabama.

Center Emily Thompson is a senior who has 20 career starts for the Huskers, including 10 last year.

The CableVision Classic in Lincoln will be much tougher for the Huskers this time around, too. Kentucky is expected to be the most-improved team in the Southeastern Conference this season and the Wildcats are joined in the CableVision field by Illinois-Chicago and Stetson.

Nebraska's other tournament action includes an early December trip to Arizona for the Copper Bowl Classic. The Huskers meet Wichita State in the first round and the field also includes Northeastern and host Arizona, an NCAA Tournament second-round team last year.

"I think you use the preseason to get ready to play in March," Sanderford said. "I don't place a great deal of emphasis on the preseason. I'd like to be undefeated at Christmas, but at the same time, if we're .500 at Christmas and play good in March, then I'll be happy."

The Big 12 schedule will be the same rugged challenge that it was last season. In addition to home-and-home games with Kansas, Kansas State, Colorado, Iowa State and Missouri, the Huskers will visit Texas Tech, Oklahoma, and Baylor and host Texas, Texas A&M and Oklahoma State. Kansas, Texas, Texas Tech, Colorado, Iowa State and Kansas State all made NCAA Tournament appearances last year.

SUMMARY

"I feel everybody in the country is looking at Nebraska women's basketball right now," Sanderford said. "I like the idea that I can bring some credibility to the program. A lot of people around the country are going to be watching us out of the corner of their eye. People like Tennessee, Louisiana Tech and Old Dominion are going to be watching to see what happens at the University of Nebraska, and I think that's a good position to be in."

If the Huskers answer their point guard questions and improve their rebounding, those who are "watching out of the corner of their eye" may see a new power emerging in women's college basketball.

HIRE A HUSKER STUDENT-ATHLETE

Husker Football players are individuals who are team players and know what hard work is all about. They possess the intellect and motivation to strive for the best. These student-athletes also have the character to help your business succeed. By hiring a Husker football player in the summer, you will be given the opportunity to know them on a one-on-one basis for the duration of their collegiate career and at the same time, they will be given the opportunity to get to know you and your business.

Reliable:

The University of Nebraska football program is seeking part- and full-time jobs for players in the summer. This is a unique way that you can help support the NU football program, and yet, you are the one who stands to gain the most. The young men you hire are responsible, and conscientious NU students who have much to offer and much to learn.

Academic Excellence:

The UNL football team continues to lead the nation in Academic All-Americans. In the past 24 years, 44 Huskers have earned first-team academic All-America honors and 183 have been named to the Academic All-Conference team. Because of their football commitments and due to NCAA regulations, the summer is often the only opportunity these players have to receive on-the-job training. You can provide them with a unique opportunity and at the same time, your business will benefit from the skills of hard working, dedicated students.

A Good Business Choice:

Nebraska's football teams achieve excellence because of the athlete's desire to work toward being the best he can be. The qualities that a player needs to excel are the same ones that help achieve success in the business world. Did you know that during the school year, in addition to taking a full load of classes, the Huskers practice approximately 20 hours per week. In addition to that, each athlete also puts in time in the weight room. The only way team progress is made, is by individual commitments by each player. Imagine the rewards your business and staff will see by having a Husker put that same determination into your job this summer when the player has time to have a job, and do it well.

Employment for Husker Football Players:

Nebraska football players are in search of valuable work experiences from mid-May to mid-August, as well as during Christmas and spring breaks. A variety of different jobs would be helpful, anything from internships to labor jobs. The needs of your company can be coordinated to match the needs of the athletes and vice versa.

According to NCAA rules, a student-athlete is only allowed to have a paying job during the summer and holiday breaks. However, walk-on's may work part-time during the season and from time to time we will need jobs for those athletes. An athletic scholarship provides tuition, books, fees, room and board, however; all of the other personal expenses are the responsibility of the student-athlete. Many Huskers remain in Lincoln over the summer months to stay in school. As a result our most critical area is part-time jobs. You can provide these players with a much-needed means of support.

It's Easy to Help a Husker:

To help a Husker football player is as simple as a phone call to the football office to request more information. The placement directors, Assistant Coaches Turner Gill and Dan Young, will be able to put you in touch with a football player who will be best-suited to fulfill your specific needs.

You Can Make a Difference:

Please take the time to evaluate your ability to help us. Our athletes need your support. In order for the Nebraska football program to complete against the other prominent programs across the nation, we need to be able to help our Husker recruits find summer employment. This service is invaluable to the entire recruiting process. YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE. Rest assured, you will not only be helping a student-athlete make ends meet, but you will become an intricate part of recruiting and the Husker football program as a whole by pledging your support. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact Assistant Coaches Turner Gill and Dan Young or football secretary Joni Duff, at the Nebraska Football Office, (402) 472-3116. If you can help the football program and its players by providing one or more jobs, please call today. We have been able to provide tickets for those supporters who have helped us on a continuing basis.

Husker Employment Sponsors

Although the following listing may not adequately thank all of the individuals and businesses who have helped out the Husker work program over the years, the NU athletic department thanks these businesses for their support by allowing Husker student-athletes to gain valuable on-the-job experience. If your name or business was inadvertently omitted, we apologize. Thank you for your continued support of this program.

The Dead Zone

State Museum's Animal Graveyard is Frighteningly Fascinating

While most people make the workday trek to an ordinary office stocked with routine computers, copiers and paperclips, Patricia Freeman heads for what some might call a little shop of horrors.

Lining the halls to her office on the University of Nebraska's City Campus are the mounted heads of dozens of wild sheep, deer, goats, antelopes and other hoofstock from around the world. In her office, the imposing heads of a black rhino, two walruses, an eagle and five African hogs adorn the walls with a preschool painting Freeman's daughter made. The skeletons of 160 mice lie in a comparmentalized unit a few feet from her desk. A couple of stuffed bats or other preserved critters may join the piles of papers and fish teeth and mole hands strewn across her desk.

It's an odd workplace setting, to be sure, but as curator of zoology at the University of Nebraska State Museum, it's an atmosphere Freeman thrives in. Her job is not for the squeamish — it's kind of like working in a "dead zoo," as she describes it. On any given day, a walk around the "unseen state museum" — the fourth and fifth floors of Nebraska Hall — might reveal some downright ghoulish goings-on.

Museum researchers may be extracting muscles from mice, examining insects inside and out, or throwing a hawk carcass into a tank of meat-eating carpet beetles.

And then there's the museum zoology collection itself. More than 15,000 mammals, 12,000 birds and 10,000 amphibians and reptiles have been painstakingly preserved and cataloged in perpetuity for the public. The inventory runs the gamut from A to Z, and the animals are stored in a variety of ways. It has all the makings of a Dr. Seuss book — ducks in drawers, camels in cabinets, mice on mats, bats in boxes . . . Whatever the case, that many dead and stuffed animals is bound to give some folks the willies.

But what might provoke nightmares in a faint-hearted few, often inspires new interpretations in evolution and ecology for the likes of Freeman and her fellow museum scientists. The museum, founded in 1871, is a library of Nebraska's plants and animals and offers insight into the state's changing ecology.

"We preserve the state's natural history, and it's very important," Freeman says. For example, she says, changes in water use and land burning have led to differences in wildlife distributions across Nebraska.

"The waterways are much more wooded than they ever used to be," she says. "Now we have eastern animals going west that never have been west before. We've got whitetail deer and cardinals going all the way out to Denver and that never used to be. And the whitetail deer have taken over the mule deer (in parts of Nebraska)."

The research is ongoing, and the collection of specimens grows along with the data.

"We're always adding to the museum," Freeman says. "We're always trying to do surveys and compare them with what happened back when. We're always trying to get more information about things."

The Cornhusker State is a goldmine of fossil mammals, Freeman says, and the museum boasts an impressive collection. "If you were going to study fossil mammals anywhere in the world, you would have to come to Nebraska, because all the different strata that are represented in the state are the strata that are important for fossil members," she says.

Only one percent of the collection is displayed in the state museum's well-known Morrill Hall location. The rest of the more than 4 million specimens are housed in Nebraska Hall and rarely open to the public. Wildlife lovers and curiosity-seekers interested in seeing these "hidden" natural history treasures will have a chance at the Friends of the Museum Annual Open House from 7 to 9 p.m. Nov. 14 in Nebraska Hall. For more information on attending, call Sally Hawkins at (402) 472-6365.

NU Bat Expert's Research Applies to Other Animals

As one of only 200 bat scientists in the world, Patricia Freeman knew her work in bat teeth and skulls was of interest to her contemporaries, but her work has had surprising applications for other animals as well.

Freeman, curator of zoology at the University of Nebraska State Museum, has spent the better part of 25 years studying the relationship between bat teeth, skull structure and diet in a species about which little was known 40 years ago.

"I work very hard to interpret what their teeth mean. If you handed me the jaw of a fossil bat, I think I could tell you what it ate and whether it (used sonar to locate things)," she says. "I try to interpret the function based on the form."

The form-and-function connection is important to biologists outside the bat arena. People who study primates, for example, regularly cite Freeman's work. Originally, primates were insectivores, then advanced to become frugivores or omnivores — just like some species of bats, Freeman says.

"In the bats you can see all of the different food habits. You see a lot of that same variation in the primates," she says. "So there are a lot of primatologists who think the stuff I do is pretty cool."

Those who study fossil carnivores also are interested in the bat discoveries.

"Some of the carnivorous bats are starting to show the changes that we see in dogs and cats," she says. "It's neat how it ends up having ramifications for other groups. You think who in the world would care about bat teeth?"

Mighty Mice Might Unmask Mutation Mysteries

Why anyone would want to breed a faster mouse may be beyond comprehension for most of us, but to University of Nebraska researcher Patricia Freeman and her colleagues, a more rapid rodent could shed important new light on an old evolutionary theory.

Although bats are Freeman's first love when it comes to research, she embarked on an exciting new study of this other much-maligned creature after hearing about biologist Ted Garland's work at the University of Wisconsin.

Supported by a federal grant, Garland has spent the last few years training mice to run faster using a complicated setup in his Wisconsin lab. After breeding and training 11 generations of mice, he presented his findings at a University of Nebraska seminar last year. Those data were startling — the eleventh generation of mice was running 84 percent faster than the first generation.

Freeman, curator of zoology at the University of Nebraska State Museum, attended the seminar and was so intrigued by Garland's study that she wondered what happened to the muscles and bones. Garland had explored some of the physiology and endocrinology of these real-life Speedy Gonzalezes, but Freeman was curious to examine the muscles and bones to see how much the mice had evolved — if at all. Fortunately, Garland had saved the dead mice.

"There's a hypothesis in evolutionary biology that behavioral changes occur before morphological changes occur — the behavior of an organism must change somehow before its bones start changing," she says. "It takes generations, but I want to know quickly form of the bones change to accommodate that faster running behavior; how soon does form follow function?"

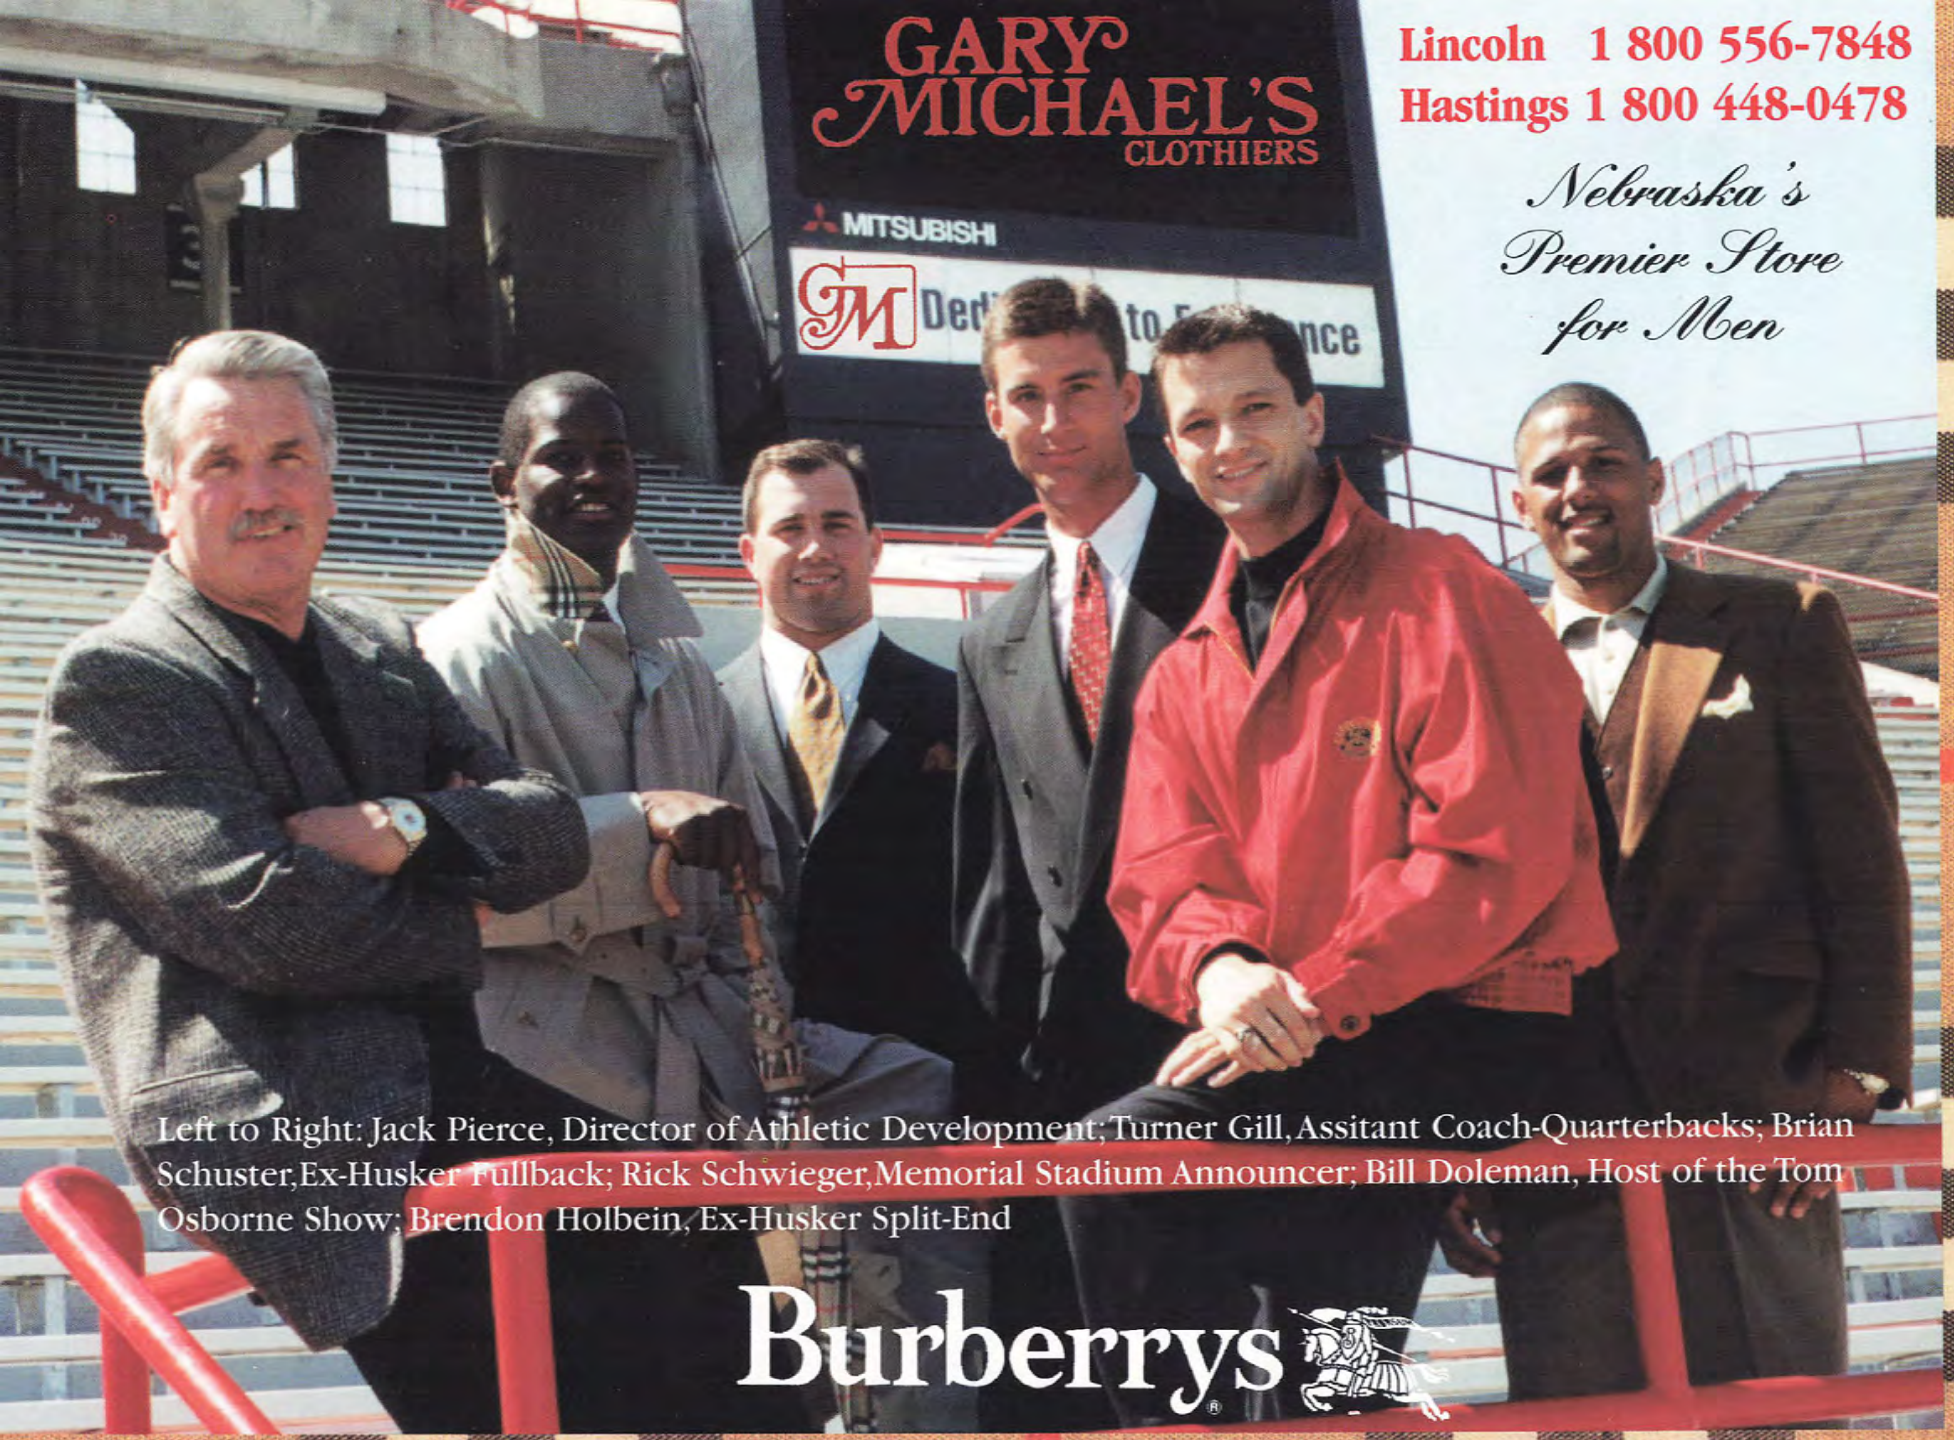

Garland invited Freeman to collaborate on the project, so last spring he shipped 160 frozen mice to her. In a carefully regulated process, research assistant Russ Benedict thawed out the mice, extracted and measured the major leg muscles and weighed them on a digital scale to the 1/10,000 of a gram.

The mice carcasses, missing only the leg muscles, were then dropped into the Fort Knox Bug Box down the hall from Freeman's office. There, a colony of hungry carpet beetles devoured the flesh and internal tissue right down to the bone, leaving an intact skeleton behind for Freeman to study.

"The nice thing about the beetles is that the skeletons will still be articulated," she says. If the mice had been cleaned any other way, say boiling, for example, a pile of discombobulated bones would have been left behind and valuable data would be lost. Using the "professional eaters," Freeman was able to discover disease in the knee bones in many of the mice. "I never would have found the bone disease without the bugs. That's why they're so neat," she says.

Working several hours a week beginning in July, Freeman used forceps and miniature tools to remove any remaining tissue — such as tendons or ligaments — that the beetles didn't eat. She weighed each bone. Cleaning was a tedious process done under a microscope and took about 12 weeks.

Freeman hopes to measure the bones, analyze the data and have some answers by spring. Working with some of the most studied mice in scientific history has been exciting, she says, "and a vacation from the bats."
